RASKOB TOSSES ANOTHER LIQUOR BOMB AT PARTY

Asks Election Fund Givers 7 Questions.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, touched off another bomb-shell on the prohibition issue today in furtherance of his plan to commit his party to repeal or modification of the 18th amendment.

Mr. Raskob took public cognizance of the explosion he is conducting to assemble the opinions of the [illegible] Democratic campaign fund of 1928 on the character of the prohibition plank in the Democratic platform of 1932. The referendum letter, printed on the letterhead of the Democratic national committee and signed by Mr. Raskob as chairman, has been mailed to the contributors in each state who gave a number from 30 in Nevada to 9,000 in New York. The Illinois contributors number 4,156.

JOHN J. RASKOB.

Questions in Referendum.

The questions submitted in this referendum follow:

FIRST.

"Do you recommend that the Democratic platform should avoid all evasion and be, in short, concise declaration of the party's determination to restore our liberties and the spirit of the constitution through recognizing state rights, home rule; the need of constructive economy at Washington; the ending of riotous national expenditure, with consequent relief from excessive taxation?

SECOND.

"Do you recommend that the Democratic platform should commit all Democratic members of the United States senate and house of representatives to vote in favor of a resolution that will submit the prohibition question [eighteenth amendment] to the people of the United States for their additional consideration and decision?

THIRD.

"Do you recommend that the Democratic platform declare in favor of repealing that all future amendments to the constitution be ratified by the people themselves through conventions of the people in each state and not permit ratification through state legislatures? This action will insure a national referendum of the people themselves on all future amendments before they can become part of the constitution.

FOURTH.

"Do you recommend that the Democratic platform commit the Democratic members of the United States senate and house of representatives to vote in favor of a proposal which will give the people themselves through conventions of the people in each state opportunity to vote on a new constitutional amendment which in effect modifies the 18th amendment through the adoption of the 'home rule plan for liquor control'?

FIFTH.

"Do you recommend that the Democratic platform commit the Democratic members of the senate and house of representatives to vote in favor of a proposal which will give the people themselves through conventions of the people in each state opportunity to vote on the question of outright repeal of the 18th amendment?

SIXTH.

"Do you prefer that the Democratic platform commit the Democratic members of the senate and house of representatives to vote in favor of a resolution proposing modification of the 18th amendment as outlined in question four as against voting in favor of a resolution proposing straight repeal of the 18th amendment as outlined in question five?

SEVENTH.

"Do you believe that other economic issues will be so overwhelming in the campaign that the Democratic platform can successfully ignore the prohibition question with its economic issues by remaining silent or by calling for more law enforcement as was done in the 1928 convention?"

Raskob Explains His Views.

In connection with the fourth question Mr. Raskob explains that the specific plan for liquor control is not to be proposed at the special

Wreck Kills Five Men and Famed Horses

Lexington, Mo., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Twenty cars of a sixty-two car "Million Dollar Special" train loaded with prize live stock destined to be shown at the International Live Stock exposition in Chicago were wrecked this afternoon. The wreck was on the Missouri Pacific, seven miles west of here.

Five men were killed, a number were injured, and several carloads of prize winning harness and saddle horses were destroyed. Reports that 20 men are missing were discredited but search of the cars continues.

The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails on an embankment following heavy rains of the last few days. The train, which had been loaded in Kansas City at the close of the American Royal Live Stock and Horse show yesterday, was moving at a high rate of speed when the track gave way. The engine passed safely over the weak spot, but the cars immediately behind it dropped through.

Illinois Groom Killed.

One of the men killed has been identified as John Morgan, 50 years old, a groom employed by Mrs. Mary C. Llewellyn of River Forest, Ill. Mrs. Llewellyn lost one of the most valuable horses in her string of seven which appeared at Kansas City—the jumper Boomerang.

Others of the dead were identified as Alvie Babb, 35, Kansas, Ill., an attendant in the stables of Emile Philip Schandein, Milwaukee, and Jacob Krieder, 30, Delaware, O., also an attendant.

A car reported to contain thirteen head of horses owned by Harry Gorham, Morris, Ill., was upended and rescuers had been unable to extricate the animals. It was also feared one or two handlers might be in the car.

Chicago Horses Killed.

Others who lost heavily in the wreck were Miss Hilda McCormick, of Portland, Ore., who had six of her horses killed; Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Chicago, who lost the harness horse Scottish Rite and two ponies, Tipsy Cake and Take the Cake; and Miss Mary Gwyn Fiers, of Oklahoma City. Her champion Lark was killed and Roxie Highland was injured.

One of Miss McCormick's grooms was injured. Two Chicagoans, Michael Morse and Thomas McManus, were among the injured.

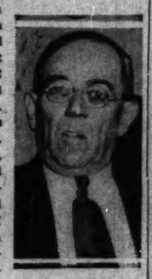
Forty cars at the rear of the train remained on the track. Most of these were loaded with cattle, hogs and sheep.

The wreck occurred near a paved highway and ambulances were hurried to the scene from Lexington. There was a frantic search of the wreck and many hours passed before some of the dead and injured could be extricated from the piled up debris.

Among the owners who had horses on the train were Bridgeford and Radford of Joy, Ill.; R. C. Flanery of Kansas, Ill., and G. A. Nichols of Oklahoma City.

CAPONE LAWYER HELD UP; TALKS BANDITS OUT OF $5

Attorney Albert Fink, 1430 Lake Shore drive, turned his talents as a jury pleader on two holdup men last evening and talked them out of $5 of the $22 which they had taken from him. They took his expensive sedan.



ALBERT FINK.

Attorney Fink, who defended Al Capone in his income tax trial and is one of defense council in the sanitary district graft conspiracy case against T. J. Crowe and his fellow defendants, was driving in Ogden avenue. He was halted by a traffic light at Lake street, and as he did so two men jumped on the running boards of the car.

They prodded him with revolvers and ordered him to get out. He did, and they took his purse.

"How am I going to get home," he objected. "That's all the money I have."

At that one of the men handed him back a $5 bill from the purse. They then entered the car and drove away. Mr. Fink was returning from Presbyterian hospital, where his wife is recovering after an operation.

Knife in Brain 30 Years; Just Finds It Out

Surgeons at the county hospital will attempt this week the delicate task of removing the two and one-half inch knife blade which for thirty years had been imbedded in the brain of Linus Larson, 59 years old, 10112 Avenue M.

Larson went to the hospital for treatment last week. He told Dr. George Scupham of the hospital staff that for years he had suffered occasional fits of unconsciousness, which came without warning.

Tells of Accidents.

Once, in 1917, he fell from the seat of his ice wagon and was unconscious for several days. On another occasion he fell into a bonfire, and again was in a coma for days. On a third occasion, he said, he became unconscious just as he had turned on a gas jet, and before he could apply a match to it. He was nearly asphyxiated before members of his family rescued him.

Dr. Scupham diagnosed the case as one of epilepsy caused by pressure of some foreign substance on the brain. An X-ray examination disclosed the knife point in the left frontal lobe of the brain, over the left eye.

Recalls a Black Eye.

Larson was asked if he had ever experienced an injury to his head. The only such injury which he could remember, he said, took place thirty years ago when he emerged from a saloon fight with a black eye. He thought nothing of the injury, he said, but Dr. Scupham believes that he was probably struck with a knife during the fight, and the point broken off in his brain.

He escaped more serious consequences, the physician said, by the fact that the blade severed no blood vessels nor large nerves, and did not strike the centers controlling thought or the motor nervous system.

Although the blade has become encysted during the thirty year period, surgeons believe that it may be removed successfully, and an attempt to do so will be made within a few days.

BOY OF 7 MAKES GOOD ON BOAST; LEAPS TO DEATH

Robert Stein, 7 years old, and Morton Tiudo, 10 years old, both of 1227 Newberry avenue, stood yesterday at a third floor window of the Chicago Boys' club at 1300 Newberry avenue. They boasted.

"I can jump farther than you," said Morton.

"I'd just as soon as not jump out this window," declared Robert.

The older boy laughed and went away to play in an adjoining room. Then they heard a scream and looked out.

Bobby Stein had made good his boast. He was lying on the concrete sidewalk. He was taken to the Mother Cabrini hospital, where he died.

JAPANESE ARMY THREATENS TO SEIZE HARBIN

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Nov. 23.—(Monday.)—(AP)—The Japanese government today forwarded a note to Ambassador Debuchi at Washington asking him to reassure the United States government that the occupation of Tsitsihar and the crossing of the Chinese eastern railway in Manchuria did not involve any infringement of the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand pact or the league covenant.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A Rengo dispatch from Harbin today reported that the remnants of Gen. Ma Chan-shan's forces had attacked a Japanese detachment in the vicinity of Tsitsihar and were repulsed after some fighting. Eight Chinese artillerymen were made prisoners.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Nov. 21.—It seemed a foregone conclusion today that the Japanese army will occupy Harbin, commercial and financial metropolis of north Manchuria, in view of statements by two leading Japanese generals.

Gen. Shigeru Honjo, commander of Japan's army in Manchuria, in an interview at Mukden, which was published here today, declared:

"I am greatly disturbed with the Harbin situation. Hence it may be necessary to send troops to occupy the city. I am watching Harbin closely, and in the event any disturbance endangers the lives and property of Japanese residents, the Japanese army is prepared to dispatch troops.

Ready to Move Troops.

"Since the occupation of Tsitsihar and Changchun we are in position to place troops in Harbin quickly in case it is necessary."

Gen. Jiro Tamon, commander of the second division of the Japanese army, now occupying Tsitsihar, who has become a predominant Japanese military figure in north Manchuria, said last night he is not as yet certain whether Japanese troops will be sent to Harbin, but that he would dispatch them there if necessary.

In addition to the threat, Japanese Consul Ohashi today issued further protests pertaining to the situation here. One dealt with the movement to boycott Japanese goods, and the other was an allegation that Gen. Ting Chao, Chinese commander of the Chinese Eastern railway guards, is permitting refugee soldiers from Tsitsihar to enter the Harbin area. Ohashi said, however, that the general situation at Harbin is somewhat improved since the Japanese occupation of Tsitsihar.

"I hope it will not be necessary to bring Japanese troops here," he said.

Governor Creates Army.

The Harbin situation apparently depends upon whether the local civil governor, Chang Ching-hui, whom the Japanese describe as a "reasonable man," is able to dominate the situation.

Shortly following the capture of Mukden by the Japanese, Chang Ching-hui was provided with a large stock of arms and munitions, allegedly a portion of the stocks which the Japanese seized from the Mukden arsenal. Chang is using the materials to equip a new military police force here. The men are drilling daily.

$100,000 Paid Bains Yearly in Bank Salaries

John Bain, head of the string of 12 defunct banks, and the members of his immediate family are obligated to the chain of banks in the amount of $1,077,995. This announcement was made yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson, through his assistant, Henry Ayers, in a tabulation showing the total obligations of the Bains as well as the fact that they drew out in salary more than $100,000 a year.

The salary table is available only for the period from Jan. 1, 1931, to the closing of the banks on June 9, and shows that $55,322 was paid out to the family in that period. On the basis of these figures the assistant prosecutors estimated that the Bains took out more than $100,000 in salary annually in addition to the money they took from the banks to finance their private business enterprises.

Family Salaries Shown.

The salary investigation thus far shows that John Bain, the father; his three sons, and W. Merle Fisher, his son-in-law, took salaries from only seven of the twelve banks. However, an investigation of the other banks has not been completed, and it is believed that when it is it will be shown that the family's salaries were considerably in excess of $100,000 a year.

The salary tabulation for the members of the Bain family from Jan. 1 to June 9 from the various banks follows:

	John Bain.	J. H. Bain.	Leslie Bain.	Robert Bain.	Fisher.
Armitage State .	$ 3,000	.....	.....	.....	.....
Chicago Lawn .	2,077	$4,500	$1,800	.....	.....
Elston .	.....	3,000	.....	.....	.....
Stony Island West	3,000	.....	.....	$4,900	$1,720
Roosevelt West	2,170	.....	.....	.....	7,400
Hillman West	4,078	.....	.....	.....	.....
Lawn .	.....	1,200	2,000	.....	.....
Totals	$12,324	$9,200	$4,800	$4,900	$9,210

Five banks of the Bain chain, the Auburn Park State, Brainerd State, Bryn Mawr State, Chatham State, and Ridge State do not show on the chart as having contributed anything in the way of salary to any of the Bains. The prosecutors, however, say that the records show that each of these banks contributed materially to the Bain enterprises through loans.

The Bain Obligations.

John Bain	$856,218
John H. Bain	72,645
Leslie Bain	6,209
Robert Bain	33,998
W. Merle Fisher	108,925

The West Englewood bank, the parent bank of the chain, is shown as contributing the largest to the Bain family income. In this bank Bain as president drew a salary of approximately $25,000 a year while his son-in-law, Fisher, was paid at the rate of approximately $18,000 a year as cashier and trust officer of the same bank. The Chicago Lawn bank contributed to the salaries of three of the Bains, the father and two of the sons, John H. and Leslie.

Salaries From Five Banks.

The elder Bain took salaries during the 1931 period from five of the chain. John H. Bain was on three payrolls, and Leslie Bain appeared on two payrolls, as did Fisher. Robert Bain, who was sentenced to ten days in jail by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg, for contempt, was on only one payroll, the 1931 records show.

The Stony Island bank, which contributed to the salaries of three of the Bain family, and which was considered one of the largest of the chain, will be the next institution to come under the scrutiny of the grand jury, the prosecutor said.

The inquiry into the West Englewood bank is expected to be completed this week and indictments are expected. Prosecutor Ayers, however, refused to venture a prediction as to whom the grand jury would hold responsible for the condition of this bank.

GUNMEN CAUGHT IN FLIGHT FROM MITCHELL HOME

The daring bandit raid on the Lake Forest home of William H. Mitchell late Saturday night in which the Mitchells and seven guests, all well known in north shore society, were held captive for twenty minutes and robbed of $150,000 in jewelry, appeared to have been virtually cleared up last night.

All the jewelry but two minor articles was recovered, and three alleged members of the robber gang were under arrest. They were identified by their victims, according to the police, who said they expected to capture the remaining two members of the band shortly.

The recovery of the gems and the arrest of the prisoners matched in dramatic action and circumstances the brazen holdup. From the first report of the crime the police spread a net over the north shore in which automobiles were stopped, pedestrians halted, and trains searched.

Gems in Abandoned Overcoat.

An overcoat stood out in the drama. This garment, hastily abandoned by one of the robbers, hung upon a wire fence near a ravine behind the Mitchell home. It contained the stolen jewelry.

The victims of the robbery and their losses were:

Lilian H. Mitchell, partner in the investment house of Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., 231 South La Salle street, and a son of the late John J. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the former Illinois Merchants Trust company, who was killed with his wife in an automobile accident near Libertyville four years ago. Mr. Mitchell lost $90 to the robbers.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell, the former Ginevra King, co-chairman of the Illinois division, Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Gems valued at $10,000 were taken from her.

Mrs. E. A. Cudahy Jr., 904 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest, wife of the president of the Cudahy Packing company. She is the former Miss Margaret Carry, daughter of the late Edward F. Carry, former president of the Pullman company. Mrs. Cudahy lost one diamond link bracelet, one diamond clip, one diamond and sapphire bracelet, one enamel and diamond case, one plain diamond, and one sapphire bracelet.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, 436 East Woodlawn avenue, Lake Forest, co-chairman with Mrs. Mitchell of the anti-prohibition organization. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jay Patten of Evanston. Her loss consisted of a diamond and sapphire bracelet set with ninety-three pearls, and a valuable diamond ring.

William McCormick Blair, 881 Church road, Lake Forest, partner in Lee, Higginson & Co., trustee of the University of Chicago. He lost $30.

Mrs. William McCormick Blair, daughter of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen and a member of one of Chicago's oldest families. From her the robbers took a string of sixty-five pearls and a pearl pin.

Mrs. Louise De Koven Bowen Phelps, 20 East Cedar street, Chicago, sister of Mrs. Blair. She lost a string of pearls.

Ralph J. Hines of Evanston, son of Edward Hines, millionaire lumberman and an officer of his father's company. He lost $150.

Victims Identify Prisoners.

All of the victims have identified the three prisoners held by Lake Forest police, according to Police Chief Frank Tiffany. The prisoners, all from Chicago, are:

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning there was a reunion of the victims in the same room of the Mitchell home in which they faced the robbers' guns. The women had recovered from the shock of the holdup and talked of their thrilling experience.

The three prisoners were brought into the room. The victims identified them as members of the robber band. All denied the accusations, but Chief Tiffany said last night that one appeared at times on the verge of confessing.

Story of the Robbery.

Chronologically, the story of the robbery, the arrests and the recovery of the gems begins at about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. The Mitchells were entertaining their guests in their home at 901 Rosemary avenue. All were playing backgammon.

Outside an automobile, with lights out, drew into the wide driveway from Rosemary avenue. Five armed men alighted and moved stealthily towards the house.

They encountered Arthur Metzger, a watchman on the estate. He was overpowered and forced to accompany the gunmen. Near the house the gang halted. Two of the robbers walked to the cottage occupied by the Mitchell chauffeur, William Matheson, and his wife.

Mrs. Matheson was in the bathtub. She was forced to dress. With her husband she was taken to where the other robbers stood.

Bandits Dash Into Home.

Two minutes later the bandits burst into the Mitchell home. Guns were leveled.

Two robbers went through the house, rounding up four servants, Josephine Goulding, nurse to the Mitchell children, William Jr., 12 years old, and Ginevra, 5; Marge Stangard, the cook; Richard Beisold, the butler, and Ida Bratz, a maid. They were placed in a corner with Metzger and the Mathesons. The Mitchells and their guests put their valuables on a table and got down on the floor at the bandit leader's command.

Chauffeur Hero of Holdup.

At this point the chauffeur, Matheson, became the hero of the occasion. Edging toward a door, he whisked out of the room and crept upstairs to a bedroom telephone. In a whisper he called for the Lake Forest police. Sergt. Frank Whalen, at the other end of the wire, could not hear Matheson, but the operator cut in and said: "The party is trying to report trouble at the Mitchell home."

This done, Matheson slid under a bed just as two of the robbers, led by Mrs. Mitchell, entered her bedroom, next to the room where Matheson was hiding, and emptied a jewel box. Then they entered the room where Matheson lay.

One of the bandits appeared to suspect that some one had escaped the gang, but was uncertain. He kicked under the bed where Matheson lay motionless, his foot missing the chauffeur by inches. "If I find him, I'll kill him," Matheson overheard him say.

Policemen Reach the Scene.

In the meantime Sergt. Whalen at the Lake Forest station had dispatched Policeman Earl Dunn and Special Policeman Peter Jackson to the Mitchell home. Unaware of the nature of the "trouble" that Matheson had reported, Jackson remained outside while Dunn knocked at the door. A moment later Dunn was a prisoner, but the bandits, startled, snatched up the jewels and money and started for the rear door. They neglected to disarm the policeman.

Dunn raced after them, firing three shots. They fired six back, their bullets ripping into the Mitchell home. Policeman Jackson blazed away at them. The robbers scattered over the wooded Mitchell estate which covers seven acres and is one block west of Lake Michigan. In their haste they abandoned their automobile.

This car bore a license issued to Mrs. Marie Tufano, 711 South Marshfield avenue. As a result, the police are seeking Frank Tufano, her son, who, she said yesterday, owned the car.

Net Is Spread for Gang.

The police net was spread for the robbers from Highland Park to Evanston. Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county joined his brother, Chief Tiffany of Lake Forest, in the search.

At 4:30 a. m. a hatless youth, his clothes muddy, was captured in Green Bay road in Highland Park by Policemen Wilson Richardson and John Nizzi. It was Maintanis. He declared that five bandits had stolen his car and he was walking to the North Shore line station.

Two hours later Policemen Harry Rogan and Dennis Driscoll boarded a Chicago bound North Shore line train at Highland Park and sighted Ross and Parello sitting together. Both were hatless, Ross wore no overcoat, and their clothing was muddy. When questioned by the policemen the two said they had boarded the train at Fort Sheridan. The conductor, Ed Gartley, told the policemen, however, that the youths had got aboard at Great Lakes. Ross and Parello were arrested.

Find Jewel Laden Coat.

At daylight Sergts. John Robertson and Frank Metzger, the latter a brother of the Mitchell watchman, searching the estate grounds, found two overcoats and a hat. One of the coats hung on a wire fence, where it had become entangled in its wearer's haste to get away. The policemen dug into the pockets. They pulled out jewelry, one piece after another. In all, the coat held twenty-six pieces, two less than the total stolen.

The other coat and the hat fitted Ross, the coatless and hatless prisoner, it was found, when they were tried on him at the Lake Forest police station.

In the pocket of the coat containing the jewelry was a band bearing the name of Dominick d'Nordi, 1439 Elburn avenue. The tailor's trademark bore the name of Quirino Venditti, 2655 West 38th street. At the d'Nordi home yesterday a sister said her brother was in Florida. The tailor, questioned, telephoned the d'Nordi home, and declared that Dominick had just told him the coat was stolen. The police are seeking d'Nordi as well as Tufano, the owner of the abandoned bandit car.

Bandit Leader Escapes by Ruse.

But while the police met with success, they missed the capture of the bandit leader. Shortly after the robbery Policeman Paul Jensen questioned a suspect in the taxicab of Carl Greeler. The passenger replied he had just come from Lake Forest college, where he visited some student friends.

"Who's the college president?" asked Jensen. The man replied: "Herbert Moore." The answer was correct. He also named several faculty members correctly, and Jensen let him go. Out of sight, the passenger prodded Greeler with a pistol and was driven to Libertyville, where he escaped.

Just before noon yesterday Ross, Maintanis, and Parello were taken to the reunion of the robbery victims in the Mitchell home. All the victims promised full coöperation in the prosecution. All agreed to testify in court. In addition, Mrs. Mitchell announced that they had decided not to wear their jewelry during the winter, but to place it in vaults. Their friends will be asked to do likewise, she said.

Officials Praise Police Work.

Mayor A. D. Farwell and Ald. Kent Chandler and James A. Griffis of Lake Forest worked with the police all day yesterday. They praised Chief Tiffany and his men for their work, and sent thanks to the Highland Park force for their capture of the three prisoners.

They said the swift action in starting the cleanup of the robbery was in line with the police work that has been characteristic of the régime of Chief Tiffany and his brother, Sheriff Tiffany, who preceded him as chief in Lake Forest.

EXITS OF NEW YORK NOW BEING GUARDED BY POLICE TELETYPE

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Installations of new model teletype machines in the police communication system here by tomorrow will have reached 135, including one in every police station and one in a police booth, near the entrance to the George Washington bridge, and one in a booth at the entrance to the Holland tunnel.

Installation of the machines at the bridge and tunnel approaches will assist in the capture of holdup men and automobile thieves fleeing from one state to another.

From police headquarters alarms may be transmitted to all boroughs, to upstate cities, and to parts of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Major alarms will be sent to thirty-five master stations, which can relay the messages to 523 local police stations in three states.

3 Gunmen Rob Woman in Store; Boy Routs Them

Three robbers, one by one, entered the candy store of Mrs. Emma Urlich at 3263 Normal avenue last night. When the first one loitered around she moved toward the back end of the store where she kept a pistol. When the second man entered and drew a pistol Mrs. Urlich dashed for her weapon. The bandits followed and overpowered her. As they did so the third man entered the store and took $13 from the cash register. Meanwhile David, 7 years old, son of Mrs. Urlich, ran to the sidewalk and began to scream for policemen. This alarmed the robbers and they ran. Mrs. Urlich emerged with her pistol in time to fire at them and to be fired on, but no one was hit.

AUTO TOLL HITS ALL TIME HIGH OF 1,144; 8 DIE

Two Hunters Are Killed in Crash; 5 Hurt.

Eight deaths in automobile accidents yesterday sent the Cook county toll for 1931 soaring to 1,144, an all time record for the loss of life in county traffic mishaps. The 1930 mark of 1,138, which was the highest recorded in any full year, was equaled on Saturday. With more than a month remaining of 1931, the death toll is destined to pass the previous record by many deaths, despite the safety measures being emphasized in the city. The 1929 county death toll was 1,022 and in 1928 the list totaled 1,089.

Two of yesterday's victims were killed when autos bearing parties of duck hunters collided at Mannheim road and Grand avenue in Franklin Park. Three men and two women were also seriously injured in the crash.

List Victims of Crash.

Elmer Peterson, 28 years old, 2736 North Laramie avenue, and Edward Ryan, 17 years old, 3256 Palmer street, were those killed. Their companions were Robert Scheverington, 28 years old, 1930 North Sawyer avenue, and John Worthington, 15 years old, 5202 Fulton avenue.

Occupants of the second car were Elliot Lance, 36 years old, 6110 South 36 avenue, Kenosha, Wis.; his wife, Charlotte, 34 years old, and Mrs. Roberta Anderson, 34 years old, of Kenosha. The Peterson party was in hunt ducks at St. Charles, and Lance was on his way to join a hunt at Jacksonville, Ill.

The other victims yesterday were:

He was riding with Irwin Egler, 3611 North Hermitage avenue, who was injured. Joseph La Rocque, 3710 North Pauline street, was the driver of the other car.

Sidney Kessler, 53 years old, 676 Roy street. Died at St. Luke's hospital of injuries suffered on Nov. 4, when a truck on which he was riding was struck by a police squad car at 67th street and Michigan avenue.

"Two men tried to rob me, but they saw a policeman and ran," declared Thomas Ellery, 2845 North Springfield avenue, who has a Chicago cab.

While they were making their reports in walked Sergt. Alfred Doppke, holding two youths. The cabmen pointed an index finger apiece at the young men.

"They're the bandits," they said in chorus.

The pair were identified as Frank Cummings, 23 years old, 1821 North Sawyer avenue, and Leonard Leidig, 25 years old, 1507 Humboldt avenue.

Ryan, in charge of the dog pound, who said Miss Becker drove her car into his machine at Broadway and Bryn Mawr avenues and failed to stop. His wife, Virginia, and Mrs. Mary Casey, a member of the family, were in his machine, he reported, and his wife suffered bruises. Miss Becker denied her car was involved in the mishap. $428,600,000 IN BOND ISSUE BILLS UP IN ASSEMBLY

Most of Them Mean Boost in Taxes.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Bills authorizing seven bond issues totaling $428,600,000—including alternate proposals—have been presented to the special session of the general assembly. Their authors plan that a very large percentage, if not all, of these bonds shall be issued without giving the taxpayers an opportunity to veto or approve of them.

Probably less than $55,000,000 of the aggregate is intended to provide permanent improvements. It is frankly admitted that all of these bond issues, with one exception, mean tax boosts. The bond issues advocated are:

By Chicago real estate board, to "lift" 1930 taxes, except state's part	$250,000,000
By school board, to augment working cash fund	75,000,000
By school board, for new buildings	50,000,000
By governor's tax conference, to finance tax deficits	44,000,000
By west park board, for maintenance	4,000,000
By Cook county, for poor relief.	3,000,000
By city for constructing incinerators	2,600,000
Total bond issues	$428,600,000

Both houses of the general assembly reconvene at 4 p. m. today, but nothing like definite action on any of the pending matters is expected this week. Public hearings are expected to occupy the full time at today's, tomorrow's, and Wednesday's meetings. The house has voted to shut off hearings on Wednesday, and on that day both chambers are expected to recess until next week.

The bond issue of the Chicago Real Estate board and of the governor's tax conference are considered conflicting proposals. However, both could be adopted, but each sponsor claims that if its proposal is accepted the other would be unnecessary.

Means Boost in Taxes.

But in either event, the authorization of the bond issues means a large increase in taxes. First eliminate the real estate board's proposal and consider the others.

They total $178,600,000. This is nearly three times the amount of bonds authorized—also without referendum—by the special session of the legislature which adopted the Strawn committee program.

In the total of the special legislature is $44,000,000 of bonds recommended by the governor's tax conference. These bonds are to be paid by deferred tax collections, and run for only six years. The installment tax payers, under the program, must pay 6 per cent interest. Besides these there are $134,600,000 in bonds which would pay interest for 20 years.

Interest Runs into Millions.

If these bonds could be floated, as their sponsors hope, at 4 per cent the total interest would be $55,532,000; but if the rate had to be 4½ per cent, the total interest charge would be $80,057,000, payable over a period of 20 years.

Some claim that local bonds for such an amount, under present conditions, could not find buyers for less than 5 or 5½ per cent. If 5 per cent were paid the interest charge would be $67,300,000, and if 5½ per cent the interest would total $74,030,000. Funds to pay the interest, in addition to the total of the bonds, would have to be collected from the property owners in taxes.

The bonds would be of the 20 year serial variety, one-twentieth payable each year. The first year after the bonds were issued there would be $6,730,000 in principal to pay plus interest, varying—according to the rate—from $5,384,000 to $7,403,000. As each yearly installment in interest was paid, the interest charge would decrease.

Consider Other Proposals.

Considering the bond proposals on the theory that the real estate board's plan will be substituted for the governor's tax conference, if all of the bond bills were then passed the total bonds authorized would be $384,600,000.

As 20 year serial bonds the property owner would have to dig up $19,230,000 yearly to pay the principal. Also they would have to put up another large sum for interest. The first year this interest charge would vary between $15,284,000 and $21,353,800, depending on whether the bonds could be sold for 4 per cent or 5½ per cent, or for some rate in between.

The total interest on the $384,600,000 bonds for the 20 years would be $153,840,000 at 4 per cent, $173,070,000 at 4½ per cent, $192,300,000 at 5 per cent, and $211,530,000 at 5½ per cent.

Others to Boost Taxes.

There are several other bills, other than the proposals to create new forms of taxation, which necessarily will result in increased taxes. It has been the trend of the legislature for 20 years to increase taxes at each session.

It was proclaimed after the last regular session, that no boosts in Chicago taxes had been ordered except minor increases for pensions. Mayor Cermak later asserted that these "minor increases" were $2,737,764 for 1931, $4,489,933 for 1932, $5,905,073 for 1933, and $7,775,248 for 1934—a total of $20,908,018 for the four years.

DRUGGIST IS FOUND DEAD.

Charles H. Hennig, 54 years old, drug store owner of 5505 South Ashland avenue, was found dead of heart disease yesterday in his room at 514 South Halsted street.

GET STATE RECORDS ON TRUST FUNDS IN TAX BATTLE TODAY

Important developments in the taxpayer's suit to prove the 1928 and 1929 tax levies fraudulent and invalid because of the omission of personal property from the assessment roll are expected today when State Auditor Oscar Nelson and the trust officers of nine of the largest loop banks will appear in County Judge Jarecki's court.

The state auditor also has been ordered to produce photostatic copies of the annual reports on trust funds and moneys held in escrow for customers which the banks have made to his office. Using these records, Attorneys Roy D. Keehn and Morris Schaeffer who are attacking the assessments, plan to question the bank officials upon the personal property returns made to the assessors' and reviewers' offices for both years.

The presentation of these reports and the demands upon the bank officials have been contested by County Attorney Hayden Bell, Assistant Attorney General William Clausen, who represents the state auditor, and by attorneys for the banks. Judge Jarecki overruled the protest.

PAYLESS PLIGHT OF TEACHERS IS SHOWN IN SURVEY

Replies to Questionnaires Tell Their Need.

Need among Chicago's 14,000 unpaid public school teachers is rapidly approaching a crisis, according to a preliminary examination of the replies to 5,000 questionnaires sent out by the affiliated teachers' unions.

Exhausted credit, homes forfeited for taxes, lapsed insurance, unpaid doctors' bills, and debts to loan sharks are some of the results of the school board's failure to pay salaries in cash, except for one month, since last April. In many cases bank failures have added to the teachers' troubles and dependents have increased the need.

What Questionnaires Show.

The replies of 645 teachers to the questionnaires, taken at random, showed that 542, or 84 per cent of them, are supporting one or more dependents, and that 80 are supporting four or more dependents. Only 41 of these teachers, or 6 per cent, have been able to continue without borrowing money. The debts of the others, according to the questionnaire replies, range from $150 to more than $1,500, with the larger part of them in the $350 to $750 class.

Forty-two per cent of the 645 teachers reported their borrowing power exhausted. The figure was slightly higher for the men teachers and the elementary teachers and slightly lower for the high school teachers represented in the questionnaires.

Their Plight as Borrowers.

Of the 645, 301 reported that they had been able to borrow from friends; 204 said they had borrowed to the limit on insurance, and 92 reported that they have had to deal with small loan organizations at 2½ to 3½ per cent interest a month.

As for bank failures, 237 of the 645 teachers reported losses of this kind in varying amounts. All said that lowered standards of living were a necessity. Serious illness either of themselves or their dependents complicated the situation further for 163 of the 645.

The figures were prepared by Miss Helen Dart of the Federation of Women High School teachers in cooperation with the Elementary, Playground, and Men Teachers' unions.

Teachers' Lawyers Meet Today.

Attorneys for all the teachers' organizations are to meet today to decide on a definite and unified plan of action.

Several delegations are expected to be sent to Springfield to inform the legislators of their views on the school board's plan for bond issues totaling $125,000,000 as a relief measure and the program of the governor's revenue conference. The men teachers' organization has indorsed both plans and four of this group are to be in the capital today. They are James A. Meade, president; Charles B. Stillman, William T. McCoy, and P. L. McNamee.

Representative Michael L. Igoe, Democratic leader in the house, said that he would be willing to call a caucus of the Democrats on a revenue relief program, as requested by Representative Frank McClure of Abingdon, but that he doesn't think it would be helpful in any way to make a party issue of Chicago's need of financial relief.

Woman Robbed of $150 Ring and Auto in Garage

Two bandits halted Mrs. Mabel Davis, a widow, as she was driving her automobile into the garage in the rear of her home at 9026 Throop street early this morning. They took her ring, valued at $150, and drove away in her car.

BOMBINGS OF 10 MONTHS EXCEED ALL LAST YEAR

But Damage Is Decreased More than 75 Pct.

With two months yet to be counted there have been 35 more bombs in 1931 than in the entire 12 months of last year, according to figures made public by the employers' association despite the great increase in bombings the damage has decreased by more than 75 per cent.

To date there have been 109 bombs placed this year. Two of the bombs failed to explode. Damage this year totaled $192,660, as compared with $826,850 at the same time last year, when last year a total of 74 bombs were placed, causing a total damage of $826,850.

Officials of the employers' association found encouragement in the fact that bombings decreased during the last month as a result of the capture of four men in the act of placing a bomb. This arrest was the first to be made on the scene and with the evidence so apparent. The men arrested, Fay Rapp and Joe Siegel, had placed two dynamite bombs on the roof of a bakery when a squad of detectives made the arrest. They are now in the county jail awaiting trial on Dec. 14.

Four Bombings This Month.

So far this month there have been four bomb explosions, with damage of $2,300. Two attempted bombings failed. The recent decrease, officials of the association believe, will prevent 1931 from becoming an all time record year for bombing. If the bombings continue at the average rate, figured on the basis of the last ten months, there will be 120 bombs thrown. The highest previous years were 1928 and 1929 with 116 each.

Classified roughly as to nature, the 35 bombs are as follows: Political, 1; average, 6; prohibition, 16; gambling, 6; the remainder being bombs placed as a result of business competition.

The peak months during the last year were September with 18 bombs and October with 19 bombs. The largest single group of bombings, setting a record for the last four years, were thrown during the motion picture theater disputes in the two peak months. A total of 15 bombs were placed at theaters. In most cases the damage was below $300 in this group.

Bombs for 12 Years Listed.

Year	Bombs	Year	Bombs

[illegible]	69	1928	116
[illegible]	58	1929	116
[illegible]	99	1930	74
[illegible]	113	1931 (to date)	109

Previous to 1928 the records were taken from police files. A more comprehensive file on bombings since that time has been kept by the Employers' association. From their files the following table shows the number of bombs, the damage done and the average damage per bomb since 1928.

[illegible]	116	$141,300	$1,218

[illegible]	74	509,100	6,880
[illegible]	180	192,600	900

If the remainder of 1931 maintains the same average as the last 10 months, resulting in 120 bombs causing damage of $114,000, this will be the peak year in the number of bombs placed and the lowest in the amount of damage.

Other than minor stench bombings, calculated to ruin business without inflicting property damage other than burning, the last bomb this year was thrown Oct. 13. On that date the home of Dave Evans, former secretary of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers, at 1705 Lafayette avenue was damaged by a dynamite bomb.

BOMBINGS IN CHICAGO IN LAST FIVE YEARS

AFTER 72 HOURS NO TRACE FOUND OF BALLOONIST

Cleveland, O., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Darkness fell tonight without word from Milford Vanik, 25, young balloonist who ascended 72 hours ago into the teeth of a storm in his 25,000 cubic foot gas bag in quest of a balloon pilot's license.

Young Vanik, vice president of the Cleveland Balloon club, carried food and ballast only for 24 hours.

Search carried on yesterday by National Guard planes was halted today by rain and poor visibility, pilots reporting no trace of the balloon on Lake Erie. Pilots will now search the wilderness about Georgian bay. If Vanik was forced down in this sparsely inhabited region, there will be little opportunity of gaining word from him for several days.

Yankee Pays $500,000 for Renaissance Work of Art

VIENNA, Nov. 22.—A famous Renaissance work of art, "Laughing Child's Head," by Desiderio da Settignano, belonging to the Gustav Benda collection, has been sold to an American for $500,000. The sculpture was found by an Austrian art collector, Eugene Mueller-Aichsolz, in Rome during the demolition of a house. It was long attributed to Donatello. A plaster cast of the head is in the national museum at Florence.

Holland Lists 121,000 as Jobless; 50,000 in 2 Cities

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Nov. 22.—Official figures published today give the total number of unemployed in the Netherlands as 121,000, of which 50,000 are in Amsterdam and Rotterdam. The highest percentage of unemployment is in the diamond cutting industry, which has suffered severely because of a decrease in the export of diamonds to the United States. There are 6,000 jobless diamond cutters.

PAIR OF GOTHAM RACKETEERS ARE SLAIN BY RIVALS

Liquor War Is Blamed for Killing.

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Tenements of Alexander avenue, once an exclusive residential section of the Bronx, were just awakening to the realization of another Sunday morning when Patrolmen George Daum and Charles Vocchio trudged their beats together.

As the two policemen came to No. 281, they stopped suddenly as they saw something sprawled on the sidewalk in front of a high weatherbeaten board fence around a storage yard.

Propped against the boards was the body of a young man with a bullet hole behind his right ear, and nearby, flung in dirt between the sidewalk and the fence, was the body of another young man with wounds in the head and back.

Called Gang Slaying.

Police Commissioner William Mulrooney took personal charge of the investigation that followed the discovery of the bodies and before noon a small army of detectives, had established the two victims' identity and had classified the case as "gang murders." The two men, both of whom had long criminal records, were Michael J. Ahearn, 26, and John [Jackie] Lynch, 32.

They were known merely as petty criminals but one was believed to have been identified with the Bronx beer running gang of Joey Rao, whose feud with the gang of Vincent Coll, now under indictment for the shooting of five children in East 107th street last summer, was notorious in the Bronx and upper Harlem.

The identity of the two men was established by fingerprints and the body of Ahearn was also identified by his brother William.

Taken for Death Ride.

An autopsy showed that a .32 caliber bullet pierced Ahearn's heart, another bullet had gone through his right eye and lodged in the skull after piercing the brain. Lynch had been shot behind the right ear. The victims had apparently been taken for the usual "ride" of gangdom, had perhaps, the police said, been shot while in Manhattan.

Investigation showed that Ahearn had been employed as a "bouncer" at the Old Ireland 32 dance hall in 125th and had been there Saturday night and early Sunday morning, some few hours before he was shot. The dance hall, according to the police, was opened a few weeks ago by James Cloonan and Owen Rogan, both of whom were taken in custody for questioning.

VILLAGE MOVES TO EXPEL NEGRO AND HIS CULT

Follows Many Protests at Noisy Meetings.

Sayville, L. I., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Nearly a thousand citizens of this village attended a massmeeting in the High school auditorium tonight to formulate plans for the immediate expulsion from the community of Maj. J. Divine, Negro head of a fast growing cult, and his followers, among whom are a large number of white persons.

The spark which exploded local indignation was the arrest early last Monday of seventy-eight of Divine's followers, at his house in North Sayville, for disorderly conduct, after neighbors had complained to the police of loud and uproarious noises during a religious service. Taken before Justice Charles H. Duryea that morning, forty-six of the defendants pleaded guilty and were fined $5 each.

Divine was charged with maintaining a public nuisance and was held for the Suffolk grand jury in bail of $1,500, which was furnished.

Six Acquitted.

Last night thirty-two defendants who pleaded not guilty were tried before Judge Duryea and twenty-six were found guilty and fined $5 each. The remaining six, who took the stand and swore that neither they nor their co-defendants had made any noise, were acquitted.

Four of the six were whites: Eugene Delmar, "writer, editor and incidentally a member of the New York bar;" Helen Faust, a New York stenographer; Anna Maw, "lecturer, teacher and healer," and Marie Orr. The other two, David Hadnot and Mary Jones, were Negroes.

The village massmeeting was presided over by Charles Milton Rogers, a former chairman of the board of supervisors, and one time head of the Suffolk county Democratic committee. Mr. Rogers owns a summer hotel here.

Speakers pointed out that the question under discussion was not racial. Sayville is a summer resort and it is contended that the activities of the Divine colony have not only depreciated property values in the district in which it is situated, but have given a bad name to the community as a whole.

Therefore, it was resolved and carried that: "It is to the best interest to plan his cult where it can prosper unhampered by the limits of a residential section."

Leader Acquiesces.

Before the massmeeting Divine said he had been looking over various properties with a view to moving.

"Some time ago," he declared, "I suggested that a public vote would be welcome to me. Therefore, I heartily indorse this massmeeting. If the public does not wish it, why, of course, I will not stay here. I do not care to reside anywhere, whether it be in Suffolk county or even in New York state, where my presence is not desired."

For the last twelve years, the length of his residence here, Divine has been the mystery man of Sayville. He never has been engaged in any gainful occupation. It is known that he returns to the donors any contributions sent to him. He takes up no collections at his services.

AIR NOTES

The Illinois aeronautics commission, of which Maj. Reed G. Landis is chairman, has filed with the secretary of state's office in Springfield copies of the state air traffic rules. The rules are practically identical with those of the federal government governing interstate flying, but are strict in regard to intrastate flying, in that they cover all flying, whether or not commercial. These rules become effective today. Violations are punishable by a fine of not more than $500, or by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or both.

Due to shorter days, United Air lines is now flying 20,000 miles at night and 15,000 miles in daylight every 24 hours. The line is believed to be the only one in the world flying mail and passengers more miles at night than by day.

Officials of Transamerican Airlines are studying the possibilities of establishing an air route linking the United States with Europe via Canada, Baffin Land, Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe Islands, and Denmark. Extensive aerial surveys, partially completed last summer, indicated such a route is feasible.

RASKOB TOSSES ANOTHER LIQUOR BOMB AT PARTY

Submits Referendum to Campaign Fund Givers.

meeting of the Democratic national committee last March. This is a proposal of a new amendment modifying the 18th amendment. The new amendment would provide:

"Nothing in the constitution shall prevent any state from taking over absolutely complete control of the manufacture, transportation, importation and sale of intoxicating beverages within its own territory and exportation thereof to other states, countries and territories as do not prohibit same, provided, however, that the plan under which that state proposes to take over such liquor control is first approved by the people of that state in a state wide referendum."

"It will be noted," says Mr. Raskob, "that should this amendment be adopted the 18th amendment will stay in full force and effect with respect to all of the states until some states work out liquor control plans of their own which must be approved by their people in state wide referendum before they can be adopted.

Prohibits Return of Saloon.

"This plan leaves all other states in the position of still having national prohibition and all the power of the federal government for its enforcement and almost certainly guards against the return of the old fashioned saloon because a majority of people in no state would vote in favor of a local state liquor control plan which permitted a return of the deplorable conditions which existed under the old saloon system.

"The amendment might also provide that a state at any time may rescind its previous action, thus again submitting itself to the provisions of the 18th amendment."

With reference to the second question in the referendum the letter says that such a proposal has been indorsed by the American Legion and American Bar association. Mr. Raskob adds that a vote to submit the question to the people would not commit a senator or congressman to either side.

Mr. Raskob in his letter to the contributors says that the hope of the party lies in a return to advocacy of state rights and of the original conception of the limitations of the federal government.

Appeals to Independent Voters.

"The Democratic party is, and always has been," he says, "the exponent of local self-government. Of necessity all questions of foreign relations, national defense, coinage, patents, inter-relation of the states, and the maintenance of a Supreme court were allotted to the federal government under our constitution.

"The questions relating to the personal affairs of the people and the intimate affairs of the individual states were appropriately left to the people and to the states for determination. In turn the states themselves have followed the broad policy of leaving to the people of the counties, townships and cities control of affairs of their own local concern.

"The United States is filled with independent voters who feel that the present Republican administration has but little conception of our plan of constitutional government, and who will flock to the Democratic party if we get down to solid ground through restoring states rights and home rule; and recognize the fact that decentralization and heavy pruning of national expenditures are necessary at Washington in order to relieve us of excessive taxation.

"There are, furthermore, millions of young men and women who in the 1932 election will cast their first vote. It is of great importance that we should make an especial appeal to them to join the Democratic party. This generation will join with us only if we offer them a sound, constructive, straightforward platform. They will not tolerate evasion."

The 18th amendment, Mr. Raskob calls "an outstanding example of paternalism," representing the "only material increase in federal power" granted since the foundation of the government.

"I believe the time has come," Mr. Raskob concludes, "for the Democratic party to face this issue squarely and to present to the people a definite plan under the policy of state rights and local self-government."

HOME BREW CASE AGAINST WILEY MAY BE DROPPED

Expect "No Bill" Will Be Returned.

The United States attorney's office has no intention of pressing for an indictment against Charles L. Wiley, world war veteran who went to the aid of the home brewing janitor of his office building and was in turn thrown into a cell. This information comes from a source close to United States Attorney George E. O. Johnson, who will be contented, it is said, with a no bill in the case.

Such an attitude represents a decided change from the stand taken by Assistant United States Attorney Walter E. Wiles in the home brew case, which has become a cause célèbre of prohibition, with the American Legion, the Crusaders, the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, and many public officials making protests to the administration at Washington.

Sought to Aid Janitor.

Wiley sought leniency for Bolesalaw Lidikewicz, the janitor who was accused of possessing home brew. The war veteran said he had requested Lidikewicz to make the beer for a Legion post smoker, that no money was paid and that Lidikewicz refused to sell his wares. Mr. Wiles thereupon moved for the arrest of Wiley on a charge of conspiracy and this was done. After a time in a cell he was released on bond supplied by a friend. The janitor was sentenced to sixty days in jail and fined $100 by Federal Judge John P. Barnes after Prosecutor Wiles had recommended that leniency be denied.

Although Wiley was held to the grand jury by the court, the case against him, it is learned, has not been presented for consideration. However, Prosecutor Wiles said yesterday this probably will be done the latter part of the week. The district attorney's office has no choice in the matter, the court having held Wiley to the grand jury, but the grand jurors may be advised to return a no bill. Prosecutors can and usually do recommend a true bill or a no bill in cases before grand juries.

Presents Case on Merits.

Prosecutor Wiles said the case would be presented in the regular course of business, on its merits. He declined to state what recommendation would be made, but it is reported that District Attorney Johnson has refused to sanction the urging of a true bill to vindicate the government's stand. Even if a true bill were returned, it is rumored at the federal building, the government is doubtful of its ability to convict Wiley before a trial jury, and an acquittal might result in a greater fiasco than a no bill.

Another fact said to be under consideration is whether Wiley is actually guilty to the extent of his admissions or was merely assuming responsibility to help a friend.

The janitor is still in jail, having been sentenced on Nov. 3. Wiley is under bond of $1,000, which would be returned if a no bill were voted.

JAPANESE ARMY THREATENS TO MARCH ON HARBIN

Certain elements here, including those loyal to Nanking, oppose his control and are unwilling to abdicate without a fight.

Japanese troops, who captured Tsitsihar, are reported to be advancing along the Chinese owned railway line to Koshan, 75 miles northeast of Tsitsihar. Remnants of Gen. Ma Chan-Shan's defeated army were said to have been bombed by Japanese planes at Koshan today.

3,500 Men Defeat 20,000.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 22.—The entire strength of all arms of the Japanese force which shattered Gen. Ma Chan-shan's Chinese army of more than 20,000 men was only 3,500 men in all branches of service, said an official statement from Gen. Shigeru Honjo's Japanese headquarters today.

The Japanese used twenty field guns, including a few heavy pieces, airplanes, infantry, cavalry, and machine gunners, but could not use any armored cars because of the intense cold, the cars' motors having frozen solid the night before the attack. It was possible to use airplanes only because their engines were kept running day and night for 48 hours before the attack at dawn on Nov. 18.

Gen. Ma's strength in the front line was 12,000 regulars, supplemented by 8,000 recruits, mostly former bandits, it is announced here.

A Dramatic Escape.

Private Yamada, who was wounded and captured by the Chinese at Tashin and was previously reported missing, after being tied to a pillar in a Tsitsihar street, today returned to his company with a dramatic account of his adventures and escape. Yamada was one of five Japanese cavalry outposts surrounded near Tashin by Chinese cavalry raiders.

The lieutenant commanding the group realized that all were probably doomed to die and ordered Yamada to mount his own horse and dash to headquarters. Yamada's mount was shot from under him and he fought off the enemy with a horseshoer's hammer until wounded.

Taken to the military prison at Tsitsihar, Yamada was tortured by the Chinese in an effort to extort military information, but he refused to talk. The night before Gen. Ma abandoned Tsitsihar Yamada escaped.

Denies China Masses Troops.

[Copyright: 1931: By the Associated Press.]

PEIPING, Nov. 22.—Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, deposed governor of Manchuria, denied in an interview today published reports that China was massing troops in southern Manchuria in preparation for a renewed attack on the Japanese forces.

"Ever since the occupation of Mukden," he said, "the Japanese have been alleging the presence of huge Chinese forces in Manchuria. This is false. They now state that Chinese calvalry is concentrating at Gungliao, that 50,000 troops are assembling at Chinchow and that three trainloads of infantry from Peiping and Tientsin have arrived outside the Great Wall.

"These reports are equally untrue. They are but another instance of a policy to create pretexts for further aggression. It is notorious that the Japanese military confiscated the revenues of legitimate Manchurian provincial governments and attempted to coerce us by confronting us with the danger of financial strangulation."

Charges League Side-stepped.

Asked as to his attitude toward the league's attempts in Paris to avert war, he countered with a question:

"Are the league covenant, the Kellogg pact and the Washington nine power treaty to be thrown into the wastebasket?

"Information from Paris," he said, "is creating the impression throughout China that the council unwisely sidestepped the one issue which for the present ought to be handled with firmness. It appears that the council failed to give effect to its own resolution of Oct. 24 which clearly emphasized that Japanese troops outside the South Manchuria railroad areas must evacuate by Nov. 16.

"If this is true, the council's failure to insist upon respect for its own recommendations and mandates cannot but raise serious doubts as to whether the league itself has not confessed its incapacity in the situation and in so doing taken a position which augurs ill for the future."

LEAGUE IN GLOOM; PEACE DREAMS START TO FADE

Both China and Japan Stick to Guns.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The league of nations council met this morning and completed a draft of a proposed compromise resolution on the Manchurian problem, but the deadlock between China and Japan seemed unbroken.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The negotiations on Manchuria are gradually approaching what some believe will develop into a hopeless deadlock.

Countering the latest Japanese moves, the Chinese government cabled its delegate, Dr. Alfred Sze, to call on Aristide Briand, chairman of the council of the league of nations, to repeat more strongly China's adamant refusal to accept any kind of a commission to investigate the "unofficial war" until definite assurance is received of an early withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

The Japanese government, disregarding China's attempt to block the "peace" movement, followed up its strategy of the last few days by consolidating its positions—both in Paris and Manchuria—and instructing Delegate Kenkichi Yoshizawa to tell Briand no further concessions could be expected. At the same time the Japanese presented Briand with a memorandum elaborating on yesterday's oral proposition for the creation of a commission of inquiry.

In league circles there is a definite tendency towards pessimism after three days of restrained optimism. It is admitted that it will be difficult to find a formula vague enough to satisfy the Japanese and concrete enough to be accepted by the Chinese. The best word twisters of the league staff grappled with this problem all day.

On the surface it would appear that all the gains towards a rapprochement of points of view reached last week have been wiped out.

Japan Submits Formula.

Ironically, although the league did not function officially today, it is the first time the two teams of Orientals and their respective supporters have stopped trying to read each other's thoughts and have actually made a move. The presentation of the Japanese memorandum for the first time placed before the council a formula which seems to have been accepted sight unseen.

The Japanese memorandum is still only a framework which fills only half a typewritten sheet. While the details were not announced, it was reported the Nipponese embodied their proposal in a general enough form to permit some flexibility for negotiating. Three commissioners are suggested—an American, a Frenchman, and an Englishman, to be assisted by a Japanese and a Chinese.

Next the memorandum specifies the scope of the inquiry must include the whole field of Chinese foreign relations with emphasis placed on the ability to preserve order and fulfill obligations. The commission, the Japanese insist, must begin with China proper and take up Manchuria afterwards.

FOREIGN CHIEF TELLS WHY JAPA GRIPS MANCHURI

Forced to Act by China Outrages, He Says.

BY BARON KIJURO SHIDEHARA
Foreign Minister of Japan.

[Copyright: 1931: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, Nov. 22.—The whole disturbance in Manchuria originates from a long series of acts of open disregard by China of treaties which are essential to the security of that region.

The immediate cause is now well known to be the violent attacks of Sept. 18 last made by Chinese troops on the South Manchurian railway zone, under the protection of the Japanese army.

We are all too apt to forget that between 1895 and 1904 China had allowed Russia to get Manchuria completely within her grasp. It was virtually a Russian province. But the war of 1904-'05 Japan wrested it from the control of the czar and handed Manchuria back to China, only stipulating the retention of the South Manchurian railway.

FOREIGN CHIEF TELLS WHY JAPAN OPS MANCHURIA

Forced to Act by China's Outrages, He Says.

BY BARON KIJURO SHIDEHARA.

Foreign Minister of Japan.

TOKIO, Nov. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] —The whole difficulty in Manchuria originates from a

"Secret Ally of Russia."

All the time China was secretly an ally of Russia, and had this fact been known Japan would have had every justification for replacing Russia in Manchuria. In 1915 she did obtain some extension of her rights—in particular recognition of the right of her people to lease Manchurian land—and her civilizing efforts resulted in enormously increasing the prosperity and population of the country.

Then came the intense campaign by which all nations have suffered in China for the repudiation of the so-called "unequal" treaties; and this means the repudiation of Japanese treaties which had secured peace and order in Manchuria.

Outrage succeeded outrage and our Corean fellow subjects, for whose interests we feel especially responsible, were again and again attacked and were beginning to retaliate.

"Troops Not Ornaments."

Such a situation could not last. Japan relied and relies on peaceful means for its settlement. Only her troops were not in the railway zone as ornaments. When the Chinese attacked the line they could not but perform the duty for which they were there: namely, to repel the attack and to prevent its repetition.

As soon as Manchuria is safe they will be withdrawn to the railway zone and the situation will again become normal. A Sino-Japanese commission [as was at first almost agreed upon] could have arranged this, but China preferred to decline all negotiations and to invoke the distant league—and so the matter for the present rests.

Accusations are reported to have been made in China that Japan is establishing "puppet governments" to subserve her own interests in Manchuria. The fact is that the former Chinese officials fled upon the approach of our forces and left the unfortunate country largely destitute of constituted authorities.

Set Up Substitute Governments.

Some substitute had to be improvised and this was spontaneously done by the local population, of course with the countenance of our troops. If these popular attempts at self-determination should eventually prove inconsistent with arbitrary rule in the region of Manchuria the fact might afford a speedy solution of present difficulties, but Japan regards it as entirely a matter for the Manchurian people themselves and is affording no encouragement or stimulus to such a development.

Did Japan wish to create a subservient government in Manchuria, the organization of these sporadic committees of public safety would be the least hopeful way to set about it. The recognition of one united and powerful group as rulers of Manchuria would be the only practical course.

Needless to say, she contemplates no such tortuous policy. But she cannot be blamed for keeping on foot some rudimentary civil organization. The proposition that the Japanese are instigating banditry scarcely needs refutation.

CHINESE SCHOOLGIRLS AND CHEFS JOIN TREK HOME FROM JAPAN

TOKIO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Chinese schoolgirls, including a daughter of Gen. Ma Chan-Shan, and Japan's Cantonese cooks are leaving Japan on account of the strained relations between this country and China.

Miss Ma Shu-Chin, 19 year old daughter of Gen. Ma, commander of Chinese forces in Manchuria, who recently was routed by Japanese from his position near Tsitsihar, left Nara yesterday for Harbin. She was accompanied by seven other North Manchurian girls who had been attending a school near the ancient capital. Miss Ma received a letter from a brother, urging her to start homeward immediately.

Two Chinese restaurants in Tokio, two at Osaka, three at Yokohama, and one at Kobe were closed when the proprietors, as well as their Cantonese chefs, decided to embark for China with hundreds of other Chinese.

Robber Smiles at Woman and Walks Out with Loot

Mrs. L. M. Richards, owner of the Rowantrees hotel at 500 Englewood avenue, left her son, Franklin, 23 years old, in charge of the office for a few minutes last night. During her absence a bandit surprised him, and emptied the till of $300. As he walked toward the exit, Mrs. Richards passed him. She saw him sticking his revolver in his holster. "This isn't a robber, is it?" she demanded. The robber smiled, closed his coat over the gun and walked out. Mrs. Richards' question was answered when she saw her son a moment later.

HUNT SOURCE OF ARMY SUIT USED BY DRY SLAYER

Denver, Colo., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Two of the federal prohibition department special intelligence officers here to investigate the "arrests at any price" policy pursued by prohibition agents in Colorado turned their attention today to use of United States army uniforms by evidence-seeking agents.

Suspended Agent Henry Dierks who clubbed Milford G. Smith, 29 year old Englewood youth to death, and a companion officer are accused of frequently using army uniforms in a search for liquor violations on suspects; for several weeks last summer they held gay parties in nearby mountain resorts posing as army officers and pleading with resort proprietors to obtain liquor for them. In one instance the federal agents, unable to get liquor at any price in a resort, finally brought their own alcohol and arrested the proprietor when he provided them with ginger ale and glasses.

P. A. Shirley and George S. Taylor, the intelligence officers, today questioned several soldiers at Fitzsimmons general hospital here trying to determine where Dierks and his comrade obtained the uniforms they wore. It is understood they have traced the uniforms to two soldiers whose names they would not reveal.

AUTO TEST LANE IN USE TODAY IN GRANT PARK

The Chicago Motor club will open a safety lane in which motorists may have their automobiles tested for mechanical defects free of charge today in Grant park. The lane will be in the roadway between Soldiers' field and the Field museum, and will be open all week.

Mechanics will test brakes for equalization and stopping power, and will examine steering gear, horn, lights, windshield wiper and front wheel alignment. Cars found in perfect condition will be given an "O. K." sticker. Owners of defective cars will be given a list of the defects found.

The test lane has the approval of Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden, of the Speeders' court, and Police Commissioner Allman, as a step in reducing automobile accidents due to mechanical defects.

STOP 'CAMPAIGN AGAINST RUSSIA!' JAPAN IS WARNED

Soviets Accuse Tokio of Meddling.

MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Japan was sharply warned today by the Communist newspaper Pravda to cease what it termed an anti-soviet campaign in connection with Manchuria.

"Soviet Russia's peace policy does not mean it will allow efforts to harm the interests of socialist construction to go unpunished," declared the newspaper. "Let Tokio, Washington, and Paris not forget this!"

Declaring it was no secret that certain Japanese circles were seeking to complicate Japanese-soviet relations, the Communist party organ said:

"The Japanese military cannot satisfy us by assurances alone. The Japanese government must confirm by actions its peaceful intentions toward the soviet union and first intercept the anti-soviet campaign."

Tokio's Note Angers Russia.

Pravda was most outspoken of the soviet press, which generally expressed dissatisfaction with the latest Japanese declaration to soviet Russia. Alarm was sounded lest the widening of Japanese occupation of Manchuria would present a further opportunity for imperialistic efforts to involve the soviet union.

The Japanese ambassador's statement on Nov. 19 that Japan did not believe rumors of Chinese receiving soviet support, Pravda said, failed to end the "anti-soviet campaign," but on the contrary gave a new cause for the possibility of damage to Japanese-soviet relations by demanding new assurances from soviet Russia that it would not support the armies of Gen. Ma Chan-shan.

An attempt to draw an analogy between the present conflict and the Chinese-Russian embroglio in 1929 was described by Pravda as "only an effort to indicate that the soviet government was indebted to Japanese imperialism, which gives a new pretense to prolong the anti-soviet campaign."

An "Anti-Soviet Campaign."

Continuous efforts of imperialist powers to set up in China the bogey of an "anarchy" created by soviet Russia and rumors of soviet support of Chinese generals, the newspaper said, were "fabricated to divert attention from imperialistic plundering of Manchuria."

"Notwithstanding our previous clear declarations denying such provocative reports, the campaign of fabrications against soviet Russia continues to flourish in Japan," the newspaper added.

Seeing anti-soviet plans as undoubtedly occupying an important place in the Paris sessions of the league of nations council, Pravda said the league was making an effort to hide an imperialistic division of China by supporting Japan in Manchuria on a pretense of combating anarchy in China.

Calls Situation Serious.

"Meanwhile the Japanese military is killing thousands of Chinese, plundering Chinese cities, destroying railway lines and appointing its own governments, all in the name of establishing order," the newspaper charged.

"Who asked Japan to establish order in Manchuria?" Pravda asked. "The responsibility lies in the imperialistic policy of the colonizers, which is also the policy of Japan.

"A strong policy of peace is the heart and soul of the soviet union's foreign policy, notwithstanding many efforts of imperialism to provoke war, but we realize the situation in Manchuria remains as serious as before."

FINES AT CUSTOMER'S HOME.

John Marks, owner of a grocery at 1230 East 53d street, yesterday was charged with firing three shots through the door of the home of a customer, Mrs. Geraldine King, 5330 Kimbark avenue. Marks was ejected after he had upbraided her for trading at other stores, police were told.

BORAH POOH POOHS IDEA THAT RUSSIA AND JAPAN WILL WAR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Alarm of the government over Japanese-Russian complications in Manchuria was discounted tonight by Chairman William E. Borah of the senate foreign relations committee. He expressed confidence there would be no trouble between these two powers.

Senator Borah, who is well acquainted with the Sino-Japanese situation in Manchuria, is recognized as the "unofficial spokesman" between the United States and the soviet government, which is not recognized by America.

Japanese occupation of Tsitsihar in the Russian sphere of influence in northern Manchuria led Secretary Stimson yesterday to express apprehension to the Japanese that this move threatened dangerous complications.

NAVY HUNTS FOR A PLAN HOOVER MIGHT APPROVE

Hope to Get Started on Some Building.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The navy department is now revamping its 136 million dollar war ship authorization program in the hope it will be given White House approval prior to the opening of congress, it became known today. Whether the President will approve the modified authorization bill is a question officials would not answer, although it was said they had reason to believe the administration will not oppose approval by congress of a moderate building bill.

The first bill prepared by the navy department called for the authorization of two aircraft carriers, two 6 inch gun cruisers, one a flying deck cruiser; six submarines, and one destroyer leader. The plan was to ask congress to appropriate about $25,000,000 after the authorization bill was passed, so a part of the new warships could be laid down during the next fiscal year.

Hoover Halts Program.

The economy wave washed out this program in the early fall, and for several weeks the navy department gave up hope of winning White House approval of the new program. New hope was raised, however, when the terms of the modified league buildings truce was printed, showing that no restrictions were laid on replacements. The state department, in this connection, said the truce would not prevent congressional approval of a building bill if no funds were expended prior to Nov. 4 next fall on vessels other than replacements.

Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] of the senate naval affairs committee has announced he will introduce an authorization bill providing all the ships this country can build under the terms of the London naval treaty. Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], a delegate to the London conference, stated, following a White House conference, that he will work for passage of a moderate authorization bill which will start the navy on the way to a treaty fleet.

Far Behind Schedule.

Under the terms of the London treaty the United States may lay down 323,000 tons of new cruisers, aircraft carriers, destroyers, and submarines prior to Dec. 31, 1936. Not one new warship has been authorized under the administration of Herbert Hoover. A bill to authorize the first increment of a program designed to build the United States to treaty levels by 1942 failed of passage last year.

Of the huge tonnage cited above, only two 8 inch gun cruisers and eleven destroyers are authorized. Unless a new bill is authorized next year no new warships, aside from those now building, can be completed before the scheduled 1935 arms conference.

DIES OF KNIFE WOUNDS.

Percy Moore, 47 years old, 353 West Oak street, died yesterday in the county hospital of knife wounds alleged to have been inflicted Saturday night by Ray Humphrey in a fight at 514 West Division street. Both are Negroes. Humphrey was arrested.

LINDBERGH SPANS CARIBBEAN WITH GIANT SEAPLANE

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, Nov. 22.—(AP)—[By Pan-American Airways Radio to Miami.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh nestled the giant American Clipper, Pan-American Airways seaplane, into Barranquilla harbor at 12:03 p. m. today, amid the cheers of thousands of persons, to complete the first trans-Caribbean flight of the huge air vessel.

As he landed the ship, preparatory to remaining here for several days, Col. Lindbergh was welcomed to Colombia—his third trip to the nation—by Dr. Enrico De La Rosa, secretary to the governor of Barranquilla.

Col. Lindbergh flew the big seaplane, with its 17 passengers and more than 17,000 pieces of mail, across the Caribbean sea in a little more than four hours. Basil Rowe, mate pilot, continued the flight of the Clipper to Cristobal, Canal Zone, landing there at 5:05 p. m. The flying colonel announced the delay in the start of his flight from Miami would prevent his proposed flight to Bogota, capital of Colombia, while he awaited the return of the Clipper from the Canal Zone.

NEW INSPECTORS OF POLICE SOON TO BE APPOINTED

Other Proposed Changes in Department Told.

Police Commissioner Allman announced yesterday that the chief police inspector and the six individual inspectors will be named soon. With their appointment the first major change in the police department reorganization, which Mayor Cermak is sponsoring, will be accomplished.

The reorganization plan on which Bruce Smith, New York police expert, and a corps of assistants are working, provides that the chief inspector will be in charge of the distribution of the uniformed force and the massing of the police for any emergency. The divisional inspectors will enforce the police policies in their respective divisions.

Other Changes Planned.

Among other definite recommendations submitted by Mr. Smith and believed to have been tentatively approved by the mayor and Commissioner Allman are the following:

Consolidation of the Pekin and Stanton avenue districts; of the Hudson avenue, East Chicago avenue and Sheffield avenue districts; and of the Kenmore and Gresham districts.

Extensive changes in training, including a three months' course for recruits.

A personnel bureau to include trial boards, training, inspection, and medical supervision.

Commissioner Allman said that another recommendation—that the office of commissioner be transfered from the city hall to the police building at 11th and State streets—will be carried out as soon as the inspectors have been named.

60 More Men on Streets.

While completing details of the inspectorship system Commissioner Allman has put several other changes into effect. These have released a minimum of 60 men for uniformed patrol duty on the streets.

The first of these changes was to establish at six points a number of patrol wagons which transfer prisoners between stations and the courts, leaving the district wagons for local use only and cutting their crews from three to two men.

Another innovation is the taking of finger prints of persons arrested at district stations instead of sending the prisoners to the bureau of identification.

Plans have been made to handle at six switchboards the periodic calls made by the patrolmen from their beats. Heretofore the switchboards have been in each district station. When this change is made 110 men will be released for patrol duty.

TAMMANY DECIDES IT WILL NOT OPPOSE GARNER AS SPEAKER

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Members of the Tammany delegation in the house of representatives expressed satisfaction today over the results of the meeting between Tammany leader, John F. Curry and John N. Garner, the prospective Democratic speaker in the next congress in Washington on Saturday. The meeting was construed as having definitely ended the candidacy of Representative John J. O'Connor of New York for the floor leadership, and while members of the New York delegation were not opposed to having a New Yorker in that post, they did not, it was said today, wish to hazard any of the committee chairmanships that might fall to them by right of seniority in a deal to get the floor leadership for Representative O'Connor.

WAITS 64 YEARS TO BARE MURDER HE SAW AS CHILD

Pana, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The mysterious disappearance sixty-four years ago of Elijah Russell, prominent Dry Point, Shelby county, farmer, was revealed today as murder and the recovery of what remained of his body, buried by his slayers, followed a story told by George A. Pifer of Windsor, Shelby county.

Pifer said he saw Russell murdered by three men, robbed of several hundred dollars, and his body buried by his slayers. At the time of the murder Pifer was but 7 year old, and he had kept the murder sealed behind his lips all these sixty-four years.

Russell, on a December day in 1867 had drawn several hundred dollars from a Shelbyville bank and started for his home in Dry Point township, a few miles east of that city. Men who had seen him draw the money waylaid and shot him to death, robbed his body of the money and then buried their victim. Russell never arrived home and his family and other, after a fruitless search over several weeks, came to the conclusion that he had deserted his family and then abandoned the hunt for the man.

Today authorities, after twenty-four hours search, located the grave of Russell despite the fact that time had wrought many changes in the landscape and the country near the scene of his death. Some of the bones of Russell, his watch and gold ring were recovered and the identity of the victim thus established and the story of Pifer corroborated.

Bandits Get $1,835 Loot in Raid on Finance Concern

A robbery in the offices of the G. M. S. Finance company at 2739 Madison street netted three bandits $1,531 in cash and a $300 ring yesterday afternoon. While one of the trio waited in their car outside, the other two entered the office. The threatened Barney Cohen, 4949 Adams street, the manager, and Harry Blumenthal, 36 North Long avenue, and Tom Curl, employés, and P. J. Ernstein, 1178 East 55th street, a patron. Cohen lost the ring.

HEALTH SERVICE OF U. S. REPORTS ON OFFICE HERE

Figures made public yesterday by Dr. E. I. Sloan, in charge of the first aid station of the United States public health service at the federal building, showed that each month between 3,900 and 5,500 civil service employés receive treatment for injuries received in the course of their duties. These injuries range from small paper cuts to bone fractures, the report indicated. All employés are cautioned to go immediately to the first aid station regardless of the nature of the injury.

Nearly half of the total number of cases treated each month are for puncture wounds, incurred in handling circulars fastened together with metal clips. Cases of crushed fingers and toes are reported daily by clerks operating heavy hand trucks in the mailing and parcel post divisions. Back sprains are also common. During the winter season mail carriers are frequently treated for frost bite, and slippery sidewalks cause a score or more to suffer fractured wrists and legs, the report showed.

Approximately 54,000 wounds are treated annually at the first aid station, which is operated by two doctors and three nurses, on duty in shifts twenty hours daily. From twelve to fifty cases of rash contracted by clerks handling foreign mail are reported each year.

DON'T BE CONFUSED BY THIS MATTER OF PRICE

¶ A cheaply priced electric refrigerator is bound to be costly. . . . There is no such thing as a "pretty good" or medium grade electric refrigerator. . . . You either have dependable, year-'round refrigeration—or you haven't. When you buy an electric refrigerator, you must know that it will give you long years of satisfactory service—that it will save money in operation—that you will be protected against trouble and expense. You know these things are true of General Electric refrigerators. Why experiment?

¶ Owners and operators of large apartment buildings particularly should give careful thought and study to this matter of price. We can actually prove that General Electric will cost them much less—protect them in so far as service expense is concerned—guard them against complaints—help them rent aparments—keep down overhead.

. . . All the mechanism hermetically sealed in a lifetime supply of oil—in the Monitor Top. A General Electric never needs oiling. General Electric's famous oil conditioner keeps the oil at a running temperature—always.

¶ Check carefully the matter of guarantee. Most guarantees cover merely replacements of defective parts. General Electric gives an unqualified, unconditional guarantee against any service expense, of any kind, on any model for three years.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A VICTIM OF VOLSTEAD.

A petition for the pardon of Boleslaw Lidikewicz has been sent to President Hoover by representatives of several groups of foreign born Americans in Chicago. Lidikewicz is a naturalized citizen of Lithuanian birth, the janitor of a building which in better times he owned. Federal agents and police found beer in the making in his quarters and arrested him. He pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Barnes and was sent to the county jail for sixty days, a sentence he is now serving.

A number of circumstances make the case worthy of consideration by the pardoning authority. It was the habit of the janitor to make beer for his own use. It is the habit of Americans by the tens of thousands. They make their own beverage in their homes and the custom is so general that even the most rabid drys have never dared counsel government interference with it. The government itself tacitly consents.

There is no evidence and no charge that the janitor ever sold beer. There is testimony that he refused to take money from neighbors who had tasted his brew and asked for it. There was, however, a complaint from some one in the building or in the neighborhood, provoked apparently by the smell of the brewing, and the premises were visited by a detail of federal agents and city police, without a search warrant. They gained entrance to the janitor's quarters and found the beer in the making.

He was arrested and when he appeared in court he pleaded guilty. His English is not trustworthy, but he says he meant that it making beer, as he was making it, was regarded as a crime he was guilty of making beer. Charles L. Wiley, a business man, member of the American Legion and tenant in the building, appeared as a volunteer witness in court and told the judge that the matter was on his conscience. The janitor, he said, had refused to sell any beer, but the batch which had been found brewing was being made at his request for a party at which he was to entertain some fellow Legionnaires. Inasmuch as the accused never had made beer for sale, Mr. Wiley asked the court for leniency. Thereupon the assistant United States district attorney, Walter D. Wiles, asked the court to hold Mr. Wiley for conspiracy and he was arrested. Later he was released on bail to await federal grand jury action. The janitor was fined and sentenced to sixty days.

It is apparent that the only remedy lies in a pardon. Whatever view may be taken of the case as a bit of legalism it is distressing to justice. Even Volstead enforcement does not contemplate the seizure of citizens who make beer for their own table use. The government makes a distinction between this and the manufacture of beverages for sale. That is a policy of necessity. A dragonnade could not stop the noncommercial home brewing and the prisons could not contain the thousands and thousands of citizens liable to the same sentence given the janitor. The administration of justice should abhor processes which are selective and which pick one victim among ten thousand equally liable.

It would require a large concentration camp to contain all the persons in Chicago who have made home brew and it offends the innate sense of justice that one inconspicuous person, handicapped in his experience with the law by his own confusion, should be picked up for a punishment not intended for people all about him. The United States prosecutor made no distinction between this man and a law violator whose object was profit, although the government does make that distinction. The punishment imposed was one which might have been given the convicted proprietor of a speakeasy.

The Volstead act is an ugly law. Injustice is inherent in it. It picks a victim here and a victim there, the administrators knowing that enforcement is nothing which the administration of justice should be but is at its best selective and haphazard and at its worst indiscriminable.

The janitor now in jail should be pardoned because his case is a complete reproach to a government which treats prohibition as a political question instead of a law, which subsidizes winemaking, refrains from arousing public indignation by invading every home and which conciliates the farmers by condoning their fermented fruit juices.

CHANGING ORDERS.

There is no chance of unchangeable status in the world if the future is to be judged from experience. The status non mutandus does not exist. Whether people like it or not, and many of them never like a change, change they will have. It's true it may be more superficial than real, however striking, and may concern appearance more than substance, but it will be the substitution of one form for another.

All great systems of human organization have changed. The sacerdotal and priesthood organizations with imperial gods disappeared. The early attempts to do something with the democratic idea of individual worth, based, it is true, on slavery, went down under forces of economics, egotism and ignorance. The frame into which the concrete of human organization has been poured has been always changing. Ecclesiasticism and feudalism were broken by the human aspiration to escape arbitrary government.

For each system of government at its best in its time some good may be said. Grant most of the ideas and rules of modern communistic government and feudalism is a good system of human order. It presents top government, the arbitrary dictatorship, in which communism works if it can work at all, but in this form it quickly becomes detestable to the people who must submit to it.

Feudalism is even a bit ahead of communism because it has a fixed continuity in heredity. Communism is confronted with the uncertainty of authority. Feudalism presented the world with a certainty. We think now of the system as tyrannous and degrading, but it produced order when nothing else visible could have done so. The strong men exercised power and land was possessed in their name. They were the state just as Stalin and Mussolini are the state. They succeeded to the authority of decayed republics and empires just as Stalin and Mussolini have done.

Feudalism as a social status had its justification in its time. It brought order to chaos. Then democracy resurged under it. The old Anglo-Saxon forms, for instance, reemerged from under the Norman supremacy, but it took the English from 1066 to 1832 to recover what William the Conqueror had extinguished. Change is always affecting human organizations. We think that here in the United States we have arrived at the best organization of society known to man. It is by no means certain that it is the final form of organization.

If we are to be influenced in our thought by any reflection as to the past we'll say that again it is improbable that an unchangeable status has been reached. But we shall also realize that a desirable order has been accomplished and a better one should surely prove itself before it is esteemed better.

A DEPLORABLE VERDICT.

The verdict of not guilty which absolved the killer of Policeman Patrick J. Gallagher of all responsibility under the criminal law seems to us an astonishing and shocking miscarriage of justice. The prosecution was conducted by one of the ablest of the state's attorney's staff. The essential facts were not denied. The defense amounted to virtually nothing but the defendant's assertion that he thought he was shooting at some one else who he alleged had threatened him and that he did not intend to kill the policeman. And upon this showing a jury of adult and presumably normal citizens of this community set the killer free.

It is a judgment which ignores the law, which ignores justice, which ignores any intelligent conception of moral responsibility. The twelve men who subscribed to it have a very serious explanation to make to this community, a very heavy responsibility to carry for the example they have set and the encouragement they have given to lawlessness.

Waiving any possibility of manipulation, of which we are informed there is no evidence, the verdict must be viewed as an ominous exhibition of perverted sentiment and muddled morals. One juror is quoted as explaining that the jurymen did not believe the defendant intended to kill Gallagher. The explanation reveals that the jury ignored the instructions of the judge, ignored law, and ignored common justice. It is an explanation that does not explain. If the jury believed the defendant, they believed he killed one man while intending to kill or at least to injure another. The plea of self-defense was the most miserable excuse, for he did not wait to see whether the man he claimed had threatened him was at the door, much less that he was armed. A jury so easily convinced has something seriously defective in its thinking and its morals.

Taking the most favorable theory of their judgment, it is a sorry example of the disposition to forget the victims of violence and indulge maudlin leniency toward the offender. No wonder poor Mrs. Gallagher cried out against the verdict which set free the man who had killed her husband and left her alone with four fatherless children. That cry will be heard in every home in Chicago. We hope it will be remembered in every jury room where reckless violence is on trial.

Editorial of the Day

OVERLOOKED.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

The question of taxation continues to hold the attention of members of congress. Today we read that Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi predicts that the Democrats will favor increases in the higher brackets in order to catch the rich. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, on the other hand, adheres to the idea of a sales tax. Representative Hawley of Oregon prefers a long term bond issue to take care of the treasury deficit, and Representative Bacharach of New Jersey proposes taxes on luxuries, nuisances, and nonessentials.

But not one of them mentions the method advanced by Senator Bingham. That is, of course, the proposal to legalize beer. As the senator has pointed out, this method would provide a market for 100,000,000 bushels of grain and employment for at least 100,000 men and women. Furthermore, statisticians declare that if no more beer were consumed than in 1914 a moderate tax of $5 per barrel for light and $10 per barrel for heavy would yield a tremendous volume of revenue. The fifteen states which never voluntarily adopted prohibition alone would yield $235,968,400 in revenue, which would pay for the Hoover moratorium with millions to spare.

Surely Messrs. Harrison, Reed, Hawley, and Bacharach should not overlook such a rich source of revenue. They ought to get into touch with Senator Bingham at once and ask for particulars.

GORDON THORNE, the much married, to say nothing of much divorced, told the jury in Chicago that, while was was a pretty stiff drinker, he usually knew where he was, Deauville, or Paris, or England. That is, when he was drinking in France he could tell what city he was in, but over in England he could only name the country. That probably comes from mixing stout, ale, and Scotch whisky in England, which is quite a heady drink. Most Americans who drink this pleasing beverage don't even know they're in England; they usually think they're in Heaven, that being some Americans' idea of Heaven.

IF WE BOYCOTT JAPAN, oh gosh, gels, this is going to be tough. You'll have to give up drinking tea and wearing silk stockings. And Japanese kimonos. Oh, please, Mr. League of Nations, don't make us boycott Japan. We've got trouble enough as it is, and think of our land being filled with silk and kimono bootleggers. And, really, they're getting on our nerves so every time we see a bootlegger we want to scream.

SUMMER'S END.

Over and over the wind has broken the sheath
Of mystical beauty,—taken the last perfect hour—
Over and over, ruthlessly shattered beneath
Our hurt eyes, has lain the last flower.

The still beating heart of the old spring cries out to be fused
With autumn's breath, and summer sighs faintly to go
Into the potent stream the wind has loosed
Instead of slipping quietly under the snow.

So, too, my heart surrenders grudgingly
To time and circumstance that ride its crest,— Imploring Autumn to make it wild and free,—
Begging the wind to lift it to its breast.

AND NOW, students of the Schools of Journalism, your attention, please, to a small story on the front page of the Line's sprightly contemporary, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. We will show you that, unless you study your lessons hard, maybe you will be all wet when you come to write a story for a real news sheet, just as this reporter who wrote this story was. In relating why a policeman whose name was Zapotocki changed his name to Zapp the reporter said it was because whenever he went to the patrol box to make his hourly call and told the police operator at the station, "This is Zapotocki," the sergeant said, "Who?" and the policeman would answer "Z-a-p-o-t-o-c-k-i," spelling out his name like that. The first thing reporters should learn, children, is accuracy, and this being America and the year 1931 we know full well just what happened when the police operator asked the policeman, "Who?" Why, the policeman replied, "Zapotocki—Z fer zebry, A fer appuls, P fer popcorn, O fer opery, T fer wire haired terrier, O fer oshun, C fer Capone—you know, Al Capone—K fer Ku Klux Klan, and I fer ivory, solid ivory, like police operators have in their heads. Zapotocki, get it?" No wonder the policeman changed his name to Zapp—Z fer zebra, A fer appuls, P fer policeman, two P's fer two policemen.

WHITE PATCHES ON THE SKIN.

VITILIGO is one of the names given by physicians to a condition of the skin in which patches thereof lose their pigment, becoming white in color. The disorder goes by still other names, as one would expect, since at best it is a symptom or an effect and not a disease in itself; and since it has been noted all over the world and among all sorts of people.

The change in color is the only symptom, and no particular harm is done except as there are objectionable changes in personal appearance. So long as the white spots are limited to parts of the body which are usually covered by clothing there is generally no effort made to find either a cause or a remedy. When, however, the white spots are located on the face and especially when small areas of beard or head hair change color, the help wanted flag is run up.

The common advice given is to dye the white spots with the juice of walnut hulls until the shade of the affected skin is about that of the nearby areas. In nearly all cases the advice to follow this method is based on good common sense.

Dr. H. W. Francis of Bancroft, Neb., found himself with vitiligo in 1918. It was on his face and beard and it made him quite unhappy. He was thoroughly examined and nothing was found wrong except that he had no free acid in his stomach secretions. He had some abdominal symptoms, and these, with the absence of acid, caused him to begin taking dilute hydrochloric acid. He took 15 minims, well diluted, three times a day after meals. He began this in 1925, and by 1927 his vitiligo had disappeared—completely cured.

Since then Dr. Francis has seen three other cases of the same trouble. One was a professional friend with whom Dr. Francis was accustomed to compare spots, exchange experiences, and discuss possible treatments. This friend, witnessing the good results Dr. Francis was having, tried the same treatment on himself and with the same good results.

Since no one else has any cure to offer, and since this acid, properly used, is harmless, there is no reason why it should not be tried. Scores of people try it every day for other disorders. Why not take a chance and try it in cases of vitiligo?

Dr. Francis insists that the acid used must be of good quality and he adds that, in his experience, much of that offered for sale is not. It is possible to get muriatic acid in capsules now.

SHINGLES.

S. J. C. writes: What causes a disease called shingles and what is the remedy?

REPLY.

Shingles, called herpes, is a form of neuralgia. It is generally located along an intercostal nerve. It is caused by infection of a nerve root.

As a rule, shingles is left to get well of itself and it does. If the neuralgic pain is too great some salicylate is given for relief. Some simple ointment is used locally.

BICARBONATE OF SODA.

Mrs. T. H. writes: Is it harmful to take 10 grains of bicarbonate of soda three times a day?

REPLY.

It is unwise to take any drug habitually. This is true of soda addiction. However, 10 grains three times a day is not much of a dose. Some people get that amount in breads and vegetables cooked with soda.

WILL DO NO HARM.

1. Will Epsom salts be injurious as a means of reducing?
2. Will it aid in reducing?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.

WINES AND DIGESTION.

Mrs. S. M. writes: What harm and what good effects does drinking wine have? What effect on the blood?

REPLY.

It does no good and it may do harm. Drinking wine does not make blood. The claims that wine drinking promotes digestion and that certain wines help digest certain foods—such claims are pure bunk.

POLISH OR HUNGARIAN?

Chicago, Nov. 17.—[Friend of the People.]—If a girl is born in Hungary of Polish parents, is she Polish or Hungarian of Polish descent? E. D.

The nationality of the child depends upon the laws of the country where she was born. If the parents were citizens of Poland, it is possible that under the laws of Hungary the child is considered a Polish citizen although born in Hungary; or, possibly, under the laws of Hungary all persons born in that country are citizens.

CAN BE HELD LIABLE.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My lease expired Oct. 31, 1931, being for one year. A clause in it reads as follows: "That said lessee will give lessor written notice 60 days prior to the expiration of this lease, or any extension thereof, of his intention to vacate said premises or renew this lease, and a failure of said lessee to give such notice shall operate as a renewal of the tenancy for the further period of one year, at the option of lessor." The landlord gave me a new lease for another term, but I refused to sign it owing to the uncertainty of business. Can I be held liable for the same term as the expired lease? A. T.

Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

EXACT WORDING ESSENTIAL.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Would a note dated for thirty days after a new President of the United States is elected be called or classified as a negotiable instrument?

2. Was there ever a case of this sort in the courts? If so, could you please cite the case? D. S. L.

1. We could advise to better advantage if you had given us the exact wording you have in mind. If the wording should be such as to be dependent upon a continuance of our present form of government, then the theoretical possibility that the new President would never be elected would be such a condition as to render the instrument non-negotiable. On the other hand, if the wording were such that the event was certain to happen, then the instrument would be negotiable. An example of the latter type is an instrument payable on the maker's death.

2. There have been many cases involving principles of law similar to the principles that might be involved in your ambiguous statement.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 23, 1915.

CHICAGO.—The first explosion in the city civil service commission's investigation of the police slush fund scandal came yesterday when the commission ordered the suspension of Capt. P. D. O'Brien, chief of detectives. Chief of Police Healey immediately removed Capt. O'Brien and placed Lieut. Charles Larkin at the head of the bureau pending the outcome of the merit board's inquiry. The commission announced it had been conclusively proven that funds had been collected in the police department for the defense of Capt. John J. Halpin, former detective chief, and former Detective Sergt. Walter J. O'Brien, both of whom were indicted on graft charges.

CHICAGO.—Ald. Thomas J. Lynch became "The Friend of the Widow," for he "put one over" for the city's widows in the city council when he slipped through the council an order fixing Dec. 14 as "dependent widows' tag day." The widows are to do their own tagging and retain the money collected. Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe is to furnish the tags. It is estimated there are 32,700 regular widows in the city, to say nothing of the grass and college varieties. The order is up to the mayor.

LONDON.—A dispatch from Rotterdam says: "One of Germany's newest dreadnaughts struck a mine in the Baltic and went to the botton. All members of the crew were saved except thirty-three who were drowned."

LONDON. — London is confident that Greece will yield to the demands of the allies despite the fact that the Greek council which is sitting permanently, with chiefs of the military staffs participating, has given no answer to the demands. One Athens dispatch says the cabinet already has decided to comply.

CHICAGO.—THE TRIBUNE sent to Field Marshal von Schleyer of Austria-Hungary a check for $50,000, the money to be devoted to a fund for the alleviation of the suffering of blind and crippled soldiers of the Austrian army. The money represents 50 per cent of the net proceeds to date of the exhibition in America of German-Austrian war films taken by Edwin F. Weigle, TRIBUNE staff photographer. The arrangement for taking the pictures was made last May. The pictures were first shown in Chicago about Sept. 1.

CHICAGO.—The conflict between the authorities of the Roman Catholic church and Father J. J. Crowley was carried to the civil courts when application was made for an injunction to restrain the excommunicated priest from attending services in Holy Name cathedral. The injunction was asked in the name of the Rev. Michael J. Fitzsimmons and will be heard before Judge Tuley today.

CHICAGO.—Holdup men had another busy day. Among the victims were two young women who were beaten, choked and robbed. One of these was Maggie White, 2106 Dearborn street, and the other was Miss Eunice Miller, 2518 Wentworth avenue. One man who ran from a pair of highwaymen was stopped by a bullet in the leg.

CHICAGO.—William D. Lukens, 18 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lukens, 1150 Granville avenue, North Edgewater, and Miss Lydia Tiedebohl, also 18 years old, daughter of the auditor of the Conrad Seipp Brewing company, were married at Ottawa, Ill., despite parental objection. Lukens' mother unwittingly aided in the elopement by accompanying the bride elect to Ottawa to help her son celebrate his birthday. After the marriage became known forgiveness all around was granted and Mr. and Mrs. Lukens announced the gift of a house and lot to the young couple.

CHICAGO.—Frank Renz, a patient at the Dunning hospital for the insane, died as a result of severe injuries, including six broken ribs. Superintendent A. N. Lange of the hospital asked Coroner Traeger to hold an inquest over the body. Lange said he believed Renz received his injuries through struggling with attendants, as he was one of the most violent patients in the institution.

LONDON.—Count von Hatzfeldt, former German ambassador to Great Britain, died here at the age of 70. He had resigned his post with the consent of the German emperor a little over a week ago because of ill health.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Friends of Paddy Ryan declare that his fight with John L. Sullivan will come off at New Orleans on Feb. 7 next. In New York Ryan's backer, Richard K. Fox, declared that the fight will take place no matter how many stories to the contrary.

CHICAGO.—Sales of wheat on the Chicago board were heavily increased by "Old Hutch's" buying 400,000 bushels. The total sales of wheat were 1,570,000. "Hutch's" purchases had the effect of advancing the price of wheat three-fourths of a cent.

WASHINGTON.—Attorney Scoville concluded the opening speech for the defense in the trial of Guiteau. He recounted the history of the assassin and of his family with the idea of establishing Guiteau's insanity. The assassin acted with his usual insolence and impudence, made the usual number of interruptions and created the usual number of scenes.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, widow of our first martyred President, has been here for nearly two months for medical treatment by Dr. Lewis A. Sayre. It is said she has needed the means to secure proper attention and that the $3,000 pension granted her by congress is utterly inadequate to supply her wants. Cyrus W. Field has been applied to to take an interest in her case and he is exerting his influence to have a bill passed by congress to increase the amount of her pension. Dr. Sayre declared that Mrs. Lincoln is absolutely driven to ask aid from somebody.

THE SPECIAL SESSION.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—It is quite apparent that the primary purpose of the special call by Gov. Emmerson is to force across an income tax. He is playing politics for the benefit of the agricultural section at the expense of the cities, like Chicago, Peoria, Springfield, Rockford, etc. The gas tax was put across in the same manner.

The employes established on somebody's pay roll, where it can be readily determined what they make, will pay the freight.

This bill is to relieve the farmer, and who will determine what his income is if he doesn't care to say? Who will determine how much income the thousands of storekeepers and small merchants have when they probably don't keep any books to speak of? It will require an army to determine who has a taxable income if they are not down in black and white on some one's pay roll.

Why not unload a lot of the excess baggage now on the pay rolls of the state and city of Chicago as well? The pay roll of the state, I imagine, is rather topheavy with hard road workers. Have you ever seen a gang of these men all working at once and all doing a day's work? Neither have I. Just a few weeks ago I saw a gang, two of which were hauling gravel from a source about half a mile away while the rest of the gang waited for the load. READER.

FECUNDITY IN HIGHLAND PARK.

Highland Park, Ill., Nov. 18.—During the last week the children of the Lincoln school have been bringing in flowers and vegetables in bloom that ordinarily bloom in spring or summer. We have now nearly a complete collection of flowers.

Last week Betty Bowen contributed a pansy. Monday Elsie Dahl brought a rose. Yesterday Ruth McNeil brought in a snapdragon and also brought in our first vegetables, a young lettuce plant and an onion from the year's second crop. This morning [Nov. 18] Joan Wichman contributed sweet alyssum, mignonette, blue bells, Mexican fireweed, and a calendula. This afternoon I brought milfoil [a weed], phlox, a dandelion, stocks, petunias, lobelia, bridal wreath, garden peas with blossoms and some new pods, a beet with young leaves, and a muskmelon.

ENID BROOKS [Grade 7].

FOR A 1 PER CENT TAX.

River Forest, Ill., Nov. 19.—In all the welter of bills now before the state legislature there seems to be but one paramount object—how to find additional means and methods to soak the overburdened taxpayer another crack on the snoot.

One sane idea was advocated some time ago—rather feebly, it is true, but one that would clarify matters for the downtrodden property owner. That was the enactment of a law taxing real estate one per cent on the full value of the property. Perhaps such a law would do away with the time honored methods of tax fixing.

Where, O where can we find a champion for the one per cent real estate tax? The name and fame of such a man will go ringing down the ages.

C. O. A. KRAMER.

THE ART OF THE THEATER.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Many of your readers, no doubt, have seen the advertisements of theaters on billboards in various sections of the city, a great number of which are unfit for adults to look upon, let alone young children upon whom rests the fate and moral progress of the future generation. These bills of which I am particularly speaking are the advertisements of a certain burlesque show, many of which are found along Milwaukee avenue, portraying a woman almost reduced to nudity. Are we, especially the parents of good children, going to permit these impressions to be made on the minds of our young children? F. J. STRYSAK.

A HIGHER GAS BILL.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—I have been 18 years in the same apartment and my gas bill last month was nearly 3¢ higher than with the old gas. Besides, I have now an electric cooker to do all my baking, etc. The only thing I use gas for [no laundry] is making coffee and frying. All the satisfaction we got after a man was here to examine was the return of the bill with the statement it was correct. CONSUMER.

SAINTS AND SINNERS.

Evansville, Wis., Nov. 18.—I am surprised that you would permit such a cartoon as appears on the front page of THE TRIBUNE today. The absolute unfairness of the intended implication is so obvious that the cartoon loses in an aid to the drys rather than to the wets.

You wish by that picture to have the unsophisticated public believe that our government is criminal in its killing of bootleggers. Nothing said against the gangsters who are constantly killing government agents when they can. You well know that if every bootlegger in the United States were shot to death not an ounce of real patriotism nor morality would be lost in the killings. Not one good citizen would be missing.

On page three you describe the trial of a bootlegger-murderer. Any one can easily read between the lines your sympathy for the murderer and your lack of it for the government agent, who was loyally doing his duty. In another story, same page, an agent is described as a brutal individual because he protected himself against an underworld thug, who no doubt would shoot to kill if he saw a good chance to get away with it. You seem to think that the United States government should not interfere with bootleggers. And if they do, they should use parlor etiquette while making the arrest.

You do not seem to understand that the majority of United States citizens are in favor of law and order. And that we taxpayers demand that these scoundrels be handled in a way that will put the fear of God and the United States government in their minds and hearts [that is, if they have any]. They seem to us who read about their impudent lawlessness more like lower animals with instincts than like human beings with reason. G. KERR M'MACKEN,
Minister, Evansville M. E. Church.

THE PRICE OF GAS.

Lockport, Ill., Nov. 18.—In answer to "Customer" who wrote in your column today that in spite of the new form of measuring gas the companies are paying less per 1,000 cubic feet for the natural gas and charging more per 1,00 cubic feet than for artificial gas, I would point out to him that many of us believe that it was for no other purpose than this that a change was made in billing from the cubic foot basis [which is all, by the way, the only manner in which it is measured at the consumers' premises] to the therm basis. To raise the cubic foot rate of a cheaper gas would have been palpably unjust and would have caused a furore, but this manipulation of billing confuses the ordinary mortal and prevents him from understanding just what has been done.

That, because of its higher B. t. u. content, the natural gas might entitle the companies to a higher cubic foot rate [in spite of the contention that they get it for a lower] is a matter open to reasonable discussion, and I think the companies would have done better to adopt a straightforward policy about it instead of clever manipulation which in the long run will gain them only suspicion and organized opposition.

ANOTHER CUSTOMER.

AT THE BOX OFFICE.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—As an occasional patron of the legitimate theater, I have often wondered at the attitude of the box office employes. There is no reason apparent to me why employes of the various theaters should be discourteous to the public. The ticket salesmen in particular create more ill will during one sale than all their advertising can eradicate during the whole run. In my experience, the majority of the contacts made with these men have been regrettable. Instead of a pleasant request, the prospective patron is met with a frown and many times with a growl of "Well?" When tickets are not available or when an inquiry is made as to the location of seats the answer is a curt reply. The attitude seems to be that of granting a favor to the purchaser in making the sale.

...ER TO POSTAGE ...STAMP KINGDOM ...UNTS JOB HERE

...York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—...Johannes von Leichtenstein, heir to a kingdom sixty-five miles square, with 11,000 inhabitants and no internal troubles, sees America as the one country of genuine business opportunity, even in a time of economic depression. He finds a strange blend of the practical and romantic spirit here, but is not convinced that the hustling American gets more done than the leisurely European.

The prince is on his first visit to the United States and is at the Plaza with his Texan bride, formerly Miss Anne McFarland, daughter of an old Texas cattle baron of the Texas prairies. He seeks a new milieu and a job, preferably in public utilities, "because they are so sound."

Although belonging to one of the few remaining royal houses in Europe, Prince Johannes views the political future without alarm. His country is unique in its paternalistic government. The sovereign knows all his subjects personally, and listens to their petitions when they have grievances. It is much like being the owner of a large estate, the prince points out.

There is no crime, nor even a jail; no taxes and no prohibition.

Prince Johannes regrets the fall of kingdoms, for he fears that "people won't be any better governed in republics than in kingdoms." He thinks that the monarchy is a great safeguard against graft.

SAYS GUNSMITH RENTS WEAPONS FOR STICKUPS

James C. Douglas, 44 years old, a gunsmith of 4433 North Damen avenue, and Edward Cook, 33 years old, his assistant, were in the lineup at the police showup yesterday, having been arrested on Saturday by Lieut. Edward Birmingham, who searched his shop and confiscated fifty shotguns and four pistols.

"You've been renting those guns to stickup men at the rate of $2 an hour," Lieut. Birmingham accused the gunsmith. Douglas shook his head in dissent.

Among the confiscated weapons were one sawed off shotgun and one pistol with the serial numbers obliterated.

AN OPERATION ON HICCOUGHER BRINGS RELIEF

Mansfield, O., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—As a last resort, physicians here today operated upon Ira A. King, Mansfield's 48 year old garage owner, in an effort to stop his attack of hiccoughing, which has entered the fifteenth day. Dr. J. H. Nichols, Mansfield's leading surgeon, performed the operation.

It was learned that King's gall bladder had been removed. The operation was performed at 10:35 Sunday morning. Between that time and 10 p. m. Sunday night he had had but three slight hiccoughs, which, according to hospital attendants, "was a good sign, yet no assurance that the operation was a success."

Dr. R. R. Black, the family physician, said King's condition was "good" after the operation, but it was "too early to obtain definite results." Hospital attaches reported King's condition as "fair."

HUNT COUPLE AS YOUTH IS KILLED IN STREET ROW

A youth named "Charley" and a girl whom he called "Marge" were sought yesterday by police for the fatal slugging of Maurice Morrissey, 23 years old, 549 West 42d place, a clerk at the Board of Trade.

Morrissey was slugged following a street corner argument with the couple after they left a dance given by an athletic club in a hall at 3139 West 41st street. He died shortly afterward in St. Anthony's hospital of a fractured skull.

Mrs. Marie Zikuda, 2935 West 40th place, witnessed the fight in which Morrissey was slugged, at 40th place and Richmond street. It was she who gave police the first names of the couple. Police took twenty-two youths and two girls, who had been attending the dance, to the Brighton Park station for questioning, but released them after the group had satisfied them that they knew nothing of the fight.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Asserted failure to pay rent here last year has caused a suit to be filed in Los Angeles Municipal court against Mary Lewis, opera star, and her new husband, B. INQUIRY BARES GOTHAM GRAFT ON WIDE SCALE

Fat Bank Accounts of Officials Revealed.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—This city stands revealed as the richest grab bag in the world for corrupt politicians. After a year of scratching at the surface of its multitudinous civic rashes, the scanning of the tons of data and quizzing of 2,500 witnesses Samuel Seabury, gray-haired and benign investigator extraordinary, has succeeded in presenting a staggering picture of municipal graft and greed that makes the petty raiding of Boss Tweed and his henchmen appear amateurish. No city has ever approached the municipal corruptness of New York.

Mr. Seabury has shown that Tammany politicians exact a toll of millions of dollars annually from the citizenship and its official bureaus. Specifically he has shown that nine Democratic city leaders have amassed bank accounts totaling $10,000,000 in the last six years. He has brought to light the activities of the "tin box boys" and compelled them to tell their fairy stories of secret hoarding on the witness stand.

Many Revelations Made.

One sensation after another has been produced by Mr. Seabury. The evil practices of the Magistrates' court were bared. The investigator found a stool pigeon named Chile Mapocha Acuna who startled the entire country with his revelations of a police vice squad preying on innocent women. Bank data of the heads of the Tammany controlled city bureaus were sifted until they revealed such shameful conditions that suicides became frequent and other politicians helped to swell the population of the port of missing men.

Graft totaling thousands of dollars in the administration of the municipal relief fund and how the money went to aid Tammany's campaign activities were brought to light. Murders in political clubs that were nothing but gambling dives were revealed and their systems of protection behind icebox doors made public.

Still Mr. Seabury and his legislative investigators have hardly got beneath the surface. The corruptness of Tammany controlled New York City cannot be entirely told by figures. There are thousands of spots where the city's money is being drained and the investigators could spend a lifetime delving.

What Investigator Learns.

The following summary shows what Mr. Seabury has discovered about the bank deposits since 1925 of a limited number of city officials or Tammany leaders. These, for the most part, are the stars of the "tin box brigade."

George W. Olvany, former head of Tammany and head of law firm of Olvany, Elsner and Donnelly—Refused to explain because "it is against the law and fees are sacred matters." $5,282,032.

William F. Doyle, horse doctor whose fees for fixing up zoning matters were "split" with unknown persons. $2,000,000.

Peter J. Curran, undersheriff—"Made the money in his livery stable and undertaking business." $622,311.

Thomas M. Farley, owner of bottleshops "tin box." $360,000.

W. Bernard Vause, former Judge—Pier lease scandal fees split with persons unknown. $250,000.

Millions Paid in Tribute.

Mr. Seabury's investigation of the vice situation here as it concerned Magistrates' courts and the police scratched the surface sufficiently to reveal that women were paying several million dollars annually in tribute. The investigation specifically named the following:

	Amt. banked since 1925.
Vice investigation—
Former Assistant District Attorney "John C. Weston—Admitted receiving bribes	$ 50,000
Lieut. John W. Kenna—Speculated in real estate while in charge of tenderloin precinct	$37,000
Lieut. Peter J. Pfeiffer—"Sold real estate."	24,458
Patrolman James J. Quinlivan—"Won it on the ponies."	56,000
Patrolman Charles A. Wund—Uncommunicative	83,000
Patrolman James T. Brady—"A friend gave it to me."	40,000
Patrolman Robert E. Morris—"Uncle who died somewhere out west sent it to me."	50,000
Patrolman Harry Singer—Vanished.	47,379
Patrolman Andrew McLaughlin—"Made it on the market."	85,000
Patrolman William F. O'Connor—"Lucky at the race track."	50,000
Total of vice inquiry	$554,855

The results of the Seabury inquiry into Magistrates' courts shows that two magistrates were removed and that three others resigned under fire.

Policemen Sent to Prison.

Four policemen on the corrupt vice squad were sentenced to state prison. A fifth went to federal prison for failure to pay income taxes. Forty-three others underwent police department trials or were otherwise punished. Disbarment proceedings were brought against fifteen lawyers.

The original Seabury investigation began in September, 1930. The investigation became city-wide in 1931.

Since Mr. Seabury began his inquiry the cost to the city has been about $400,000 and all the bills are not yet in. This $400,000 is distinct from the $500,000 appropriated for the legislative inquiry, which must be paid by the state.

Smart SHOPPING

"How good is it?"
That's it!

ABOUT anything and everything they buy, smart shoppers like to ask one question—"How good is it?"

Chesterfield welcomes smokers who buy their cigarettes that way.

OUR tobacco buyers are smart shoppers, too. They "shop" for the ripest, mildest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows. And they won't take anything else.

"How good" are Chesterfields? Well, consider their blending.

Blended and cross-blended... not merely mixed together. Blended first by crops and countries . . . then cross-blended again and again...to produce a flavor and aroma that are Chesterfield's alone.

That's how we get that better taste . . . that's why Chesterfields are milder. Even the paper they're rolled in is the whitest, cleanest and purest that money can buy.

And the package . . . clean, bright, fresh-looking . . . see how easily it opens, yet how tightly it's sealed.

Milder? Right! Taste better? You bet they do! They're pure, too—and they certainly do satisfy!

Good . . . they've got to be good! There's value here. We know, because we put it in . . . and you'll smoke it out with every one you light.

"Sure I shop for cigarettes—Chesterfields satisfy me"

HARLAN MINERS GATHERING FOR MURDER TRIALS

First Case Scheduled to Open Today.

Mount Sterling, Ky., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A hundred or more miners from the strife-ridden coal fields of Harlan county came over the Cumberland mountains today and down into the peaceful bluegrass country to participate in a series of coal field murder trials.

Throughout the warm, sunny afternoon, many of them sprawled on the courthouse lawn. Tomorrow morning they will take their places inside the courthouse either as defendants or witnesses in trials growing out of a clash near Evarts last May 5 when four men were slain.

Only a few hours after the first of the Harlan murder trials—that of William Burnett—ended last night, attorneys for the state and the defense started bolstering their staffs for the long legal battles expected this week. Burnett was accused of having fatally shot Deputy Sheriff Jesse Pace near Evarts last April. His trial, considered by both sides as preliminary to the cases coming up Monday, lasted four days and resulted in acquittal.

Ten Defendants In One Case.

The more important of the trials set for this week are those of William Hightower, president of the local miners' union at Evarts; W. B. Jones, secretary of the same organization; Asa Cusick, former Evarts police chief, and Al Benson, former assistant police chief. They and seven others are charged with murder, having been indicted following the May 5 clash near Evarts.

Jim Daniel and Otto Lee, deputy sheriffs; Howard Jones, a commissary clerk riding with the officers, and Carl Richardson, a miner, were killed in the Evarts fight.

The other seven defendants are Otto Mills, Jim Reynols, Floyd Murphy, Bill Turpin, Charles Bradley, F. M. Bratcher and Bill Hudson. All except Mills and Reynolds are out on bond. Mills and Reynolds, both confined here, said their hopes of exoneration were heightened by the verdict in Burnett's trial.

Communism May Be Issue.

Attorneys for both sides agreed tonight that communism and the I. W. W. probably would figure prominently in this week's cases.

The cases will be called before Circuit Judge Henry R. Prewitt, veteran jurist of the bluegrass and mountain regions, who presided at the Burnett trial.

More than 125 witnesses have been summoned for one side or the other. The defense will be financed by the general defense committee and the United Mine Workers of America.

KILLED

MRS. FRANCES P. HANCK.

William Kaczmarek, 24 years old, 1801 West 19th street, shot and fatally wounded Mrs. Frances Hanck, 20 years old, yesterday and then killed himself. The shooting, in the apartment where the young woman lived with two sisters, at 1640 West 18th street, followed a lovers' quarrel, the police said. Mrs. Hanck died at the county hospital. She was married a year ago, and deserted within a week by her husband, the police were told.

BELCASTRO PUT ON DISPLAY AT POLICE SHOWUP

James Belcastro, who was once known as "king of the bombers," yesterday had to go through the regular police showup at the detective bureau. Today he will have to appear at the federal building to convince Murray W. Garsson, special assistant secretary of labor, that he is not an alien who was smuggled illegally into the United States.

Belcastro was arrested on Friday, as was Frank de Zan, 1443 Elburn avenue. De Zau was commanded to appear before Mr. Garsson for questioning tomorrow. Both men were allowed their freedom after the showup.

Several witnesses identified Lawrence Dagle, 3711 Broadway, as a robber. He has admitted having held up fourteen candy stores in the loop.

ALKA-SELTZER Tablets Make a Pleasant, Sparkling Anti-Acid Drink

Try— ALKA-SELTZER

These remarkable Effervescent Tablets make a sparkling alkaline drink that gives you two-fold relief. First—it relieves the pain and discomfort and—Second, it corrects excess acidity, the common cause of most of your everyday ills. Find out about this new and better way—this safe, harmless way to say "Good-Bye" to most of your everyday aches and pains.

Gives Amazing Relief

When you suffer with Headaches and Colds—Sour Stomach and Indigestion—Rheumatism and Neuralgia—when you feel tired-out, run-down, dull and depressed—the chances are that too much acid in your system is the real cause of the trouble. Scientists tell us that to keep healthy and vigorous our bodies must be slightly more alkaline than acid. Too much rich food, over-eating, overwork or over-indulgence usually produces an excess acid condition in your body. Then your resistance goes down—vitality is lowered and you become a victim of stomach disorders, headaches, colds and the many other everyday ills so common to us all. (2)

Now science has developed a remarkable Effervescent Alkaline Tablet that quickly corrects this excess acid condition. It's called ALKA-SELTZER, because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink that first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then corrects the cause (excess acid). There is nothing on the market like ALKA-SELTZER. It is a scientific product—harmless to take. There is nothing equal to it for giving prompt and effective relief for most of your common ailments.

An ALKA-SELTZER Tablet in a glass of water makes a sparkling, effervescent drink. It relieves pain—it corrects excess acid—it sweetens the stomach and it soon makes you feel your normal healthy self again.

Dingy, Yellow Teeth are NOT Natural

You'll see proof in 3 days
—teeth 3 shades whiter!

NOW don't be fooled into believing that yellow, ugly looking teeth are your bad luck simply because daily brushing doesn't make them white and keep them sound.

Dingy, off-color, unclean teeth are NOT natural! If you want proof start using this new scientific technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Overnight you'll agree you were wrong. And in 3 days your teeth will be much whiter—at least 3 shades whiter.

Double-Action, Double Results

There's nothing in the world that cleans teeth better than Kolynos. There's no preparation quite like it. It is unique. It contains two important ingredients. One—the finest cleansing agent known—literally foams over teeth and gums and into every crevice. It washes away debris, erases tartar and removes stain. At the same time the second ingredient strikes at the source of most tooth and gum troubles. It kills millions of germs that swarm into the mouth and cause discoloration, decay and gum diseases. (In tests Kolynos killed 190 million germs in 15 seconds, protected the mouth for 3 full hours.)

In this way Kolynos easily and quickly cleans teeth right down to the beautiful, natural white enamel without injury. It stimulates lazy gums and refreshes the entire mouth.

No! Dingy, yellow teeth are NOT natural. Prove it. Start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush, morning and night. In just 3 days you'll see that anyone can have clean, attractive teeth. Buy a tube of this highly concentrated dental cream today.

LAVISH SPENDING BOOSTS CANADA DEBT A BILLION

Fight to Get Government Out of Business.

BY STANLEY JACKSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 22.—Lavish expenditures by the Canadian government for unemployed relief and for its limited invasion of private enterprise in the business world here aroused agitation in financial and political circles for a drastic curbing of public expenditures.

For some weeks the Financial Post, leading weekly financial paper of Canada, has carried on a campaign to this end. This paper points out the increase taxes in Canada of late years and warns of the inevitable and unbridled spending by governments, like with individuals, leads.

"If," says the[illegible] any one wants to know why the burden of taxation has risen so sharply in Canada, why the dominion and the provinces find foreign money markets cool to their offerings, one has only to study the record of extravagant expenditure and reckless borrowing of practically all of our government units in recent years."

$60,000,000 for Jobless Aid.

The latest wave of spending has been on unemployment relief. It has just been estimated by Senator Robertson, minister of labor, who is in charge of jobless relief schemes, that the federal treasury is laying out $30,000,000 for projects to provide work for the unemployed. The provinces and the municipalities are providing proportionate shares, bringing the grand total to about $60,000,000 for this branch of public expenditure.

There is strong opposition in some quarters here to the St. Lawrence waterway scheme, which is now entering the treaty stage at Washington. These cities say the scheme is not actually needed by Canada at present.

$60,000,000 for Hudson Bay.

Feeling in this respect is tinged with recollection that the Hudson bay outlet at Port Churchill has just been completed at a cost to the treasury of $60,000,000. This represents an expansion to the navigation outlets of Canada which is available for only a few months out of the year, owing to ice formation during most of the months.

Another important element is the Canadian National railways. If Canada and its provinces had permitted the Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk railways, to go into receivership and be sold to the highest bidder a few years ago instead of making them a government owned and controlled railroad, critics of the government say, the dominion and the provinces would be paying out an annual amount of about $20,000,000 a year in interest charges on bonds they had guaranteed. This year they are costing the public three times that $20,000,000.

Nearly a billion dollars has been added to the public debts of this country in the last eight years. The official figures follow:

Dominion net debt	$2,433,800,000	$2,263,500,000
C. N. R. net debt to public	823,100,000	1,133,700,000
Province bonded debt	644,300,000	1,090,000,000
Municipal bonded debt	917,200,000	1,300,000,000
Totals	$4,838,300,000	$5,786,200,000

Some progress has been made by the opponents of government interference with business and unbridled government expenditure. The mammoth scheme of a pretentious railway terminal at Montreal for the C. N. R. has been called to a halt; luxuries have been cut out on certain trains; the wheat pools have been forced to cut down their activities, withdraw their representatives from overseas, and operate now along lines of private corporations.

GANGSTER SLAIN

FRANK BOCKHOLDT.

HOLD 3 WOUNDED SUSPECTS AFTER KILLING FOURTH

Three men, all with police records, were held yesterday in the Bridewell hospital as robbery suspects after they had been wounded and another man killed by police in an auto chase early yesterday.

The dead man was John Bockholdt, 32 years old, 1214 West 32d street. He had served a Bridewell term as an automobile thief. His companions, all of whom are expected to recover, were Harry Kremmyre, alias Le Roy, 42 years old, 1909 West Madison street, a paroled automobile thief; Anthony Green, 23 years old, who had served terms in the Pontiac reformatory for burglary and robbery; and John Wilson, alias Phillips, 33 years old, who had also served a Bridewell term for an automobile theft. Three revolvers were found in their car.

Sergt. John Bregiel and a squad from the Stockyards station attempted to stop the suspects' sedan while searching for suspects in a strongarm robbery. The sedan sped away.

The police pursued, firing, and the car was halted at 52d and Aberdeen streets after Gross, the driver, had been wounded, Bockholdt killed, and the others also wounded by shotgun and revolver fire. Police believe the car, a gray sedan, is the same used in a number of recent robberies in the Chicago Lawn district.

PRINCE OF WALES TO OPEN BURMA PARLEY FRIDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Burma round table conference, which will decide on the principles of the separation of Burma from India, will be inaugurated by the prince of Wales next Friday.

The chairman of the conference, Earl Peel, twice secretary of state for India, and 25 delegates, representative of all shades of Burmese opinion, will participate in the conference which will be on similar lines of the Indian conference.

While the principle of separation will be the basis of discussion, it is believed that an opportunity will be found to ascertain the views on the question of Burma remaining as part of a federated India. The meetings will be held at St. James' palace.

25 New Buildings Under Construction.

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The National Association of Building Owners and Managers report 18.3 per cent of the office space in forty-one of the principal cities of the country is vacant. This is only an increase of slightly more than 1 per cent over the office space available last May.

The October survey by the association covered 2,028 office buildings with a total rentable floor area of 177,879,232 square feet. Of this amount, 32,617,176 square feet are vacant.

25 Buildings Under Construction.

In addition to the present vacancy, 3,930,544 square feet of space are reported under construction in twenty-five new office buildings. This figure of new construction is only one-third of that reported in October, 1930, when 11,054,562 square feet of office space were under construction in sixty-five new buildings. In the face of general business conditions prevailing during the summer and in view of new space brought on the market, the increase in office vacancy was less than expected.

Murray E. Randall of Omaha, chairman of the committee on renting activities, states: "With our present vacancy of 32,617,176 square feet of space, it is evident that sufficient office space is available to take care of the needs of business expansion for at least two years.

Finds Situation Not So Bad.

"A new office building project under contemplation today should be given the closest study to make certain that it has a reasonable chance for successful operation. We do not feel that the reduced absorption of office space can continue for any long period of time, and average office building occupancy of 81.6 per cent shows a healthier condition than many other industries have experienced.

"The competition of new buildings during recent years has made it necessary for owners of existing structures to give serious thought to rehabilitation and modernization."

NEW AUSTRALIAN PARTY FIGHTS TO CRUSH RADICALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 22.—The new United Australian party, composed of the former strong Nationalist Country party, All-For-Australia league and four rural political groups of New South Wales, has announced important reforms in its national policy. It has been agreed, however, that the national and country parties would not entirely give up their separate identities.

Unification of the anti-extremist forces under the name of the United Australian party indicates that the activities of the composite groups, making up the new political organization, will be coördinated for united support in favor of the following reforms:

[a] The whole of the anti-extremist forces to participate in the federal election in May, 1932, as a united force.

Plan to Create Jobs.

[c] Abolition of the existing overlapping of industrial awards, state and commonwealth, by awarding the federal government the power to fix a basic wage and standard hours of work.

[d] To create employment and lower the cost of living and to insure a reduction in the cost of production and distribution.

Included among other reforms proposed by the United Australian party is the creation of a bureau of research and publicity for the collection of facts and figures relating to national economics in order to correct and contradict socialistic and communistic propaganda.

Though the subject of the abolition of all state parliament in favor of one central governing body for the whole of Australia was not discussed at the recent party conferences, political observers believe that the United Australian party will fight any proposal by the Australian Labor party to alter the federal constitution in deference to professed aim to abolish the six state parliaments and to give the federal parliament the right to alter the constitution at will.

Combat Radical Elements.

The agreement among the various political groups making up the United Australian party, according to political observers, spells the first real materialization of unified forces to combat the radical elements who are accused of undermining the more conservative aims of the strong Australian Labor government.

Both the United Australian party and the Labor party realize that the field of the political battle at the next elections will be in the state of New South Wales, a hotbed of radicalism, with Labor an communist element. NEW AUSTRALIAN PARTY FIGHTS TO CRUSH RADICALS

Anti-Extremist Forces Open Political War.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 22.—The United Australian party, comprising the former strong Nationalists, country party, All-For-Australia league and four rural political groups of New South Wales, has announced important reforms in its national policy. It has been agreed, however, that the national and country parties will not entirely give up their separate identities.

Formation of the anti-extremist forces under the name of the United Australian party indicates that the leaders of the composite groups, looking up to the new political organization, will be coördinated for unified action in favor of the following reforms:

[a] The whole of the anti-extremist forces to participate in the federal election in May, 1932, as a united party.

Plan to Create Jobs.

[c] Abolition of the existing overlapping of industrial awards, state and commonwealth, by awarding the federal government the power to fix basic wages and standard hours of work.

[d] To create employment and lower the cost of living and to promote a reduction in the cost of production and distribution.

Included among other reforms proposed by the United Australian party is the creation of a bureau of research and publicity for the collection of facts and figures relating to national economics in order to correct and controvert socialistic and communistic propaganda.

Though the subject of the abolition of the state parliament in favor of a central governing body for the whole of Australia was not discussed at the recent party conference, political observers believe that the new opposition party will fight any proposal by the Australian Labor party to alter the federal constitution in its present aim to abolish the six state governments and to give the federal government the right to alter the constitution at will.

Combat Radical Elements.

The agreement among the various political groups making up the United Australian party, according to political observers, spells the first real consolidation of unified forces to combat the radical elements which are accused of undermining the more conservative aims of the strong Australian Labor government.

Both the United Australian party and the Labor party realize that the result of the political battle at the next election will be in the state of New South Wales, a hotbed of radical left wing Labor and communist elements. The government of New South Wales is at present in the hands of the insurgent state Labor party under the leadership of Premier J. T. Lang. The organization broke away from the Australian Labor party last February. It is openly stated that Lang, it is openly stated that Lang, one of the strongest leaders in the entire Labor movement, will enter the arena of federal politics at the next general election.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—An arctic hero of 50 years ago lived over past glories today as he helped plan a new expedition which will go with radio, airplanes, and modern comforts where he met starvation and disaster.

Gen. A. W. Greely, leader of the ill-fated Greely arctic expedition of 1881-'84, was announced as chairman of the national committee sponsoring the American polar expedition of 1932-'34. Led by Capt. Flavel M. Williams, it will leave next June to spend two years at Fort Conger, Ellesmere island, northernmost land on the globe, where Greely and his men wintered fifty years ago.

Eighteen of Greely's 25 men starved or froze to death, because they could not notify civilization of their plight.

Gen. Greely, bearded, erect, still hale and hearty despite his 85 years, swapped yarns, offered advice, and listened with interest to plans for the new expedition when Capt. Williams and Dr. H. B. Maris, scientific director of the party, called on him.

CHICAGO SEAWAY SPURS BUSINESS IN NEW ORLEANS

Rush Work on Terminals for Opening.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The river front here is astir with developments stimulated mainly tho the prospects of the Illinois waterway being completed next fall or the following summer. Here Chicago freight, arriving by barge, will be transferred to ocean steamships for foreign consignment or to railroads for distribution through Louisiana and neighboring states.

Dock facilities are under construction and ship lines are adding to their fleets in anticipation of a substantial increase in the business of this port when it is connected with Chicago by navigable waters. The New Orleans association of commerce believes that the barge service will bring many new industries to the banks of the waterway, particularly in Chicago and New Orleans.

Railroads Build Docks.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroads are completing the first units of a $5,000,000 barge terminal, railroad yard, ship dock and warehouse. Five slips—docking facilities for forty ships—are to be built on the industrial canal which connects the Mississippi river and Lake Pontchartrain. Two are nearly finished. The railroad yards in the rear will have a storage capacity of 4,000 cars.

The Mississippi Valley Barge line, private competitor to the federal barge service, a couple of weeks ago advertised for bids for from ten to forty additional craft, which will double the freight capacity of the line. The federal service recently added sixteen new barges to its fleet.

The Southern Pacific railroad on Oct. 1, opened a $1,000,000 wharf. The company has purchased a site and is working on the specifications for an $8,000,000 waterfront produce terminal.

United Fruit Adds Ships.

Pending before the commerce commission is an application from the Missouri and Pacific and the Louisiana and Arkansas railroads for permission to build a $1,000,000 track terminal here.

The United Fruit company within the next year will add three ships to its New Orleans to South America line. The Standard Boccaro line has purchased four old destroyers and is equipping them with Diesel engines for service with Mexican ports.

The Overseas railway has ordered two more ships at a cost of $2,000,000 for its freight car ferry service between New Orleans and Havana.

ARGENTINA'S RICH FLEE PARIS WHEN GOLD PESO DROPS

Dash Home; Republic Bans Remittances.

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 22.—The average Argentine citizen's reaction to the "big slump" has not been a clearly defined one because its extent has not been properly realized except by those who have lost their jobs or have been so directly affected as to have its seriousness brought home.

In the first place, the heavy depreciation in the exchange value of Argentine currency has not affected the prices of foodstuffs and common household necessities to any alarming extent. Only when purchasing certain imported goods has the average Buenos Aires householder even partially understood the significance of a 50 per cent drop in the quotation of the gold peso.

Depreciation Eases Flight.

The spirit of the rural population gradually sank to zero with the catastrophic fall in the value of agricultural products, but a few even now realize that but for the big depreciation in exchange their plight might have been worse, since in terms of paper pesos their produce has brought more than otherwise.

One result of the disastrous exchange rate was to cause a homeward stampede of wealthy Argentines who make Paris their home, or their playground. It may safely be predicted that many of them will this year pass their summer in Argentine resorts and incidentally learn more about their own country than they knew before.

This exodus from Paris began when the gold peso fell to 52 cents in American money, but it became a rush when the Argentine government's exchange control commission refused to sanction remittances in foreign currencies except for legitimate business transactions. The Argentine colony in Paris has now been reduced to those nabobs whose investments in France and the United States enable them to get along without asking for remittances from home.

Wheat Rise Pops Business.

A spectacular change enveloped the scene in Argentina, however, with the sudden rise in the wheat markets. A general feeling of optimism became apparent in business and banking quarters. A large number of the white collared jobless has already been reinstated and a gradual absorption of the industrial unemployed is in the course of operation. Government securities began an upward movement.

The harvest's yield and its subsequent sale will be the determining factors as to whether Argentina will get back into its stride in one year, or whether a longer period will be necessary to restore normal business.

$2 DOWN — Balance Monthly on your Light Bill

We have purchased from the manufacturer a quantity of this discontinued model, No. R 803. Complete with Westminster Chimes and etched numeral dial, it is beautifully cased in Honduras mahogany, with lacquer finish. Size 8 inches high by 18 inches wide by 5½ inches deep. This exceptionally low price is offered only while our limited quantity lasts.

These genuine Revere clocks, motored by Telechron, are brand new and guaranteed. The manufacturer discontinued the model for different case styles, but the all-important mechanisms that assure dependable time and harmonious chimes are genuine, guaranteed Telechron and Revere movements. The case is authentic in design, and faithfully executed in fine case wood. Telechron is the original springless electric clock. It has a self-starting motor, and is as silent as the night before Christmas.

The chimes are Westminster—perhaps the most universally loved chimes. It is generally accepted that this carillon was conceived by Composer Randall from the fifth bar of the opening of Handel's Symphony: "I Know My Redeemer Liveth". Westminster Chimes were first fitted into the tower clock at University Church, St. Mary's the Great, Cambridge. They were later reproduced in the Victoria Tower of the House of Parliament, London. They are tuned to true pitch, and their sweet, resonant tone is delightful.

EDISON SERVICE extends beyond the electric outlet; it supplies guaranteed, tested merchandise of high quality at low cost. EDISON SERVICE includes the repairing of electric appliances, at a small cost, as well as many other services of value to its customers. 'Phone, call, or mail a post card for lamp bulbs to fill empty sockets. Free delivery. 60- and 100-watt bulbs are exchanged for your burned out bulbs without charge. EVIDENTLY H. G. Wells' "Ou line of History" and "The Sc ence of Life," an outline of bi ogy, were two-thirds of a trilo long planned by that author to s ry the entire record of human life all of h phases, f he tells that "T Work Wealt and Hap ness o Mankin another t volume ou line — th time e economics is "a thi portion the ne educatio He hope that th three book may serve until a better outline is replaced by fuller and more luc versions of what they have to te their usefulness will cease," he says.

In a word, the three books—large volumes—well may serve some time as a picture of man in lation to life, a picture which ordinary man can find not only unde standable, but exciting. The last the trilogy is written with the sam clarity, the same brilliance, the sam exciting interest for the reader th "The Outline of History" has. Wi his amazing skill in combining a m inclous concern about every concei able phase of the economic situatio that is, with every phase of mankin today "active, working, spendin making, and destroying" with brevi and succinctness, Mr. Wells has wr ten another book which is bound capture the fancy of the public. economists it may be only a popul statement of essentials, plus a discu sion of phases which are more wide human than merely scientific, but the general reading public it well ma be the introduction to constructi thought about their own place in t scheme of the world.

Mr. Wells is not a prophet—though some of his memorable fictio had the essence of prophesy in it and he is concerned not with the f ture, but with the past and the pre ent. His pictures the past vivid and its relation to the present wi such succinct accuracy as to open t eyes of any reader to the changes the last 100 years, which have been swift, so nationally and internationa upsetting and upbuilding.

The age of machinery becomes living active character in "The Wor Wealth, and Happiness of Mankind The reader amazedly finds himse realizing that life in the weste world, the details of his own da life which he accepts with the sam habitual lack of thought that he a cepts his power to walk, are to startling degree the product of le than a hundred years. Most of t means of locomotion, the way he r ceives his food [as well as, in ma cases, the actual food itself] the habi of his household, his dress, his ente tainment, his sicknesses and his r prolonged life are all the result man's discoveries and their applic tions during the last 100 years. M Wells never makes that statemen but as the evidence accumulates paragraph after paragraph of the most nine hundred pages, the read overwhelmingly realizes its truth.

In sixteen chapters Mr. Wells e plains the object of the book, h man became an economic animal, h he learned to think and gain a me tery over forces and matter, how d tance has been conquered, how ma kind is fed and clothed and house how goods are bought and sold, ho work is organized, the traditional a tagonism between the rich and t poor,

Then he discusses the governmen of mankind and their economic a military warfare, the population the world, what man does with overflow of energy in leisure, and t education of mankind. A vast canv he has chosen for his portrait of m and that canvas he has filled with brilliantly painted background as w as a foreground convincingly draw "The Work, Wealth and Happine of Mankind" is a long book, but strangely short one when you get reading it. To me it was fascinati reading, just as was "The Outli of History." In its conception Wells shows in the last volume his monumental trilogy a brilliant ordination of existing but undo mented knowledge, for much of material for these volumes—as he plains in his first chapter—has yet becomes either history or scien For instance, there is an excell chapter on the gold standard and explanation of England's position the matter which is still history the making, not yet history record

Wells Writes Man's Work, Riches, Delights

Wells in Human Fight to Present Status.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Work, Wealth, and Happiness of Mankind," by H. G. Wells. [Double-day, Doran.] Published today.

RECENTLY H. G. Wells' "Outline of History" and "The Science of Life," an outline of biology, were two-thirds of a trilogy projected by that author to survey the entire record of human life in all of its phases, for he tells us that "The Work, Wealth, and Happiness of Mankind," another two volume outline — this time of economics — is "a third portion of the new education." He hopes that the three books "serve until a better outline replaces them." As soon as they can be replaced by fuller and more lucid studies of what they have to tell, their usefulness will cease," he says.

H. G. WELLS.

It is a wish, that the three books—six big volumes—will may serve for a time as a picture of man in relation to life, a picture which the subject may can find not only understandable, but exciting. The last of the trilogy is written with the same clarity, the same brilliance, the same pointed interest for the reader that the "Outline of History" has. With unfailing skill in combining a mass of material about every conceivable phase of the economic situation, and with every phase of mankind as an "active, working, spending, getting and destroying" with brevity and lucidness, Mr. Wells has written another book which is bound to capture the fancy of the public. To consider it may be only a popular manual of essentials, plus a discussion of phases which are more widely known than merely scientific, but to general reading public it well may be an introduction to constructive thought about their own place in the scheme of the world.

H. Wells is not a prophet—although some of his memorable fiction has the eminence of prophesy in it—he is concerned not with the future but with the past and the present. He pictures the past vividly, and in relation to the present with as much accuracy as to open the eyes of many readers to the changes of the last 20 years, which have been so swift, continually and internationally upsetting and upbuilding.

The use of machinery becomes a big active character in "The Work, Wealth, and Happiness of Mankind." The author amazedly finds himself feeling that life in the western world, the details of his own daily life in which he accepts with the same blind lack of thought that he accepts his power to walk, are to a startling degree the product of less than a hundred years. Most of the means of locomotion, the way he reaches his food [as well as, in many cases, the actual food itself] the habits of his household, his dress, his entertainment, his sicknesses and his remedies—all these are the result of scientific discoveries and their application during the last 100 years. Mr. Wells never makes that statement, but as the evidence accumulates in page after paragraph of the almost two hundred pages, the reader unhesitatingly realizes its truth.

In sixteen chapters Mr. Wells explains the oldest of the book, how man became an economic animal, how he learned to think and gain a mastery over time and matter, how disease has been conquered, how man's food and clothed and housed, how goods are bought and sold, how money is organized, the traditional antagonism between the rich and the poor.

Then he discusses the governments of mankind and their economic and military warfare, the population of the world, what man does with his surplus of energy in leisure, and the future of mankind. A vast canvas has been chosen for his portrait of man, and the canvas he has filled with a carefully painted background as well as a foreground convincingly drawn. "The Work, Wealth and Happiness of Mankind" is a long book, but a terribly short one when you get to reading it. To me it was fascinating reading, just as was "The Outline of History." In its conception Mr. Wells shows in the last volume of his fundamental trilogy a brilliant co-ordination of existing but undocumented knowledge, for much of the material for these volumes—as he explains in his first chapter—has not appeared either history or science. Nevertheless, there is an excellent chapter on the gold standard and an interpretation of England's position on a matter which is still history in the making, not yet history recorded.

Good morning!

"The Gay Diplomat" is a moderately amusing movie, quite keenly directed, and having for a hero that slim, suave, dark gentleman of the fascinating accent, Mr. Ivan Lebedeff.

This chap is, of course, the "gay diplomat," and, as in "The Boudoir Diplomat," the idea is that he shall best promote the interests of his country by, as we say, getting on the good side of certain ladies.

So Capt. Orloff, a Russian officer recovered from a wound received in the world war, is sent to Bucharest to discover who is the astute feminine spy weaving webs and catching flies in the Rumanian capital. Here are many beautiful women, one of whom is a traitress. Capt. Orloff shall love much—and learn much.

He does. It is not surprising that he loses his heart in the shuffle to the lovely Countess Dorchy.

The countess, naturally, can't understand her lover's attentions to other women—particularly the lureful Baroness Corri. The course of true love proves a jolty road until, well, just until . .

Mr. Lebedeff comports his solgne self with ease and is far from hard to look at. Genevieve Tobin is rather sweet as the countess and Betty Compton is likewise as that other blond, the duchess. Arthur Carewe as "The Suave Man" may be that, but if he is I don't know my dictionary.

"The Gay Diplomat" will, I imagine, get a hand from you.

"EXPENSIVE WOMEN."

KIND: The kind they shouldn't bother making.

QUALITY: Shoddy.

ACTING: Dolores Costello, looking beautiful upon her return to the screen from domestic seclusion, acts as if her thoughts were in the nursery. Other members of the cast struggle valiantly to make goal, but, handicapped by the stupidest of lines and situations, fail to do so.

STORY: Impossible bunk about a lady dilettante who would have love at no matter what cost, and the cost is plenty.

DIRECTION: Punk. But lay that to the story.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SETS, ETC.: All right.

SOUND: Not so good.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: None for this audience of one.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams.

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

While high cards are as gold in the hands of bridge players, but nevertheless there are times when the one possible salvation for a hand is the immediate shedding of these same high cards which but a moment before had appeared so attractive. In yesterday's play-a-problem the hands were:

NORTH
♠—None
♦—K,Q,4
♣—Q,7,3,2

WEST
♥—5,4
♦—J,10,8,6,2

EAST
♥—K,6
♦—9,7,5,3

♥—Q,9,2
♣—A,K,J,10,9,8

South opened with a bid of two clubs. South held seven probable tricks, with more than sufficient high card tricks for the bid. West passed. North for a moment was undecided between the club raise and the heart take-out. While the major suit is usually shown in spite of good trump support for a minor, game seemed pretty sure to North at clubs. Nevertheless, he knew that if he bid his partner must rebid, which meant that the bidding would stay open, giving North a second chance to show his hand. He, therefore, bid two hearts, deciding to show the club support on the next round. East passed. South jumped the bid to four hearts. West again passed and now North bid five clubs.

After East's pass South stopped to consider the possibility of a slam. He knew that North must have at least four clubs or three clubs to the queen. This meant that the club suit was solid. South had no losers in diamonds. He further figured that North must have the ♥ A (since he could not have held the K-Q) and at least one high card trick on the side to account for his strong bidding. And in addition to this side trick there was great probability of his being short in a side suit. South, therefore, pictured North as having either the ♠ A and short diamonds or the K-Q of diamonds and short spades. In either event, the small slam looked assured, though a large slam was questionable unless North held both the ♥ A and K. South, therefore, bid six clubs and all passed.

West opened the ♠ 10. Dummy trumped with the ♣ 2, East played the 6, and South the 3. Dummy then led the ♦ 4, which South took with the A. And now South proceeded to throw away his bag of gold—the ♠ K and Q. He led the ♠ K and trumped it with the ♣ 3 in dummy. He then led back the ♦ K from his dummy and discarded the ♥ 2 from his own hand. Dummy next led the ♦ Q and he discarded the ♥ 9. To the next trick dummy led the ♥ A, the queen dropping from the closed hand. The ♥ J was led next and trumped by South in his own hand with the ♣ 8. South then led the ♠ Q, which he trumped in dummy with the ♣ Q. Leading back the ♣ 7 from his dummy, South has but to take in his remaining five good clubs to make his bid and an extra trick.

The time is growing close—very close, indeed. Have you arranged your table for the Golden Card tournament? These are the days of bargains. For your $2 you receive a full $2 worth of satisfaction in giving this money to the school children and to the unemployed and at the same time you will receive more than $2 worth of pleasure in the greatest of all card tournaments.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card, cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S, 3, H, K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Urge $200,000 Cut in Cost of a High School

Bogan and Architect Work Out New Plans.

Construction costs of future senior high school buildings will be reduced by at least $200,000 each if the recommendations of Supt. William J. Bogan and Architect John Christensen are accepted by the school board. The economies would be effected through a better utilization of space and the elimination of numerous frills.

Specifically the recommendations suggest the elimination of the corrective gymnasium, the conservatory, the electric shop and the auto shop; a reduction in the width of the central foyer from 45 to 15 feet; reduction in the pupil capacity; a corresponding reduction in the size of the kitchen; reduction in the seating capacity of the auditorium from 1,200 to 800, and reduction in the size of lockers and locker room space.

The present average cost of a standard senior high school designed to accommodate 1,800 pupils is about $1,700,000, according to Mr. Christensen. With the changes suggested it is estimated that the capacity could be maintained at a saving of $203,000.

Consideration was also given to further possible economies, such as substitution of metal shower partitions for the present marble, cement border and base in the corridors instead of terrazzo, cement instead of tile and terrazzo floors, glazed tile instead of glazed brick in gymnasiums and locker rooms, and elimination of some of the ornamentation from the exterior of the buildings.

"The senior high school buildings constructed from this plan should prove reasonably efficient from an educational standpoint," said Supt. Bogan, following a conference with Mr. Christensen, "and reasonably durable from a construction standpoint. The construction cost should show a marked decrease both from the per pupil and the per cubic foot standpoints."

There are at present only two high schools under contemplation, the William Howard Taft school at Bryn Mawr and Natoma avenues and a school as yet unnamed at 108th street and Avenue H. Plans for both are being redrawn by the architect, according to the new recommendations.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

OPERA first nights are magnificent social affairs, no doubt, and Theater Guild premieres are impressive in their intellectual way; but I am willing to trade my share of them for last night's opening of Billy Bryant's show boat company at the Studebaker. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was the bill, and ten children of Old Man River were the cast. What a play! What a troupe! What a performance! A piece of authentic American folklore came to life, with all its artless imperfections on its head, and the Randolph Street Anthropological society, out in full force, greeted it with gleeful cheers and happy hisses.

We have seen of late several revivals of the melodramas of the Chester A. Arthur and Grover Cleveland periods, staged with art-y efforts at parody, with self-conscious gestures of burlesque. They were mildly amusing, but nothing to die laughing over, because in their hearts they were merely modern fakes. But Billy Bryant and his coterie of "hams" from the hamlets of the Ohio-Mississippi shores are the real thing. They have been doing this sort of thing for a generation, and their acquaintance with city folk is comparatively recent. They are the good companions of the landing places from Pomeroy, O., to Natchez, Miss.—gypsies of the inland waterways whose tradition runs back for more than a century.

True, they didn't bring their boat with them, but after they had made a fair start into this seventy-three year old bowler the lack of their proper environment didn't seem to matter. They took their audience on a voyage back into the quaint past of the American stage. They created an illusion of shabby old towns slumbering under the shadow of river bluffs, of bucolic villagers eager for a few dry crusts from the banquet of the drama of which they had heard glamorous tales; of vagrant show folk drifting downstream in an ancient Thespian ark ready to give any kind of a show at any kind of a landing place.

They know that they are bad actors, but they do not try to be any worse than God made them. Their honest efforts at tragedy are amusing enough to cause urban populations to regard them as priceless comedians; therefore they remain their natural selves. There is in the performance, of course, some exaggeration of the tricks and attitudes of old school melodramatic acting, since that has become the company's stock in trade, but the mummers are happily immune to any Greenwich Village tendencies toward smart aleck burlesque. They are themselves—and in their naïve, ingenuous way they are memorable.

The melodrama, which deals with the horrors of rum drinking in a manner more persuasive than modern prohibition propaganda, to the constant accompaniment of "Hearts and Flowers," is broken up with bits of ballad singing. Some of the songs are masterpieces of bathos, such as "She Is More to Be Pitied than Censured"; others are intentionally comic, such as "The Bird on Nellie's Hat." Every number is as good for laughing purposes as a Beatrice Lillie song in the "Little Show."

Between the acts there was a speech for the occasion by Billy Bryant that every wisecracker in the audience regarded as a treasure worth preserving; and a massmeeting of the showboat customers back stage, to partake of beer and sandwiches as guests of the management. Altogether, this was a first night worth remembering.

Opera Stars' Salaries Not to Be Lowered, Company Official Says

No salary reductions are in prospect for the Chicago Civic Opera company at the present time, Herbert M. Johnston, business manager, announced yesterday.

Interest in the Civic Opera's present finances was aroused by the announcement in New York Saturday that Giulio Gatti-Casazza, director of the Metropolitan Opera company, had voluntarily accepted a 10 per cent salary reduction, with a majority of the artists and executive staff following suit, due to the depression.

Golden Card Tourney Gets More Support

Rules Simple for Contest to Help Poor.

One bridge player's entry fee to the Chicagoland Golden Card tournament of Dec. 3 will feed a hungry school child a substantial lunch every day for more than two weeks. From one merely medium size party there will be enough entry fees to keep a poor family beyond the reach of want for a month.

Relief funds need money. There are undoubtedly thousands upon thousands of bridge players in Chicagoland who have not yet given or who would like to give more for the reduction of suffering this winter. This is the opportunity. Now is the time to seize it.

This tournament is designed to give the players the joy of contest and the glow that comes with the knowledge of a good deed done. All the recipts of the tournament, other than the actual cost of cards and printing, go to the $8,800,000 joint emergency relief fund and the Hungry School Children fund. All expense is assumed by THE TRIBUNE.

Indorsements, offers of coöperation, and orders for cards have been coming in steadily since the announcement of the contest was made about three weeks ago. The joint emergency relief fund has placed its official approval on it. Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, chairman of the women's division of the fund, has urged all clubs affiliated with that division to hold their Golden Card tournaments and has promised them credit toward the honor list for so doing.

Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's clubs, has similarly recommended that women's clubs "respond with enthusiasm."

"This," she said, "is a fine thing and we who know the conditions should do our utmost to make this tournament earn many thousands of dollars for relief."

All over Chicago the clubs have responded. Individuals have sent in their contributions in card orders from Rockford, from Peoria and from Ottawa, as well as from practically all the close in suburbs. All sections of the city are represented.

Twenty large hotels are going to have parties in their cardrooms on Dec. 3. Several of them are going to add refreshments and entertainment for their guests. Each is handling the details of ordering the cards and collecting for them. Some of them are engaging expert players to act as supervisors of play.

The Chicago Association of Commerce is to hold a party in its headquarters. The Auction Bridge Club of Chicago, haunt of experts, is enthusiastically behind the project. A number of business organizations have already sent in their orders and many others are only waiting to learn how many players they will have.

All this support means that those who are in touch with relief need, and with the bridge players of Chicagoland recognize the first and know the capacity of the second to do a good job when they see it before them. The thing to do now is to send in that order for cards. The price is $2 a pack.

As for the play, there need be no more misunderstanding about that. Charles True Adams, bridge expert of THE TRIBUNE, will discuss the rules frequently via W-G-N before the contest date. At 3:15 on Dec. 3 he will be on the air to explain them. Play begins at 3:30 and Mr. Adams will talk again during the evening.

In brief, the rules are:

1. Play will be in four deals, with a pre-arranged pack for each deal.

2. Cards are distributed by the four players in turn, each acting as dealer for one hand.

3. Bidding and play is conducted in the usual manner. Either contract or auction may be played.

4. Scores are to be placed on the official score blank which accompanies each set of four packs of cards.

5. Total score for the four deals determines whether East-West or North-South teams at each table wins. The winning team takes the Golden Cards, special packs emblematic of victory.

6. Scores should be mailed to the Golden Card editor of THE TRIBUNE, who will invite players whose scores most nearly represent perfect play to a final tournament on Dec. 15. Trophies will be awarded the winning team in the final.

Cooking School Reopens Today at Coliseum

Seats for 14,000 Pupils Are Provided.

Substantial as a fried chicken dinner, restful as a platter of hors d'oeuvres, THE TRIBUNE school of cookery goes into its final phases today and tomorrow at the Coliseum. When the lights wink out in the vast hall at the farewell session tomorrow night, the feminine portion of Chicago's population will have received plenty for which to be grateful on the impending holiday.

There's bound to be especial rejoicing, of course, in those homes to which chance sends the grand prizes to be distributed on the final night—the electric refrigerator, vacuum sweeper, electric mixing machine, toaster, iron and percolator, as well as one hundred bags of assorted groceries and baskets of foodstuffs.

But even those who aren't lucky enough to carry away any of these valuable mementoes, will have had their share of good things. They will have received instructions in the grand old art of cooking from a past master of the vocation. They will have collected pamphlets of her best recipes, intentionally reserved for the closing days of the "term." And they will have enjoyed entertainment by stars of the music, theatrical, radio and dance world, for which ordinarily they would pay high prices at the box office.

This afternoon, for example, Richard Harrison, who plays "de Lawd" in "The Green Pastures," is to be introduced to the folks. Quin Ryan, announcer and manager of W-G-N, will make a personal appearance with a group of his juvenile artists. Tom, Dick, and Harry, otherwise Fred and Bud Vandover, and Harlin Hurt, will put their heads together before the mike and croon.

Then there's two of the stellar attractions of Earl Carroll's "Vanities," comedian Chaz Chase and dancer Vivian Fay, who will help to keep the crowd happy and the entertainment snappy. And Maxine Lewis of the Winter Garden and the Music Corporation of America, the singing comédienne, to say nothing of Chicago's own Carl Craven, who will lead community singing.

Thousands of women eager to hear the lectures of Mrs. Chitwood, whose reputation is national in scope and who conducts the sessions in coöperation with Miss Mary Meade, home economics editor of THE TRIBUNE, had to be turned away from previous schools because of lack of room. It is especially for these disappointed ones, north, south, and west, that arrangements were made to utilize such a central location as the Coliseum, at 1513 South Wabash avenue, for the grand finale of the "term."

Seats have been ordered for 14,000 persons, and officials of the school of cookery announce—though with trepidation in view of previous experience—that not a single individual, it is hoped, will have to be turned away.

THE TRIBUNE pledges itself to deliver all cards ordered now well in advance of the date of the tournament. A coupon for entrants' convenience is printed on this page.

Husbands will be welcome as well as wives.

Tonight will mark the first evening session of the four weeks. Appropriately enough, Paul Whiteman, premier orchestra leader, is scheduled to lead off with the entertainment, in person. His only predecessor will be Frank Bennett, whose baton will lead the throng in community singing as the program opens.

Later in the evening the Mundy choristers will crowd the stage to sing the spirituals of their race, under the direction of Prof. James A. Mundy. There are sixty-five members of this group. Jack Fulton of the Whiteman orchestra at the Edgewater Beach hotel and the King's Romancers will sing. The Ethel and Gertrude Morgan school of dancing will present some novelties, and Verna Burke, usually heard over the Columbia broadcasting system, will vocalize some "blues." Cathryn Bennett will be at the piano.

A unique feature of the closing days will be an entire dining room, designed and arranged by Marshall Field & Co., for a modern Thanksgiving dinner, on exhibit at the Coliseum. The tones of the room are chartreuse and burgundy, a novel combination, and copies of a Sheraton dining set will be used.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Lady, can I sell you a famous old beauty potion, this a. m.? It's guaranteed to put a bit of the old rose tint back into the cheek. To put a bit of the old, girlish pep back into the body. To fire you with a new enthusiasm. To dispose of those signs and dejected looking mouth corners.

To give it a modern stamp, let's change its old name to fresh air cocktails. Prohibitionists or no, here IS a cocktail that'll set you up, right and proper! The more you take, the gayer you'll feel. In fact, we'll guarantee you the life of the party rôle if you will only imbibe sufficiently and often enough.

We offer as further advantage that it calms down those jumpy nerves of yours. It makes that depressing worry of yours look less than half its present size. And it will expedite your work. Also, it will spare you the awkwardness of bleary eyes, runny nose, and hacking cough, which isn't becoming to your party dress nor the occasion of its wearing.

All that you've got to put into the cocktail is clean, clear oxygen—all your lungs can hold comfortably. Drink it down in large, hungry doses ten times a day, twenty, or take it in hour walk ogles, any kind of outdoor exercise orgy.

We haven't done right by this air beauty formula for some time back. We've been snubbing it for high sounding lotions done up in fancy containers. But for the kind of beauty that matters in current critical circles you've got to have that look of being airwashed, inside as well as out.

And if you don't get your air supply these coolish days, you're never going to get it. Honestly, I could go into a lot of technical details about the daily airwash, what it does to the circulation; what it does to the diaphragm, what it does to clarify the brain, and eye and skin. But you know all that. All you need is a reminder that today's the day to throw wide the windows and let the tonic pour in. Or, better still, go out to meet it garbed in comfortable shoes and dress. Walk with it three miles, drinking down its rejuvenating elixir. And tomorrow and tomorrow, let the same fresh air appetite be your guide.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

P. C.: IT IS NOT WELL TO ELIMinate all fats, starches, and sugars from the diet, since these are energy and heat producing foods. Reduce them to a minimum, however, where there is an excess of oiliness in the skin. Eat plenty of green vegetables and cooked and raw fruits.

E. H.: FOR A SKIN THAT IS INclined to dryness, use tepid water—not hot. Use a soap that leaves your skin feeling soft and smooth. If the skin feels drawn after a soap and water cleansing, use a lubricating oil. Always protect the face with a foundation cream under your makeup.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER.

Mere man usually must bow to Dame Nature. But there are times when science surpasses nature's efforts to make this a colorful world. Four witnesses to this are captivating the interest of spectators at the annual chrysanthemum flower show at Garfield park conservatory. The witnesses are plants which contain floral grafts of 55 to 60 different kinds on each plant, and all of the kinds in bloom.

Credit for the development of the "mum" show is being given by the public to the west parks commission, in general, and to August Koch, chief florist, in particular. When he was asked the process of the grafts on the four plants he answered it was not so much of a job as it was in knowing how to do the work.

"The plants were kept cut close until the latter part of June," said Mr. Koch. "Then the varieties were grafted on to the plants in a simple graft. From then on the plants were kept in a 'cheese cloth house,' which keeps the interior moist while the plants are being forced.

"It's simply a matter of playing a trick on nature. The only point on which one must use precaution is to select only those kinds for grafting that will have the same flowering period."

Since the annual chrysanthemum shows were started a score of years ago, the Garfield park conservatory has developed its collection until it has over 7,000 choice plants. There are more than 675 different kinds or varieties, some of which are discarded each year to make room for newly developed hybrids.

Some of the blooms have a crest more than a dozen inches across, although when the orient began with the plant centuries ago the flower was miniature in size. The show is to remain open until Nov. 29, the public being admitted free each day between the hours of 8 a. m. and 10 p. m.

Doris Explains One Overlooked Angle of the Eternal Triangle

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She is a young woman in the early thirties, in love with a married man around 50. She tells: "Throughout the years he has craved love, affection and the niceties of a home which he has never had in marriage because his wife has not advanced educationally, etc. She has been satisfied to have him pull her along, cater to her every need. She has the mind of a child.

"Realizing that nothing can be done, he has 'appeared to be satisfied' throughout the years, but never has been. At times the situation becomes unbearable because the wife nags and lets the housework go, yet her husband treats her as wonderfully as he always has, supplying her every need, etc. Neither of us wants to be selfish and has not been, yet we crave that which does not seem possible and are happy only when we are together. What would be your solution to this problem?—PUZZLED."

Let's grant that the wife is all you say! She hasn't advanced educationally. She hasn't provided the home niceties, etc. The man is around 50. So, we judge the wife is around the same age. Anyway, she has been married to him a very long time and she had him in the years before you came upon the scene.

All right. You came into the man's life when you were in your early twenties. You had the advantage of youth on your side then. You had the advantage of education in your years. Now, in these intervening ten years the man has seen you and been entertained by you away from all the complexities of his home. You've seen him on parade always. And in such a light, your charms, too, have been revealed.

But did you ever stop to inquire if a man, married we'll say, fifteen or twenty years, is the same "inspiring" man to his wife as he is to the younger woman? Is he the same thoughtful, considerate, uncomplaining beau to his legal frau that he is to this outside woman? Did he work in the game offer any persuasion, or sympathetic coöperation, in attempting to raise the educational standard of his wife? Or, didn't he like her to she was until you came upon the scene along about middle age?

Another angle girls like you overlook is the complete freedom you enjoy from all those irritating financial wrangles, nerve or temper explosions or grouches that wives often have to put up with. There is a wife's side to these situations. If you honestly don't want to be selfish—think that over!

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Ex-Soldier Needs Help.

"I am an ex-soldier with one leg amputated at the knee which makes it hard for me to get work. I have four sons, 6, 11, 12, and 16 years old who are in need of clothing which I can't buy. I need a suit, size 36 or 38, and my wife needs a winter coat, size 36 or 38. I will be thankful for anything you can do for us. A. C."

The winter will be a hard one for this family unless we can offer a little assistance. The garments which you are discarding would help them immensely.

The Bride's Boat

By Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken

SYNOPSIS.

[illegible] Lenoure's twenty-sixth birthday. She'd worked four years as receptionist [illegible] family hotel and she felt herself in a groove. When an East African guest [illegible] a seat in the Grand Africa hotel, Soydoret, Kenya, she gladly accepts. There [illegible] time and Kit wanted him more than anything else in the world. They've been in [illegible] love, but the engagement was broken because of his mother. Kit sails on the "Bride's [illegible] Boat. Jess North is her cabin mate. Jess is going out to be married. Kit meets Lal [illegible], the biggest landowner about Soydoret and a most attractive bachelor.

INSTALLMENT VII.

THE MAN IN THE MOON.

"Well, my dear Miss Lenoure, I hear that you've met the Man in the Moon."

It was a smart and up-to-date young woman who spoke, with an amused look in her impudent eyes. She was the wife of a major in the king's [illegible] stationed in Nairobi. She had been very friendly to Kit from [illegible] she stopped by her chair as she was going down to get ready [illegible].

"Who is that?" asked the girl, astonished.

"Col. Crowhurst, of course! The colonel said you were admiring the [illegible] with him this morning. Be careful, my dear! A dangerous creature [illegible] the Moon!"

It gave a rather resentful laugh. She wished that chance meeting had [illegible] short. Particularly as Jess North was sitting beside her and looked [illegible] interested. Why had she been so stupid and not mentioned it?

"Why do you call Mr. Crowhurst that?" she asked quietly.

"Everybody does. I don't really know. How do people get nicknames? And the women on board will be jealous of you. He hasn't shown up at

[illegible] his own suite, pretended to be frightfully busy, only honored [illegible] by a visit on the bridge. Did you fall for him at once—like [illegible]?

"I don't like it a bit. Jess' golden eyes were lighted lamps of curiosity. "[illegible] Mr. Crowhurst quite by accident," she said. "I haven't the [illegible] who he is."

That night Jess came into the cabin long after Kit had gone to bed.

"Kit, I've found out all about this Mr. Crowhurst—the one they call [illegible] the Moon, Kit! His sounds quite too thrilling. A multi-millionaire, [illegible] and decidedly one of the boys! Been mixed up in all sorts of [illegible]. I got it all out of Dr. Cardew, who lives on one of his estates. [illegible] magnificent houses, and thousands of natives working for him, [illegible] it all for pleasure! And sometimes he goes back to Europe [illegible] come out for a year or more! This is his first visit for eighteen [illegible]. You must make up to him, my dear! And you must introduce [illegible] simply dying to know him. Was he nice to you? D'you think [illegible] to meet you again?"

"I haven't the slightest idea, Jess," answered Kit, none too pleased at [illegible] out of her first good sleep. "I only spoke to Mr. Crowhurst [illegible]. As a matter of fact, we recognized each other, because [illegible] to my handbag when I dropped it on the train. I didn't know [illegible] heard. I went up on that deck because it was so stuffy down [illegible] couldn't stand it. It's nothing to make a fuss about. This ship [illegible] is as full of gossip as the old hotel!"

"Well, of course you must follow it up when you get the chance! [illegible] to be the most interesting man in Africa."

The next morning Kit came back into the cabin after her breakfast [illegible] writing things. She meant to devote some hours to letters. [illegible] was in the bathroom. She never got up until 10 o'clock, and her [illegible] the best part of two hours.

There was a knock at the door. It was the stewardess with a letter [illegible].

"Col. Crowhurst's valet has just given me this for you, mademoiselle," [illegible], and Kit caught a look of interest in her steady, seagoing eyes [illegible] away.

The girl opened the envelope and read the following in a very clear, [illegible] hand:

"Dear Miss Lenoure: Will you give me the pleasure of lunching [illegible] me and a few friends at one-thirty today?

I shall very much hope to see you; my suite is E, saloon deck.

I would very much like to be of any service to you that I can [illegible] your first visit to Africa.

Please don't trouble to answer, but do come.

Yours sincerely,

L. H. CROWHURST.

Jess, reading this surprising invitation for the second time when [illegible] out of the bathroom in a négligé of her favorite brilliant rose red. [illegible] fell on the letter at once. Nothing much escaped them.

She had a quick impulse to hide the missive, but realised at once that [illegible] was not only useless but idiotic.

She had an extraordinary sensation at once of revolt and of helplessness. [illegible] Crowhurst exactly as he had come towards her from his cabin [illegible] morning before the sun rose, with his quizzical smile and the [illegible] in his eyes that made her uncomfortable—the look that was both a chal- [illegible] a caress.

The entrance of Jess made Kit feel foolish. What was there extraordi- [illegible] in an invitation to lunch from a fellow passenger? Life on board [illegible] was always free and easy. And was she a blushing school girl to be [illegible] uncomfortable by a man's look? Mr. Crowhurst no doubt looked at [illegible] like that. He evidently had the reputation of a lady killer.

"Is there a mail?" drawled Jess. "But how silly I am! How could [illegible] We haven't stopped anywhere." She looked innocently at the letter. [illegible] told her what it was; then handed it over. The last thing she [illegible] was to make a secret of it. If she accepted Jess must know, as they [illegible] the same table, and she had not made up her mind whether she was [illegible] to accept it or not.

"Oh, what a thrill!" Jess exclaimed. "You've certainly made a hit. [illegible], you must go! I wish he'd asked me. Aren't you excited?"

"I haven't made up my mind. It is very kind of Mr. Crowhurst. He [illegible] has asked other people. I can't think why he has asked me."

"I expect he wants an odd young woman," opined Jess with a pat of her [illegible]. "One without a mother who'd probably object to her knowing [illegible]. You'd be mad not to accept. And you know you mean to!" she [illegible], with a delicate scratch.

"Yes, of course I do, really," laughed Kit. "Out of curiosity, if nothing [illegible]. And it is kind of Mr. Crowhurst, isn't it? I told him I was going out [illegible] to have a job in Soydoret. Mr. Craig in London said I should find every- [illegible] more hospitable than I could imagine. And it's evidently true."

"Yes, it must be a frightfully democratic country," said Jess languidly. [illegible] the man was preposterous, inviting a hotel clerk who was a perfect [illegible] to him to lunch, probably with some important people. But it [illegible] to him any the less interesting. She was inwardly enraged that [illegible] had happened to drop her bag on the train instead of Kit Lenoure. [illegible] much more capable of dealing with such a situation. "Well, [illegible] look forward to hearing all about it!" she added purringly as Kit [illegible] her writing things and went out.

Is Dangerous to Stunt Your Child's Life in a Channel

LADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Walking along to a young friend, [illegible] other evening after dinner, I [illegible] in a description of one of the [illegible] these words: "He was one [illegible] happiest of created things, [illegible] hiring for his work and not [illegible] working for his living."

As my voice and eyes followed [illegible] story, my thoughts traveled an- [illegible]. How many of the boys [illegible] this book, I thought, will [illegible] themselves when they're grown [illegible] of these happiest of created [illegible] man living for his work [illegible] just working for his living?"

[illegible] about your sons and daugh- [illegible]. Do you think they're headed [illegible]? Are you giving them every [illegible] to find out what they want to [illegible]? Are you waiting for some talent, [illegible] that, for some leaning to [illegible]? Are you open to the [illegible] manual work or a craft [illegible] appeal to them—something that [illegible] involve greasy overalls, or paint- [illegible] hands, or hip boots?

[illegible] you planning their future [illegible]? Are you insisting that [illegible] boy, who gloats over the innards [illegible], have an office job? Are you [illegible] forced, since your family has al- [illegible] earned its living actually by [illegible] sweat of its brows, that your [illegible] shall have white collar jobs? [illegible] you satisfying your own ambi- [illegible] by choosing your daughter's future? Are you holding up the idea that Bessie is going to college when the mere thought of it fills Bessie with gloom—or even panic? Are you determined that the proud professional ancestors of your son shall not lower their flag and have a farmer in the family? Are you fighting to keep your son on the soil when his sole interests are intellectual when the competition and life of the city are the elixir of life to him?

Don't make such a terrible mistake. Give your children opportunities to know what they want to do. Help them, if you can. But regardless of appearances, or money, or pride, let them earn their living at the work they are by nature best fitted for.

Incidentally, the book quoted at the beginning of the column is a splendid sea story for boys of from 13 to 15, or older, well written and full of quite humor. It is the "The Voyage of the Martin Connor," by Oswald Kendall, published by Houghton, Mifflin. The price is $2.00.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Little Tommy (very late for the evening meal): "O, mother, don't scold me, for I've had such a great disappointment. A horse fell down in the street and they said they were going to send for a horse doctor. Of course, I had to stay, and after I waited and waited he came, and, mother—what do you think?—it was only a man!"

Arizona Offers Winter Lures for Chicagoans

It looks as if Phoenix would be as popular with Chicago winter travelers seeking sunshine and warm weather this season as it was last. For last year one saw Chicagoans galore at the Arizona-Biltmore, the Westward Ho, Jokake, the Country Club, and other Phoenix hotels and clubs.

Several Chicagoans have houses in Phoenix's fashionable country district, Arcadia, and already some of them are open for the season.

The William Wrigleys' new mansion, atop a high hill near the Biltmore, is occupied by the owners, who have as guests their granddaughter, Miss Betty Offield, daughter of the James R. Offields, who plan to go to Phoenix later in the winter, and her friend, Miss Ann Elizabeth Walsh. Mr. and Mrs. Burridge D. Butler, who spend the summers at their country place near Hinsdale, will go to their Phoenix residence about Dec. 1. The Butlers' house there is a lovely one, part way up Camelback mountain, with a gorgeous view of the surrounding desert and mountains.

More Chicagoans Who Enjoy Phoenix During the Winter.

A little lower on the mountain side is the residence of another Chicagoan, Jarvis Hunt, who already is occupying his house for the winter. His son, Jarvis Jr., is with him now, but his daughter, Louise, is in the east and will not go west until a bit later, perhaps after Jarvis Jr. returns to Chicago Dec. 1.

The Walter H. Baldwins of Highland Park went out to their Phoenix place, also in Arcadia, the middle of October. The Farley Hopkinses are living in the country outside Phoenix this winter, and recently had a visit from Mr. Hopkins' father and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins of 3530 State parkway. The senior Hopkins had their car and chauffeur meet them in Phoenix and they did quite a bit of motoring in the southwest.

An addition to the Biltmore which no doubt will be welcomed by the winter guests is a swimming pool with surrounding cabanas, and a patio where swimmers may loll in the sun. Our correspondent writes that the patio is a lovely place with flowers and plants, and furnished with modernistic silver furniture, upholstered in green, brick red, and black.

New stables have been built, and a new arena, too, for the weekly rodeos which are held all during the season and in which the guests exhibit their equestrian skill. One of the youngest rodeo enthusiasts last year was young Stanton Armour, son of the Lester Armours, who has spent several winters in Phoenix, and who in spite of his youth [he is only 9 now], is quite an expert horseman.

Stanton is in Chicago now, but he may go to Phoenix later. Mrs. Edward H. Hagey, then Elinor Whiting, also was one of the regular performers in the rodeos during the months she spent at the Biltmore last winter. Little Eddie Shumway, son of the Edward De Witt Shumways of Lake Forest, was a bit too small to ride in the rodeos, but he did take part in the foot races and some of the stunts that were a feature of each rodeo.

Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson is opening her residence at 209 Lake Shore drive this afternoon at 4 o'clock for the second of a series of three lectures by Miss Jeanne de Mare. The subject today will be "The Relationship Between the Living and the Dead."

Add to the ever growing list of affairs for the entertainment of the younger members of the pretty world the tea-dances to be given on Saturdays during December at Vassar house, which is conducted for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Betty Frey is chairman of the committee running the dances and her co-workers are Elinor Durbin, Jane Rowe, Catherine Noyes, and Lillian Dudley. Miss Rowe and Miss Dudley are Smith college girls, but evidently they are broad-minded enough to help their Vassar sisters in their good work. The first dance will be on Dec. 5 and the girls promise the "most marvelous music imaginable."

The women interested in the Boys' Shelter club have decided to make a "dollar drive" instead of giving their annual entertainment to benefit this club for underprivileged boys. Requests have been received in the mail asking for the contribution of $1, checks to be sent to Mrs. Charles F. Pietsch, the Plaza hotel, treasurer. Mrs. Edwin Sears Noble is president of the board, the other officers of which are: First vice president, Mrs. Frederick D. Montgomery; second vice president, Mrs. Alvin C. McCord; third vice president, Mrs. Marian K. Wood, recording secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Reed, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank H. Conner.

Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Miss Lucy Driscoll, and Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr. will act as hostesses at the lecture and luncheon to be given on Wednesday, Dec. 2, by the American Friends of China in the small lecture hall of the Field museum. The lecture will be given at 12 o'clock by Chih Meng, associate director of the China Institute in America, and after luncheon the jade collection of the museum, one of the greatest in existence, will be shown.

Members of the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago and their guests will have the opportunity tomorrow night of seeing M. Frank Leger's "Le Ballet Mechanique" when that film is shown in the Ida Noyes hall, starting at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Martin Schutze is president of the society, some of whose active members are Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. John A. Carpenter, and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Chicago, through its municipal officials, business associations, and other agencies is planning an elaborate and warm welcome for the thousands of people who will arrive this week to attend the International Live Stock exposition, opening next Saturday and continuing to Dec. 5.

Mayor Cermak has designated Saturday as "Chicago day" at this greatest agricultural show in the world, and has asked the police department and other agencies to extend every courtesy to the incoming crowd.

Plans which were made to coördinate the efforts of merchants and civic as well as social agencies to assist in preparations for the event were completed at a meeting recently in the Palmer house have been carried to completion. This was announced yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Every railroad, bus, and interurban line coming into Chicago has advertised the event, according to Chicago traffic agents. In addition, the lowest rates ever made for such an event, half fare each way, have been announced as an added attraction.

The elevated and surface line officials, hotels, and restaurants and loop merchants also reported in a survey made this week that they were making special preparations to handle the crowds. Efforts are being made by the Chicago and Cook county federations of women's clubs and by garden clubs to urge Chicagoans to attend the show with their children as a valuable educational experience.

"The stock show always brings in the most substantial out of town people of the year to Chicago," declared G. R. Schaeffer, advertising manager of Marshall Field & Co., who has been arranging with loop stores for special window displays, radio and newspaper advertising of the event.

"Every State street store has reported some special attractions during the week of the show," he said. "Not only are the people who come at this time the pick of rural areas, but many city people, local merchants and bankers avail themselves of the rates and the opportunity to see the show, to come here for holiday shopping.

Paul Whiteman Gets Big Hand for This Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

If AMERICAN composers only realized it, they have the chance to have their music played in a way beyond their fondest hopes. All that is needed is to write something that can be accepted by Paul Whiteman.

He appeared at the Studebaker yesterday with an orchestra of some thirty-five brilliant experts, the first time in several years that he has come before the public with so large an organization. During the interval he has changed his opinion about its makeup. He uses a much larger string section, which adds flexibility and variety to the playing. Otherwise the former excellence prevails. The crowd that wanted to hear him was several hundred larger than could be accommodated.

It is too bad that words cannot describe the kind of tone that this highly specialized orchestra produces. Mr. Whiteman's woodwinds are the best you are likely to hear anywhere; his brasses, especially his trumpets, are almost beyond belief in range and color. A piano, a celeste, and a banjo add their tones; there are percussions of all sorts. The combined tone is ravishing.

As he adds to his orchestra, his composers go in for suites and symphonic poems as well as transcriptions of complex nature. There should be more composers and more efforts at developing compositions for this group. Just at present it would seem that the composers who write with the Whiteman hand in mind get the best results when they are in the mood of gayety. There were several new pieces on yesterday's program. One of them, Ferde Grofe's "Five Pictures of the Grand Canyon," was by far the best in the picture called "On the Trail." George Gershwin's "An American in Paris," not entirely new, but little known hereabouts, came closest to realizing what the Whiteman orchestra ought to be doing.

But it was exhilarating just to hear the players. There were other new pieces: Mr. Grofe's "Knute Rockne, a Musical Tribute," which developed into a lively delineation of a football game, and David W. Guion's "Shingandi," a ballet founded upon African themes, with a lot of rhythmic stir in it, if somewhat exotic in character. Both composers were present and apparently delighted with the performance. There were shorter pieces and arrangements in plenty. Altogether it was a stirring program, and one hopes for more of the same.

Naoum Blinder, a violinist of marked ability, gave a recital at the Civic theater yesterday afternoon. He played with a fine, full tone, produced by a first rate bowing arm, covering ground in his program that ran all the way from Bach and Tartini of old to Szymanowski and Bloch of the moderns. He is a technician of excellent development, also a musician with a keen sense of proportion, and a fine idea of how to put vitality into the music he is playing.

Victor Chenkin, the Russian baritone-diseur, gave another recital of his characteristic singing and acting at the Playhouse. As before, his appearances were divided into groups of jester songs, and Italian, Gypsy, Hebrew, and Ukrainian works. His voice is effective, his use of makeup and gestures more so.

Food Talk.

When we think of lamb we are too likely to stop when we've considered the possibilities of lamb chops and roast leg of lamb. Now and then some of us grill a lamb steak, which is quite inexpensive, but not very many of us know a great deal about the cheaper cuts of lamb.

To begin with, there's the shoulder. Meaty chops and savory roasts can be cut from this part of the lamb. As the bone structure is heavy in this section, have the butcher remove the blade from the roast and cut the other bones.

The breast may be roasted, or it is fine for stews.

The neck is particularly rich in meat extractives, which give it flavor. It may be used for stews, and in addition it makes delicious patties, ground and circled with bacon or fat pork. For company you might like to have your butcher make rather large patties, about twice the size of the usual ones, grill them, and serve them topped with small individual moulds of mint jelly.

From the shoulder, breast, and shank pieces of any desired size may be cut and rolled for roasting. These boneless roasts are economical in that they are not only from the less expensive cuts of meat but are without waste.

Today we have on our menu roasted lamb shank. The shank is the fore-leg of the animal. The bone is small and the meat is streaked with enough fat to make it tender and juicy. Shank of young lamb is a cut small enough to be served as an individual portion. The cost of it is in keeping with our present day ideas of thrift. Lamb seems to me to be an especially good meat for this time of year because the vegetables and fruits that are seasonable now seem to combine so well with it. Cabbage, that admirable vegetable that is obtainable anywhere and within the reach of all as to price, has the sort of pronounced flavor that goes with a mild flavored meat. Apples, cooked, raw, or in salad, are as acceptable with lamb as they are with pork. And since many of the cuts of lamb are baked, it is a good plan to include on the menu such vegetables as can also be baked, thereby saving gas. Squash is such a one, or eggplant, potatoes, or carrots.

Whatever you do with lamb, don't cook it too long. Overcooking dries the meat and takes out the juices that characterize meat from young animals. Fifteen to 18 minutes is enough for any cut of lamb, depending on the heat of the oven and the size of the cut.

Lettuce.
French dressing.
Paprika.

Drain the pineapple. Blend with the grated carrots and enough dressing to make the mixture easily molded. Shape into mounds and dust with paprika. Serve in lettuce cups.

ROASTED LAMB SHANKS.

Brush the shanks with melted butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and place them on a rack in a roasting pan. Sear them 15 minutes in a hot oven [450 F.] then lower the flame to moderate oven [350 F.] and roast till tender.

Satin and Lace Most Becoming to Matrons

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—This winter of satin for day and evening is a frank blessing for the older woman. And the use of real lace to trim satin seems an extra flattering attention from fickle fashion. No flip young bit of a woman can ever hope to be as beautiful in a lace trimmed satin evening gown as a gray haired lady with the poise of years upon her.

Either for the afternoon ensemble or that of the evening, almost any color may be chosen, but Paris suggests you make it something else besides black. The new tropical brown, if you must take a dark shade, is lovely with white hair, and so is navy blue. In the light shades there are the exquisite old ivory, pearl gray, and tint violet, a trio of tones that are perfect for the woman no longer young.

The dress is simple in cut, with a modest neckline, bordered in front by a lace ruffle that ends in a draped jabot drawn around to the right hip, where it joins the draped girdle of satin across the back. The wide back shoulder straps are good details, and the skirt with its set-in circular panels which rise in front to make an uneven hemline is flattering to dignity. The satin coat is full length, straight in line, lined with white broadcloth, and its split sleeves and hem are bordered with sable.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Blackhawks, irritated a bit by two 1 to 1 deadlocks in their two previous appearances on the Chicago ice, last night cruelly routed Montreal Maroons the goats of a hockey embodying the idea of giving fans something to justify their admission. The net of the game was a pleasing 4 to 2 licking to subdued the bruising visitors from Canada.

In last night's outburst the Hawks scored as many runs as their total in all of their previous games and in a span of 15 seconds in the first period they scored both goals to tie their previous total for the home season. And after those two goals were tallied half way through the opening period, the Chicago boys waited a few scant minutes before accomplishing their third goal for the period. Their fourth and final goal was tallied after nearly six minutes of the second period.

Hawks Go on Road.

The Hawks, undefeated after four games, will be on the road this week, facing the New York Rangers tomorrow night and the Boston Bruins Thanksgiving night. They will entertain the Rangers here next Sunday night.

It was apparent from the first face-off that the Hawks weren't willing to play another 1 to 1 tie. From the start they showed concentration on the work, as well as speed, a contrast with more or less unorganized displays in their two previous engagements at the Stadium.

Gottselig and Ripley did a few cagey plays in the early maneuvers just to warm up the customers, then, with Siebert brought up to just the right pitch through gradual development, the forward line of March, Romnes and Adams glided on the ice and demonstrated what practice can do in the matter of teamwork.

One Was Phoney.

Romnes sped down the ice with the speed and tricky puck passing Adams passed to Cook and Cook passed to March and March shot the disc right past Goalie Smith. The time was 10:17.

The double pass and goal pleased the visiting guests so well that the Hawks decided to do it over again immediately. And the decision wasn't all. The next flash was practically a duplicate of their first successful onslaught. Fifty-three seconds after the Romnes goal they had another one home. This time Adams to Cook to March. Referee after the Hawks' second goal the red light was flashed to indicate that Cook had sent home a counter, but after a debate the referee ruled the goal umpire had been a bit cockeyed and issued a cancellation order.

Maroons Score One.

The Chicagoans had set three goals as their quota for the period, so when Lowrey got the puck near the Hawk goal and after an inspiring dash down the right boards Jerry Ripley let an angle shot which had Goalie Smith completely dazzled. He couldn't believe a chunk of rubber could have passed him until it became necessary for him to dig the puck out of the net.

After five minutes of play in the second period Westworth got the puck when he wanted it. He passed the disc to Gottselig with exceeding accuracy and Johnny just plain scraped it across the ice to Smith's shins, then tucked it in goal No. 4.

The Maroons perked up a bit after the second period was half finished and made things rather lively for a time. They became so persistent, in fact, that Trottier, with the assistance of Robinson and Bridson, was forced to get the rubber past Chuck to make the score 4 to 1.

The third period was fast and exciting although neither team got anywhere to any scoring until Hooley Smith took a pass from Stewart and tucked the Maroons' second marker away.

WILDCATS EAGER TO GO WEST IF BIG TEN AGREES

Conference Called On to Waive Rule.

A football game between Northwestern university, prospective champion of the Western conference, and the University of Southern California, Pacific coast conference champion and conqueror of Notre Dame, with charity sharing in the proceeds entered the realm of probability last night.

The only obstacles standing in the way of such an encounter with the national collegiate football championship at stake are Northwestern's game with Purdue at Soldiers' field next Saturday—itself a charity contest—and the Big Ten's rule against postseason games.

Neither obstacle appears to be insurmountable. Northwestern, on the season's records of the two teams, is the favorite to win the Big Ten title by defeating Purdue, and, because of the principles involved, it is considered likely that the faculty committee of the Western conference could be prevailed upon to waive its arbitrary rule and to permit Northwestern to play one more game.

Growing Sentiment for Game.

Sentiment in favor of Northwestern's making the trip to the Pacific coast to play the Trojans in the annual Tournament of the Roses game at Pasadena on New Year's day has been growing in exact proportion to the Wildcats' string of victories. Alumni of Big Ten universities who are living on the coast have been active for weeks trying to persuade the faculty committee to waive its rule, and the Trojans' 14-14 victory over Notre Dame on Saturday was the signal for a general public demand for the game, removing as it did Northwestern's last middle western contender for national championship honors. Northwestern previously had tied Notre Dame, 0 to 0, at Soldiers' field.

Immediately after the Notre Dame-Southern California game a charity game between the Trojans and the Wildcats in Chicago next Saturday was proposed. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which last year initiated the movement for charity football games, at once investigated the possibilities, but found that because of the limited time for making arrangements for such a game the obstacles in its way could not be overcome.

Big Ten Schedule Interferes.

Northwestern already had been scheduled to play Purdue in the Big Ten's charity program of games and, Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western conference, pointed out that the game could not be canceled without leaving Purdue out of the charity program or completely rearranging it. Tickets for the three games of next Saturday and for the four-team tournament at Stagg field on Thanksgiving day already have been printed, precluding any possibility of re-scheduling the teams.

The suggestion that Southern California remain in Chicago for a game with the Purple was made to officials of the Trojan team, but they could not accept the proposal because of two regularly scheduled games with Washington on Dec. 5 and Georgia on Dec. 12. A return to Chicago for a charity game later would be inadvisable because of probable weather conditions and the interference with the Trojans' preparations for the Rose bowl game.

Only Chance for Game.

The only chance for a game between the two teams, therefore, lies in their meeting at Pasadena on Jan. 1. Southern California is desirous of playing Northwestern and as it has the right to invite an opponent to the coast for the game, the Wildcats will be selected provided they beat Purdue next Saturday and then obtain conference permission to make the trip.

The faculty committee of the Big Ten will meet here on Dec. 4 and request for that permission will be laid before it at that time. Northwestern officials have declared they will take no action until after the Purdue game.

Northwestern, however, is willing and anxious to make the trip to the coast if it clinches the Big Ten title, and, while the Big Ten has adhered strictly to its rule against postseason coast games ever since its adoption in 1921, it is hinted that the strength of the Northwestern team might be a factor in breaking down the opposition. The rule was adopted after a supposedly strong Ohio State team had made a disastrous journey to Pasadena on Jan. 1, 1921, and had fallen before California, 28 to 0.

Chance for Revenge.

The overwhelming defeat, which reflected little credit on middle western football, was not the least factor in the adoption of the rule. Northwestern, with a fair chance of avenging that defeat, might obtain permission to go west.

If the team does go to Pasadena, it is understood that Northwestern would be willing to turn over at least a part of its share of the proceeds to charity. The gate receipts of the game are divided equally among the two contending football teams and the Tournament of Roses committee. Each team's share, it is estimated, will be in the vicinity of $75,000.

K. L. Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern, has pointed out that the university's athletic fund is about $50,000 below normal because of its gift to charity made from the proceeds of the game with Notre Dame, but it is not unlikely that at least a part of the Purple's revenue from a coast game would go to charity.

MUSH MARCH.

Mt. Carmel Wins Catholic Crown, 12-7

Mount Carmel High school, absent from championship games since 1927, when it won the Chicago Catholic High School league football title with one of the greatest teams in its history, regained the championship by defeating St. Philip, 12 to 7, in yesterday's dismal and rainy weather at Soldiers' field.

The champions will meet Harrison Tech, which won the Chicago Public High School league championship Saturday, in a charity game for the Joint Emergency Relief fund. The game probably will be played at Mills stadium Saturday afternoon.

Favorites Score Early.

Mount Carmel, the favorite in the game, scored in the first period, but St. Philip, on a steady march down the field, finally crossed the Mount Carmel line for a touchdown and took a 7 to 6 lead when a kick from placement was successful for the extra point.

Then, as darkness hovered over the huge lake front arena, a long pass gave Mount Carmel its winning touchdown in the third period after it had reached the St. Philip 30 yard line.

Bart McKernan, veteran Mount Carmel full back, who has been the star of his team's six consecutive victories, continued to play the hero rôle. His plunging through the St. Philip line enabled Mount Carmel to complete ten first downs. St. Philip made nine first downs, several on penalties.

McKernan and Buddy Gonya, a brother of Bob Gonya, who was a member of the 1927 championship squad, were the leaders in the first Mount Carmel touchdown in the first period. McKernan, on two attempts, gained 30 yards and a 12 yard run by Gonya brought the ball on St. Philip's 27 yard line.

Mac Plunges Over.

A plunge by McKernan through right tackle gained five yards and, on the next play, Gonya hurled a pass to O'Shea, bringing the ball to the 6 yard line. McKernan then scored the touchdown on two attempts. On another plunge for the extra point McKernan was brought down on the line of scrimmage.

An attack which resulted in four first downs brought the ball to Mount Carmel's 30 yard line just before the half ended. A 15 yard pass, Sattler to Lyons, together with short gains by Lyons and Serritella, put the ball on the 4 yard line, and Lyons, on a wide right end run, scored the touchdown to tie the score. Capt. Mahoney kicked the ball between the uprights and St. Philip led, 7 to 6.

After Sattler had kicked to Mount Carmel's 48 yard line, McKernan, on two plays through left tackle, gained ten yards and a first down. Gonya carried the ball to the 30 yard line on a left end run. Then he hurled a pass to O'Malley, who was standing on the 5 yard line, and O'Malley went over the touchdown. Lineup:

Bears—Molesworth for H. Grange; G. Grange for Drury; Drury for Johnson; Schuette for Buckler.; Tackwell for Carlson; Trafton for Pearson.

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears easily defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team, 26 to 0, before a crowd of 22,000 at Ebbets field today. Passes played an important part in the Bears' victory, the Chicagoans scoring twice on their own aerials and once on an intercepted toss.

The Chicago club got moving in the first quarter and quickly brought the ball within scoring distance. Red Grange put the ball across the final white stripe when he made a remarkable catch of a pass. Tackwell kicked the goal after touchdown.

Score Again on Pass.

In the second period the Bears scored again through the air, after the Dodgers had stopped their running game. Hoot Drury scooped in the ball this time, also behind the goal line, after Keith Molesworth passed more than 40 yards.

Brooklyn threatened for a time in the third period, hammering through the Chicago line for persistent gains. When the Dodgers came within scoring distance, however, the Bears' resistance stiffened and the Brooklyn team was forced to try a forward which George Trafton intercepted on Chicago's 6 yard line. The Bears then punted out of danger.

Nesbitt Runs Back Pass.

Chicago scored twice in the last period. Paul Franklin rang up the first points on a brilliant 20 yard run around end, while Dick Nesbitt made the final touchdown when he scampered 30 yards after intercepting Jack McBride's last minute forward passes.

STAPLETON WINS, 16-7.

Stapleton, N. Y., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The individual feats of Ken Strong gave Stapleton a 16 to 7 victory over the Cleveland Indians in a National league professional football game today. Strong scored all of his team's points.

In the first period Cunningham intercepted a Cleveland pass and ran it back 20 yards to the ten yard line. In two plays Strong carried the ball across for a touchdown. His kick for the extra point was blocked. Cleveland took the lead in the second period when Vokaty, chief Indian ground gainer, scored a touchdown and Workman added the extra point. But Strong came back in the last quarter, running 55 yards for the winning touchdown, kicking the extra point, and finally clinching the victory with a 20 yard field goal.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Those ancient rivals, the Sing Sing convicts and the police, met in a football game on the Sing Sing campus beneath the time mellowed walls of the old cell block this afternoon with an attendance of 2,000 Sing Sing undergrads and about 2,000 outsiders gathered around the battle site. There were also about 2,000 other spectators massed along the ragged palisades outside the college grounds, by one of the amusing ironies of life, unable to break in.

There were no old grads in the attendance, as college loyalty is sadly decadent among the alumni of Sing Sing. The plans of the present student body and the varsity team to promote a great homecoming game this fall probably will be abandoned because of this lack of spirit.

Police Score on Passes.

The Sing Sing varsity was beaten, 13 to 0, by two forward passes for touchdowns by a team of policemen from Port Jervis, N. Y. The first pass, from Officer Duffy to Officer Thomas was a ten yard throw followed by a 56-yard run to the goal. Officer Thomas then kicked the goal.

This occurred in the second period, shortly before the intermission, which was enlivened by some simple marching formations and martial music by the Delaware bugle, fife and drum corps of Matamoras, Pa., a town close to Port Jervis, and by counter-music from the Sing Sing's varsity band which did not march, however.

The Sing Sing musicians, in common with the rest of the undergraduate body, are not encouraged to march as this might put it in their minds to take a long walk for themselves some time and long walks are strictly excluded from the athletic curriculum.

Play Loyalty Song.

The Sing Sing band therefore sat still on their own side of the arena and played their loyalty song, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." When this was finished a piccolo soloist in the ranks with a distaste for personal publicity discoursed the sad, beautiful notes of the Sing Sing alma mater song, "Just One More Chance."

The second pass for a touchdown also was caught by the nimble Officer Thomas, the throw being made by Sergt. Brown from the Sing Sing 30 yard line. Sergt. Brown faked an end run and dropped back for a pass, which found Officer Thomas uncovered at the goal line, where he caught the ball and fell across.

Alabama Pitts broke through and blocked the gallant Officer Thomas' placement kick for the extra point. As to Alabama Pitts, who was the best football player on the field, it is related that he just happened to be sitting in a speakeasy minding his business one night, and meaning no harm to any one, when the place was held up. He lost his money and, having definite suspicions that the management was responsible for the hoist, he came around a few nights later with his own gun and hoisted it back.

Convicts Get Thrill.

Sing Sing's greatest thrill of hope occurred in the third period, when Nelly Nelson, the captain of Sing Sing, got off a high punt from behind his goal, which carried only ten yards and plopped into the astonished arms of the regular varsity end, a Negro youth named Prince, who prepped for Sing Sing at one of the juvenile homes. The colored boy hesitated, but when he saw an officer chasing him his feet did the natural thing and he tore off a very creditable 90 yard dash to the Port Jervis goal. He was called back, however, and the touchdown was disallowed on the ground that he was not on side, a great disappointment to Sing Sing.

The referee, a Mr. Darby of Syracuse, took occasion to say after the game that it was the cleanest he had ever seen in a long career as an official, and, for a fact, there was something almost repugnant about the kind solicitude of the Sing Sing boys for the officers as they helped them to their feet and dusted them off after the scrimmages. Granted that they should not have kicked them in the face at every opportunity, still it is not in the Sing Sing tradition to help an officer up and dust him off.

Congestion at Gates.

The congestion at the entrance before the game as 4,000 customers tried to crowd in, one by one, being hip slapped for pistols by three guards, was so great that two women fainted and several children began to cry. When the known capacity of the stands had been admitted, however, the gates were shut and the management lost 2,000 admissions of $1 each as the overflow was turned away.

Sing Sing's next opponents will be the White Plains Bulldogs, and the student managers are trying to arrange a home and home schedule with Walla Walla, Wash., prison, Red Hope. The Sing Sing coach, who is serving 5½ years, approves this game, and states that if the schedule is arranged he will find it necessary to scout his opponents in person.

The West Point corps of cadets, stationed just across the river from Sing Sing, frequently accompany their team on football trips, and it is the hope of the Sing Sing student body that a similar liberal policy will be adopted by Warden Lawes.

Harrison Tech to Play Miami on Christmas

Harrison Tech, Chicago Public High School league football champion, has accepted an invitation to play Miami High school in an intersectional contest at Miami, Fla., Christmas day, it was announced by Coach Bob Dougherty yesterday.

Miami, which has met Stivers High school of Dayton, O., and Salem, Mass., in its last two intersectional games, is undefeated this season. The squad is coached by Fred Major, former University of Illinois athlete.

Coach Dougherty said he received the permission of William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, to make the trip. Harrison will meet Mount Carmel, which won the Catholic league title yesterday, in its last Chicago contest.

The date of the Mount Carmel game probably will be set for Saturday afternoon. The site probably will be Mills stadium, which, with additional seats, will accommodate more than 23,000. Because of the Northwestern-Purdue contest, Soldiers' field will not be available.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Jimmy Murphy, Fordham's backfield ace, scored all his team's points against Bucknell yesterday to boost his season's total to 102 points, good enough for third place among all eastern scorers and first place so far as players on major teams are concerned.

Bob Campiglio of West Liberty, who finished his season a week ago, remained far out in front of all rivals with 146 points, Louis Bush of Massachusetts State added 1 point to his total yesterday for second place with 127.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Chicago Cardinals, who last week handed the champion Green Bay Packers their first defeat, yesterday continued their surprising attack, walloping the Portsmouth Spartans, 20 to 19, at Wrigley field. Five thousand watched the professional game in which each team alternated in demonstration of an unstoppable offense.

Despite the morning rain, the gridiron was fast and comparatively firm under an inch or two of mud. The north goal was the almost unanimous choice of both elevens in their scoring activity. The grass in what is ordinarily left field for the Cubs and their baseball rivals afforded better footing for the athletes. Five of the touchdowns were registered at this goal line, but when the Spartans rallied in the last quarter and had an opportunity to tie the score, they plowed through the mud at the south end on their march.

Bigger and Better Thrills.

For thrills, both from successful passes and open field running, the Spartans and the Cardinals delivered as in no other contest in Chicago this year. The Spartans dashed to a seven point lead in the first quarter, only to have the Cardinals equal that touchdown and point in the second period and then assume a six point advantage on a plunge by Nevers before half time. Nevers, however, broke his string of eight consecutive place kicks after touchdowns and the Cardinals left the field boasting a 13 to 7 lead.

In the third period the Spartans came back to tie the score once more. Dutch Clark ran 59 yards through the entire Cardinal team and Portsmouth only failed of a point lead when Glenn Presnell's attempt for the point by placement was wide.

This was the status of the teams when the last quarter started. The Cardinals pulled ahead again when Nevers plunged over and Ernie added the point for a 20 to 13 advantage. That point proved to be the deciding factor, for three minutes before the game ended Portsmouth got its third touchdown on a forward pass by Clark to Bill McKalip in the Cardinal end zone.

Alford's Kick Grounded.

The result hinged on the Portsmouth try for the point. Gene Alford, standing almost ankle deep in the mud, attempted the kick, but the ball scarcely left the ground and the Cards led 20 to 19. The Chicago team kept possession of the ball until the final whistle.

Portsmouth, previously defeated by New York and the Chicago Bears, needed a victory yesterday to keep

Packers Rip Line to Beat Giants, 14-10

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—With Hank Bruder and Russell Saunders pounding the Giants' line, the Green Bay Packers came from behind in the last quarter to defeat New York, 14 to 10, in a National Profootball league game today.

A crowd of 40,000 saw the Packers take the lead in the first minute of play, relinquish it in the Giants' second period rally and then grab victory out of what appeared to be their second defeat of the season.

First One Is Easy.

The Packers struck fast and sure for their first touchdown. Hirdis McCrary, former Georgia back, returned the opening kickoff to middield and Red Dunn tossed a long pass to Johnny Blood, which netted the remaining 50 yards. Dunn kicked the extra point.

With Benny Friedman on the sending end of passes to Burnett and Badgro, the Giants drove down the field late in the first period and Moran plunged over from the 3 yard line as the second period opened. Moran added the extra point.

Giants Take Lead.

A surprise pass, Moran to Flaherty, late in the second quarter, put the Giants in the position where Moran booted a place kick from the 12 yard line. After a dull third quarter, the Packers' offensive swung into action on their 41 yard line. A pass was good for 10 yards and Bruder and Saunders began their wrecking tactics, carrying the ball to the 20 yard line, where Dunn tossed a pass to Bruder, who fell over the goal line for the winning touchdown.

Sedbrook put the Giants in a position to score with a 65 yard return of the next kickoff, but the Packers smothered Friedman as he attempted to pass the Giants to victory from the 14 yard line.

BROWNSON WINS FROM O'CONNELL IN K. OF C. UPSET

Before the best opening day crowds in several years, four of the five divisions in the Knights of Columbus basketball league opened their season yesterday with the usual quota of close games and upsets.

One of the principal surprises came in the north division, where Daniel O'Connell Council, division champion and runner-up for the league title last season, lost to Brownson, '16 to 13. Three long shots by Joe Balsamo helped in Brownson's victory. Marquette, another finalist from the north division, was also beaten, losing an overtime verdict to Father O'Connor. With the count tied at 13 all, Christian's shot from midfloor provided the winning margin. Loyola-Hyde Park, last year's section champions, had difficulty overcoming Aquinas, but a speedy finish enabled the title holders to cop, 23 to 15. Englewood-La Rabida score:

Takes More Than Noise to Scare This Song Bird

BY BOB BECKER.

Mallards and other species of ducks may get nervous and leave a pond immediately after a round of shotgun fire, but the other day when we were in a blind on Frank Collins' hunting preserve at Morris, Ill., we found one species of marsh bird that refused to be intimidated by noise. This was the marsh wren, that peppery relative of the house wren which builds its home among the cat tails and reeds in sloughs and marshes.

Our encounter with this species, which has a typical wren song, was in a small reedy slough where we were occupying a duck blind. The day was bright, warm, and sunny and only a few teal and mallards were occasionally visiting our little pond. Suddenly, we heard the rippling melody of the marsh wren. Then we heard two singing away, not more than 20 feet from the blind.

A green wing teal came around and we dropped it. Then two mallards visited us and we bagged them. The shooting was enough to scare any songbird, but no sooner had we returned to our blind than the marsh wrens began to sing to us.

One passed the blind not five feet from us, while the other perched on a tall reed about 20 feet away and serenaded us with a lovely burst of song. Late in the afternoon when we again were in the blind the birds were even more active.

This species of wren is a notorious nest builder. It will build several possible homes. After one is chosen for the family the male frequently keeps right on building other nests as if he were a contractor specializing in marsh apartments.

The wrens now are en route to the southeastern part of the United States where they spend the winter. The recent warm November weather has caused many to loaf around in northern Illinois while on their migration.

Another very interesting bird which visited Illinois this month is the whistling swan.

Tonight's Card

Sonny Rickman vs. Sandy Sanders, 4 rounds, middleweights.

Les Marriner, former Illinois university football player, will face Biff Bennett of Fort Sheridan in the ten round windup of Mique Malloy's boxing show at White City tonight.

Several years ago Les showed unusual promise in his pugilistic career, and his fights with Chuck Wiggins, Nap Dorval, and George Hoffman proved he was fast advancing toward the top. But his hands went bad and Les stepped out of the game for a bit. He joined the army air corps in California and became a lieutenant. Now Les has announced his return to the ring. His hands are in shape again and he meets Bennett in his first bout.

Biff, who is a corporal in the army at Fort Sheridan, has knocked out his last four opponents at White City. They were Walter Maday, Joe Miller, Emil Johnson, and Marion Matuszack. He is a dangerous right hand puncher.

Chuck Heffner, Denver middleweight, who stopped Al Settle in Malloy's last show, meets Johnny Balma, Lawndale Bohemian, in another ten rounder. Balma has boxed a draw with Ray Tramblie, beat Bud Saltis and has a record of six consecutive victories.

Interest centers in the first appearance of Costas Vassis, middleweight champion of Greece, who recently arrived in the United States. He faces Clyde Hull of South Dakota in the third ten rounder. Hull fought a draw with Jerry Crano in the last White City show. Sonny Rickman, Morrison hotel bellhop, and Sandy Sanders meet in another four rounder. Billy Gladstone and Al Ries open the show.

Carnera and Campolo Box Friday Night

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Primo Carnero and Victorio Campolo are matched at Madison Square Garden next Friday night in a bout that tops the week's boxing card in point of quantity, if not in quality.

Carnera, who found King Levinsky a worthy foe at Chicago last week, will be favored over the South American, whose advance came to an abrupt halt not long ago when he was defeated by Tommy Loughran and Ernie Schaaf. Carnera will have a weight advantage of about 30 pounds, but Campolo, at 6 feet 7, will be the taller by about an inch. The bout is at 15 rounds.

Cards Win Over Spartans in Mud Fight

within striking distance of the leading Packers.

Portsmouth's opening first quarter touchdown was made possible after Harry Ebding, an end, blocked Nevers' punt and recovered the ball on the Cardinal 34 yard line. The Spartans didn't get the score immediately, but they forced the play in Cardinal territory and after an exchange of kicks went over.

Presnell returned Nevers' kick to the Cardinal 40 yard line. John Cavosie, the full back, with assistance from Clark and Presnell, hammered to the Cardinal four yard line. From here on fourth down, Clark circled the Cardinal left end for the score, after which Presnell added the seventh point.

Belden Slides Over.

Nevers' punt, the first play of the second quarter, went out of bounds on Portsmouth's six yard line, and Clark, kicking from behind his goal line, only succeeded in getting the ball out 25 yards. Nevers passed to Creighton for nine yards and followed with a first down plunge on the Spartan 11 yard line.

On the next play Belden, who had replaced Bill Gleagow at half back, ran wide around the Spartan right end and slid over for the touchdown. Nevers' placement tied the count at 7-all.

The second Cardinal touchdown was made after a march of 80 yards. Steady hammering by Nevers, Walt Holmer, and Belden advanced to the Cards' 43 yard line. Belden shot through his opponents' right tackle for 20 yards and Nevers carried on for 17 yards through the line before a regiment of tacklers flattened him in the mud.

From 20 yards out Nevers went over on four smashes. The first of these was good for 13 yards and on the last, a mere two yards, Ernie barely reached the final line before he was thrown back. Nevers' place kick failed.

Clark Runs 59 Yards.

In the third quarter Portsmouth wasted no time before tying the score: The Cards received and Nevers kicked to the Spartans' 41 yard line. Two plays did not gain and on third down Clark went back to punt. The pass from center was wide, so Clark ran instead. He jerked loose from the first opponent ten yards behind the line of scrimmage and from there, shifted and side stepped around all opposition. Twice reversing his field, he ran the last 30 yards unmolested, assisted by expert blocking by his mates. Presnell missed the place kick for the point.

Cardinal plunges manufactured the decisive touchdown in the fourth quarter. Nevers hit through the guards and then used short lateral passes to the half backs, all of which advanced to Portsmouth's 14 yard strip.

Rose and Belden picked up 3 yards. Nevers was held without gain, but on fourth down, he smashed within 1 yard of the goal line, giving the Cards four more attempts, if needed. They were not necessary, however, for on the next play Ernie carried the ball across. He followed with the point which won the game.

Presnell's return of Nevers' punt with three minutes to play, gave the Spartans a final chance for a tie. The former Nebraska player raced down the side line to the Cards' 29 yard mark before he was dropped. Three plays were bogged in the mud, but on fourth down, Clark ran wide to his left and then tossed to the right hand corner of the end zone, where McKalip waited for the pass.

"International Harvester Truck Service is First in The United States"
—From a statement by an Armour executive

As for the Service that keeps Internationals on the job, this great packing firm gives credit without reserve. "Truck transportation and hauling efficiency are vital factors with us," says an Armour executive. "We see trucks at hundreds of points the nation over, yet we operate only limited facilities for the purpose of repair and upkeep. We prefer to depend on the manufacturer of the trucks for the service, and we say without hesitation that the International Harvester readiness to serve is unequalled. International Truck service goes a long way in helping us to render our own vital service."

Wildcat 'Beat Purdue' Plans Abolish Rest

Ways and means of stopping Purdue next Saturday and thus assuring themselves an undisputed claim on the Big Ten title will be studied by Northwestern's football players this week. The "Beat Purdue" campaign will get under way in the Wildcat camp today since Coach Dick Hanley has waived the usual Monday layoff in favor of a workout with all hands present.

Although the Wildcats appeared a bit wilder against Iowa than they did the previous week against Indiana, there still remains much to be done before the charity encounter with the Boilermakers. There is no question but what the Purple desires the championship all to itself and will put forth a supreme effort to dispose of Purdue, thus preventing a possible four way tie for the title.

Purdue Stumbling Block.

Like Indiana, the Boilermakers have long been a stubborn opponent for Northwestern and frequently have tumbled the Wildcats in a most embarrassing manner. Since Coach Hanley took charge of the Wildcats, they have met Purdue on two occasions with the honors being even. In 1927, Hanley's first year at Northwestern, the Boilermakers won, 18 to 6, and the following year the Wildcats were victorious, 7 to 6.

Saturday's game at Soldiers' field will find both teams sporting a strong array of backs. Much of Purdue's success has been due to the ball carrying of Hecker, Purvis, Horstmann, Risk, and Yunevich. It is this quintet that Northwestern must bottle up if it hopes to come through with a clean conference slate.

Brisk Advance Sale.

The Wildcats will counter with a brigade of equally fine backs in Rentner, Olson, Moore, Meenan, Potter, and Sullivan. They, too, should be capable of causing no end of trouble to their opponents. Both lines, apparently, will have their hands full in trying to stop such a group of ground gaining backs.

Charity stands to profit considerably from the encounter between these two leading elevens. There has been a brisk advance sale of tickets ever since the game was scheduled a week ago. A crowd of 40,000 is expected to witness the finale of the collegiate grid season in Chicago. The game, like all other Big Ten charity contests, will not be broadcast.

ILLINI PLAYED OUT

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Declaring that the Illini played themselves out and gave everything they had, only to be outclassed by Ohio State, Coach Bob Zuppke today ordered a rest tomorrow before preparations begin for the charity tournament at Stagg field Thursday.

The squad will resume work Tuesday when there will be dummy scrimmage against Indiana plays as noted by Freshman Coach Wilson, who inspected the Hoosiers in their Purdue game.

It will be a task to rally the Illini after their disastrous trip to Columbus, but it is hoped the Hoosier backs will not prove equal to Cramer and Carroll of Ohio State who were chiefly responsible for the rout.

The Illini will travel to Chicago Wednesday afternoon so their opportunity to practice will be curtailed.

Tomorrow evening the Illinois squad will be guests of the Champaign Rotary club at its annual dinner to the team. The players will elect a captain for 1932. Gil Berry is the only player who will be a senior next year.

MICHIGAN EYES WISCONSIN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Michigan today faced the last chapter in its 1931 football season. In the name of charity, Wisconsin comes here the end of the week to top off the season and round out the careers of seven Wolverine regulars who are due to receive their sheepskins in June.

What makes Saturday's contest unusual is the fact that neither team is anxious to meet the other, and as a consequence attendance figures are expected to establish a low mark. Students at the Minnesota game yesterday booed each time the Badger contest was announced.

OHIO GUARDS HURT

Columbus, O., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The Ohio State regulars failed to escape injuries in a Big Ten game for the first time Saturday. Both regular guards, Varner and Gailus, were forced from the Illinois game with leg injuries. The extent of their hurts cannot be told until Tuesday, according to team physicians, but practice sessions for the pair while the remainder of the team is preparing for the charity game with Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday will be light, if any.

Light practices will be held during the week. The team will leave for Minneapolis Wednesday night, with a stopover Thursday in Chicago.

KAROL ZBYSZKO TESTS NEW HOLD ON SONNENBERG

Ten heavyweight wrestlers who compete tomorrow night at the Chicago Stadium are evincing interest in the defense Karol Zbyszko claims he has found for Gus Sonnenberg's flying tackle.

The tackle is one of the most brutal and bruising holds in the business. Zbyszko consulted Ernie Nevers of the Chicago Cardinals last week and believes he has found a means of combating the hold.

The Sonnenberg-Zbyszko match is the windup. Karl Pojello and Joe Malcewicz meet in the semi-windup. Malcewicz insisted upon a 45 minute time limit in this bout instead of the customary one fall to a finish. Fred Meyer, Chicago Jewish heavyweight, is scheduled for a 30 minute match with Jack Sherry.

Chicago-Iowa Game to Open Grid Tourney

Plans for the four way football tournament by which Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Chicago will contribute their share to the Big Ten's week-end charity program were revealed yesterday by Coach A. A. Stagg of Chicago.

In staging their show Thanksgiving afternoon at Stagg field the four tail-end teams of the conference will be putting on a carnival which has never been paralleled in the middle west and Coach Stagg believes that he himself will be the most interested spectator.

Iowa, Chicago Open Program.

Iowa will take the field against Chicago at 1 p. m. for two 15 minute quarters. At approximately 1:45 Illinois will begin a similar battle against Indiana. Then at about 2:45 the winners of the two early matches will engage in the final half game to settle the Thanksgiving championship.

Tickets for the tourney have been set by the conference at $3, $2, and $1, depending on location. Seats on the sidelines between the 15 yard lines will sell at $3, those on the sidelines back of the 15 yard marks have been set at $2, and those in the end stand will go for $1. The tickets are on sale at Spalding's, Marshall Field's, Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., and the University of Chicago football ticket office at 5625 Ellis avenue, where reservations may also be made by phone.

Tourney Lures Fans.

Early sales indicate that the unusual spectacle of four teams in action will be heavily attended. The first day's general sales were 500, some in blocks of ten and fifteen seats, and the fact that thousands of students from the four universities will be in Chicago over the holiday week-end is expected to swell the turnout. If the game is a sell-out more than $80,000 will be available for unemployment relief in the three states represented.

Minneapolis Team Tops Middle West Pin Tourney

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Two man teams from Minneapolis hold the first four places in the middle western bowling tournament in progress here. The team of Daily and Nelson is first with 1,248. Sabo and Rhea are second with 1,222, followed by Holsbn and Pehle with 1,209 and J. Olson and Feichtinger with 1,205. The Zimmerman brothers from Sac City are fifth with 1,197.

Law of Averages Claims Victims; Elevates Booth

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—It's a great year for the law of averages in the whirl of sports. It caught up with the celebrated Pepper Martin. It turned the scales finally against such champions as the Athletics and Notre Dame. As a climax, the charmed career of Harvard's super-athlete, William Barry Wood Jr., has been added to its victims, and the acclaim of the eastern gridiron melodrama belongs today to Yale's little Albie Booth.

Three years ago when Booth entered Yale as the home town hero of New Haven bright college years of continued gridiron glory were reflected in the optimism of Eli adherents. The mighty midget seemed cast for an heroic role only to find the breaks, and Harvard, especially Harvard's tall, slim Barry Wood, very much against him. As a freshman, sophomore and junior, Booth failed to break through the Crimson barriers.

Two years ago, on a bleak November day, Booth was unwrapped on the frozen gridiron and tossed into the Harvard game here for an attempted drop kick that turned into a boomerang. The kick was blocked, Booth was smothered and the Crimson counter-marched to a decisive touchdown.

Skip two more years and the scene is almost identical. Harvard and Yale are scoreless. Yale is pounding at the Crimson goal with only three minutes to go before the final gun. Again, the situation calls for a dropkick by Booth. This time even the weather gods are smiling, for it is as balmy as a day in June. Albie drop back, his teammates block the Harvard charge perfectly and the Yale captain's aim is sure and true.

A dropkicked field goal, three precious points. They were sufficient for Yale to turn the tables, finally; for Booth to beat his arch-rival, Barry Wood, and give Yale its first delirious thrill of victory since 1927.

It was a stunning setback for Harvard, the favorite, the unbeaten and the pace setter of eastern gridiron machines. Conqueror of Army, Texas, Dartmouth and Holy Cross, the Crimson's hopes of an unbeaten season for the first time since 1913 went soaring into the soft November twilight on the arching flight of Booth's beautiful boot. Once again the foot proved mightier than the hand that throws the Harvard pass, for Yale almost completely spiked Barry Wood's most dangerous weapon in this surging battle for revenge.

Catholic Youth Bouts Tonight at De La Salle

Thirty-one boys, representing the champions of the south district sections, will compete tonight at De La Salle gymnasium, 35th street and Michigan avenue, to bring the Catholic Youth organization's boxing tournament up to the semi-final and final bouts scheduled for Dec. 4 in the Chicago Stadium.

Tonight's card lists the survivors of four sections representing 11 southern parishes of the archdiocese. Leo Rodak, Golden Gloves flyweight champion, heads the list of fighters. Rodak, now a bantamweight, represent SS. Peter and Paul from the St. Laurence section.

The Messmer brothers, Edward and Raymond, fighting in the 112 and 118 pound class, are also on the evening's battle menu. They will vie for attention with Max Marek, St. Rita 160 pound champion, who qualified by knocking out two of his opponents in in the first round, and Joe Serlette, Our Lady of Hungary parish welterweight.

TROJANS START HOME LOADED UP WITH NEW HATS

Coach Buys Victorious Black Derbies.

All but inundated by a flood of congratulatory messages, the Trojans of Southern California left Chicago for Los Angeles last night with the cheers of midwestern football fans still ringing in their ears.

Coach Howard Jones allowed the boys to break training after the game and as a result the athletes celebrated profoundly. After dinner Saturday they went en masse to the theater and then returned to the hotel for a midnight supper which developed into a great celebration as one after another the well wishers dropped in to pay their respects.

After sleeping late yesterday morning the squad went en masse on a shopping tour with Arnold Eddy, graduate manager. It all came about in this manner. When the Trojan party reached Chicago Friday morning Eddy was on deck to greet the troupe, having come on ahead. Arnold was the picture of sartorial elegance in an iron hat.

All Buy Derbies.

After the game Arnold entered the Trojan dressing room. Aubrey Devine, who scouted Notre Dame all season, jerked off the new derby and gave a very graphic illustration of Johnny Baker's winning place kick. As the derby sailed through the air, Erny Pinckert caught it and dashed into his shower, attired only in Arnold's iron head piece.

Yesterday morning Arnold sallied forth to buy himself a new derby and inasmuch as Jones had promised the players a personal award if they won, the squad went along. When the troupe left every man was wearing a derby.

While the sentiment yesterday was one of complete commendation for the Trojans, in which Notre Dame followers led the way, the Irish backers were at a loss to explain the turn of affairs, particularly the long pass which Gus Shaver made to Bob Hall in the last drive down the field to score the winning field goal.

Pass Was New.

The pass had not been used in a single game this year. It was this fact which completely fooled Notre Dame, Trojan coaches explained.

Baker's coolness in the crisis was unqualified admiration. His first conversion had been blocked by Joe Kurth, tackle, who was easily Notre Dame's outstanding lineman. Kurth side stepped Gordon Clark, playing left half back, and crashed into the ball which was sailing straight for the right spot.

When it came time for the place kick, Clark decided he wouldn't be fooled again. Shaver took Baker's place in the line and the ball was snapped.

"Instead of waiting for the tackle to come to me," said Clark, "I went out to meet him, stepping to the right, and hit head on before he expected it."

You can face the world without going back on your family in a Rogers Peet Scotch Mist* overcoat.

It has the inherent smart style and perfect fit that only hand-tailoring can give a garment.

And it has something else that only Scotch Mist can give—a special weave of the cheviot fabric that makes it wetproof without increasing its weight or reducing its warmth.

LUNCHES MAKE GOOD PUPILS OF BACKWARD ONES

Cash contributions to the Hungry School Children's Fund will be received at the following Tribune offices: 1 South Dearborn street, 1101 East 63d street, and 4152 West Madison street.

At a cost of only a few pennies a day, one child after another in the Chicago schools is being saved from hunger and its consequences. A hot meal, with a glass of milk or a cup of hot cocoa, is making all the difference between illness and health to them. It is turning sick, stupid children into normal, healthy youngsters who absorb knowledge as a sponge absorbs water.

Through the Hungry School Children's fund, raised by readers of THE TRIBUNE, this service, which will mean so much in future years in saving these school children from the ineradicable traces of early malnutrition, is being provided at an average cost of five cents a day.

Expect to Help 15,000.

Aproximately 7,000 girls and boys are now on the lists, and before the winter is over the daily average, it is expected, will reach 15,000.

Tickets purchased by the administrators of this fund are distributed to the teachers, who know the needs of the various pupils and give them out unobtrusively to those children who otherwise could not visit the school lunchroom. Thus the philanthropy is a confidential matter between the teachers and those who receive it.

Spanish Paper Accuses U. S. of Guiding League

ROME HISTORIAN BRANDS LINCOLN LETTER FORGERY

ROME, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Henry Nelson Gay, secretary of the Italo-American society and Rome historian, today described as a "forgery" a letter attributed to Abraham Lincoln in which he urged the unification of Italy and predicted that Rome would become the capital of a United States of Europe.

Himself the author of a life of Lincoln in Italian, Gay said: "Lincoln could not have written it. Any one who has studied Lincoln would be certain of that. I have read Lincoln's correspondence and know that he did not have enough knowledge of European affairs to have written it."

Regarding the statement of the Historical society of the Italian renaissance that Lord Northcliffe had offered to buy the document from its present owner, Nino D'Althan, Gay said: "If Northcliffe made the offer he did it solely to call D'Althan's bluff and get him to produce the original. My opinion is that the letter is an absolute forgery."

CAROL PERMITS PRINCE TO KEEP PLEBEIAN BRIDE

VIENNA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—King Carol of Rumania was persuaded tonight to let his brother, Prince Nicholas, keep his plebeian wife and would merely forbid their attending any state function together, said dispatches from Bucharest.

The king stormed and fumed, the dispatches said, when two of his ministers took sides against him, but he ultimately accepted their council.

He had intended forcing one of three equally unacceptable measures upon the prince, who married Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj against the royal wishes. Those measures were that either Nicholas would have to renounce the marriage or be stripped of his royal privileges or live abroad in exile.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Lady Battersea, one of the grand dames of the house of Rothschild, died today at 89 after a crowded life which brought her close to political and social celebrities of three generations.

She was the daughter of Lady Anthony de Rothschild, one of the remarkable women who helped to establish the social position which the Rothschild financiers have held in England and France for a century. Lady Battersea married Cyril Flower, a Liberal politician, in 1877 and during his 15 years in parliament became one of the great hostesses of the Gladstone-Disraeli era.

In 1922, many years after her husband's death, she published a volume of "reminiscences" giving a vivid picture of the Rothschilds and the society which is flittering around them.

MIXED FEELING IS OBSERVED IN WHEAT MARKET

Varied Factors Act as Price Brake.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A more mixed situation exists in grain markets than has existed in nearly two months. The break of over 10c in wheat prices from the recent extreme top in Chicago has stirred out speculators who were receiving confidence and buying wheat on a liberal scale a month ago.

Large eastern as well as local speculators, while mostly confident of higher prices ultimately, are going slower on the buying side and confining their operations to sharp breaks.

Trade expectations are that unless there is a greatly increased export demand, extensive damage to the Argentine and Australian crops now being harvested, a pronounced permanent reduction in Russian shipments, a greatly improved export and milling demand for South American wheat, and a continuation of the China, Japan and Russian war, it may be more difficult to sustain values at higher levels as the time being.

Crop Reports Conflict.

The trade is being surfeited with conflicting crop and weather reports from the Argentine, where there has been frost and heavy rains at the critical period. It is said, however, that Argentine, despite the reduction of an average of 16 per cent, will have yields nearly equal to last year's, also of better quality. Statistics from both Argentina and Australia are such as to keep the trade uneasy, especially when combined with the uncertainty regarding the weather.

An indication of the nervousness of grain traders was seen in the sharp break on Friday on reports of a partial armistice between Japan and China. It struck the trade as rather peculiar, as the general impression has been that war news had not induced heavy lines of speculative buying. But the selling came at a critical moment when the stock market was going to pieces, and induced heavy liquidation and a decline in prices.

A striking feature that is expressed by grain traders in wheat is that prices need to be kept at an export basis so that stocks can be moved readily. This would mean that unless there should be a radical change in the situation in regard to supply and demand in European countries, there is not likely to be a heavy buying movement from abroad which is needed.

All world statistics have been given the trade during the week and thoroughly worked over with unsatisfactory market results.

Improved Milling Demand.

Milling demand for wheat in all sections has improved with large sales of flour, particularly in the northwest and southwest, small mills doing a good business, while usually at this time the larger mills are the most active. Millers in the middle west, southwest and northwest report that they are unable to get the wheat needed from farmers, and say that unless the latter change their holding

Railway Labor Executives Reject Voluntary Wage Cut

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—The Railway Labor Executives' association today rejected a proposal for voluntary acceptance of a 10 per cent reduction in railroad wages put forward by a committee of nine railway presidents representing all regions in the country. The proposal was made at meetings which began here Thursday and which concluded after the presidents had acknowledged receipt of the labor leaders' statement.

The railway presidents will report the results of the conference to the eastern, southern and western regional organizations and the labor leaders will take like action at a meeting of some 1,500 general chairmen to be held in Chicago on Dec. 8.

The text of the announcements made by the presidents' committee indicates that individual railroads will immediately start simultaneous action for wage reductions of 10 per cent or thereabouts in accordance with the terms of the labor provisions in the transportation act.

In Friendly Spirit.

Although the union leaders and presidents failed in their four day meeting to agree on a mutual policy, effort was made on both sides to make it evident that the negotiations had been carried on in a friendly spirit. Comment in railroad circles was to the effect that much ground which would have to be covered in any attempt to cut labor costs on the railroads had been disposed of in the meeting in a more clarified atmosphere than might have been possible had the problem been approached in another manner.

Speaking for the committee of nine presidents, of which he was chairman, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, said he "felt sure th a better understanding had been arrived at concerning many matters of mutual interest." In the words of his announcement, he dwelt on the fact that "the conferences had been carried on in a fine spirit of friendship and that the discussions had been wholly devoid of any unpleasantness."

In his letter rejecting the proposal for a voluntary 10 per cent wage reduction, D. R. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, remarked that "you have listened courteously to our propositions."

Reasons for Rejection.

The chief reason cited by the labor leaders in their rejection was that the presidents failed to give assurance that money saved through a wage reduction would be applied either "to increase employment or even to stabilize existing employment."

Further elucidating its attitude toward the proposal, the association's letter said:

"More than one-third of the employés of this industry are idle and more than one-third of the capital in this industry is idle. You are taking nothing from the earnings of capital to support unemployed workers. You are asking that the employed workers take 10 per cent from their earnings to support idle capital. We submit that the first duty of the employed workers, after their duty to their dependents, is an obligation to their fellow employés who are denied an opportunity of employment."

Attitude on Dividends.

Commenting on this paragraph, Mr. Robertson said labor was not required to pay interest on equipment kept idle through lack of traffic. He added:

"We do not believe that wages should be cut to pay dividends."

Both sides met separately this morning, the presidents then drawing up a formal letter to the association discussing in detail an elaborate plan for relieving unemployment put forward by the labor men. The labor leaders then joined the presidents in the office of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and, in a conference that occupied less than one hour, put forward the views covered in Mr. Robertson's letter to Mr. Willard. The labor men then returned to their headquarters at the Hotel Governor Clinton, while the presidents went into another meeting which lasted nearly four hours.

Workers Consider Proposal.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Charles W. Galloway, vice president in charge of operations of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, tonight confirmed a report that organized employés of the road, other than those four train service brotherhoods, have taken under advisement a company proposal of voluntary acceptance of a 10 per cent wage cut.

The group includes the shops crafts, telegraphers, dispatchers, clerks and other organizations. The proposal, Mr. Galloway said, was made the subject of conferences in Baltimore week before last with representatives of the organizations. "No answer has yet been received," the vice president declared:

TREASURY WILL SELL 100 MILLION IN 93 DAY BILLS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon announced today the treasury would sell $100,000,000 in treasury bills to the highest bidder on Nov. 27. This will bring to $50,000,000 the preponderance of such securities issued over those redeemed during the month. The new bills, which will be for 93 days, will be redeemed at face value on March 2, 1932. The treasury has borrowed an average of $50,000,000 a week since the first of the fiscal year on July 1, but such borrowing has been largely a turnover to retire an equal amount of securities.

This month, however, in two of the weekly borrowings, the treasury sold $15,000,000 more than was retired. In the issue announced today it is selling $30,000,000 more than the $80,000,000 in bills which mature on Nov. 30.

New Municipal Offerings to Total $22,242,529

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—New bond offerings scheduled by 49 municipalities for this week aggregate $22,242,529, as compared with $10,822,207 during the last week, the Daily Bond Buyer reports. The weekly average of new offerings now stands at $33,346,736. The city and county of San Francisco have scheduled an offering of $2,000,000 Hetch Hetchy water bonds and $700,000 hospital bonds on Monday. Both issues carry a 4½ per cent coupon.

Southwest Electrical Equipment Business Gains

The electrical equipment industry fails to report any marked change in general conditions in the week just closed, though the southwest developed definite orders of substantial proportion, Electrical World reports. The week has been one of the best experienced in the southwestern area in a long time. General business in the middle west continues to drift along an uneven course.

GERMAN BRITISH SHIPPING WAR IS SEEN IMMINENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A possibility looms of a freight war between British and German shipping companies, constituting the "conference lines," according to the Sunday Times, as a result of a breach of the shipping agreement, due to the disparity in shipping freight rates following the suspension of the gold standard by Great Britain.

The shipping agreement is said to have been broken when the Cap Acorna, the most up to date and speediest of the Hamburg-South American fleet, on the European and South American route, for the first time made Southampton a port of call. The general terms of the conference agreement provided that certain British ports should be avoided by German ships and that British ships would not call at certain German ports, and that certain freight rates should be observed.

When Great Britain went off the gold standard, German members of the agreement argued that British ships held an advantage of between 25 and 30 per cent on freight rates over them. At a recent conference in Germany the Teutons requested that British shipowners increase their rates proportionately to the advantage they had gained by the suspension of the gold standard. British shipowners were not disposed to agree.

MORE SHOPPERS ARE REPORTED IN STORES DESPITE BAD WEATHER

Despite the indifferent weather during part of the last week in Chicago, department stores reported an increased number of shoppers. Buying was centralized on housewares, stockings, shoes, and other dress accessories, and a few toys, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Production of new automobile models resulted in a sharp gain in orders for local accessory companies. One distributor of automobiles announced that new models had already begun to sell well.

Shops and small stores felt a new upturn in their sales of imported novelties and Christmas wear. Sales on scarfs and linens are reported to be moving well.

One wholesale company experienced a decided improvement over recent weeks. It is the feeling of both the buying and the selling ends of the organization that business is getting back to normal.

Building permit figures for the suburban towns around Chicago show a rate of activity about equal to that of one year ago.

Washington, Nov. 22. — (AP) — An agreement to lock up 6,600,000 bales of cotton for one year until the crush of the enormous current crop has spent its force was announced today by the farm board.

Word was received from Nathan Adams of Dallas, Texas, that southern bankers have arranged to make or renew loans to farmers for holding 3,100,000 bales—400,000 short of the original goal.

The board and the American Cotton Cooperative association, for their part, have agreed to hold their stores of about 3,500,000 bales until July 31, 1932, the beginning of the new crop year. This pledge, however, would not be binding if the price should reach 12½ cents a pound.

Bond Prices Decline in Light Trading

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The bond market declined last week with few interruptions as trading continued of moderate proportions. A few signs of resistance to the decline appeared late on Saturday, however.

An outstanding feature of the week's events was the offering of $12,000,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, series B, of the Cincinnati Union Terminal company on Thursday. This incident was strong evidence that bonds of the right quality, even in the present depressed market, can be marketed.

Jointly Guaranteed.

An important point in determining the security rating of these bonds is the fact that they are guaranteed jointly and severally both as to principal and interest by seven important railroad companies in addition to being secured by a first mortgage on the terminal company's union passenger station and terminal facilities.

From the marketing standpoint the strength of the underwriting syndicate was an important consideration also. Four of the country's strongest banking organizations composed this group. It was the first public railroad financing since Sept. 15, when $10,000,000 of Louisville and Nashville bonds were sold.

The severity of the decline in outstanding issues may be realized from the average closing price of sixty representative corporate loans listed on the New York stock exchange. This figure at the end of the week was $1.3, compared with $4.0 the previous Saturday.

Japanese Issues Firmer.

Bankers familiar with Canadian finances will watch the reception accorded this week to an internal issue of $150,000,000 of bonds of the dominion government of five and ten year maturities.

As this issue will be payable only in Canadian funds, which have been selling at a discount of about 10 per cent, the investors paying for the bonds with American dollars would be able to buy them at levels correspondingly below the offering prices. However, several bankers familiar with the situation do not expect any great participation in the offering from American investors because of insufficient familiarity with Canadian affairs.

Marquette Cement Co. October Shipments Gain

Cement shipments of the Marquette Cement Manufacturing company for October were 25 per cent greater than for the same month of 1930, it was announced yesterday by Theodore G. Dickinson, president. The greatest amount ever handled by the company in one day was a peak reached on Oct. 3 when it broke its own record by shipping 55,000 barrels.

WALL STREET IS PERPLEXED BY TRADE EVENTS

Tone Better Despite Poor Showing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—The present financial position is of a character not unfamiliar under conditions such as now exist, but to the Wall street of today it is perplexing. It presents a picture in which financial sentiment has changed distinctly for the better, in which the lately prevalent blind terror has disappeared, and in which the particular markets whose course reflected the midsummer state of mind reversed themselves emphatically.

Nevertheless, such customary indices of business recovery as railway traffic, company earnings and dividends, prices of commodities outside of agriculture, production in basic industries like steel, have given no sign of recovery.

During the past two weeks even the markets which had previously seemed to indicate rapid change toward better things had halted. Wheat had risen 23⅛ cents since the beginning of October; it now fell back 12⅝ cents. The "averages" of domestic bonds declined 2⅜ per cent after rising 4⅜; foreign bond averages lost 2 per cent after gaining 7¼. Meantime the weekly loadings of railway freight continued 18 to 20 per cent below 1930; steel production recovered only slightly from the smallest weekly output of the year, and prices of some commodities [such as copper] went to a "new low" for the period.

Runs True to Form.

If a true recovery meant that the markets would advance uninterruptedly, if elimination of the morbid financial psychology of midsummer meant that even the economic status quo was about to be restored why, then, should the market have acted thus?

Conceivably, no doubt, these recent reactions mean that we have not yet seen the worst. But the point of equal interest is that, in the light of all recorded experience, markets would have acted precisely as they have lately done, even if the longer future were to fulfill October's most hopeful prophecies.

In 1924 wheat rose from $1.02⅛ to $1.50, and the European crop failure proved the advance to be legitimate; yet in August it fel from $1.39 to $1.19. Even after the almost legendary "boom" in stocks had started during 1927, it had no uninterrupted path. The "averages" rose 18 points in a few weeks after June, but they lost 11 points in August.

These considerations are useful only

Buried Factors Serve to Keep Prices Down.

mention millers express the belief ey they will be forced to go to ter- nal markets for supplies. The pri- ary movement with the exception of this period in 1929 has been the smallest in recent years. There is no scarcity, however, of grain anywhere, and decreases in the visible are disap- pointingly small.

Wheat prices in Chicago moved within a range of 7c during the week, making the lowest on Saturday, from which there was a good rally, but the pits showed ⅛c net advance to ⅛c below compared with the previous week. December finished at 57⅛@ 57⅛c; March, 59¾c; May, 61⅝@61¼c; and July, 61⅛@61¾c. Prices follow:

Foreigners May Buy Oats.

Inquiries from Europe for oats are being received at the seaboard, par- ticularly at Montreal, and it would be no surprise to see Germany and other countries where the supply of mill- ing oats is scarce become good buy- ers in the United States. Cash inter- ests have been bullish on oats all sea- son, although their buying at the time was limited. Movement from the country is disappointingly small and cash premiums are holding well. The market runs into good support on breaks and to profit taking on fair rises.

At the close prices were 1c higher than a week ago. December closed at 28¾c; May, 33⅛c, and July, 28¾@ 28⅞c. Prices for the week follow:

	December.	May.	July.

TWO SIDES TO CORN MARKET.

A more two sided situation exists in the corn market. Traders who in the main were bullish early in the week were bearish at the last, the actual following wheat to a considera- ble extent only to react later with net gain. Sentiment which was bull- ish ten days or two weeks ago has been modified and those who were re- sponsible for a good advance took profits. Outside help on the buying side was not sufficiently continuous to keep corn prices moving upward and hedge run into liberal selling.

A striking feature is the good scat- tered demand for corn in Iowa, Kan- sas, Nebraska, South Dakota and parts of Illinois where feeders are un- accustomed to be paying higher prices than can be secured at terminal mar- kets. This has cut receipts to the smallest for the period in recent years. Since November 1 primary markets have handled 2,943,000 bu. as com- pared with 13,836,000 bu. last year. In the face of this, however, Chicago received 4,134,000 bu, compared with 436,000 bu. last year. Minneapolis had an unusually small run and with Kansas City has been a premium over Chicago, although weakening at the last. Eastern demand for corn has been disappointing despite the in- crease in cash from other sections.

A little spreading between wheat and corn was a feature of the trading to- ward the last. Closing trades on fu- tures in Chicago were at net gains of ¼c December finishing at 43@42¾c, ⅛c December finishing at 43@42¾c, May 46⅝c, May 47¼c, and July 48@48⅝c. Prices follow:

LARD AND MEATS LOWER

Speculators were buyers of lard failure to a fair extent while packers were the principal sellers. The trade was the heaviest of the year, and at no time was heavy. The cash trade is limited. November lard is difficult to buy without advancing the price, and cash trade is said to be compara- tively low in lard and only fair in meats. Pork loins met with less de- mand at lower prices and there were also some of green hams at 7½c near the close of the week. Hog supplies are ample, with prospects of con- tinuance. At the finish lard futures were 20@42½c lower and bellies were 45@65c lower than a week ago. Prices follow:

to help in preserving mental balance. The problems indicated by current reports from industry remain and the future action of stable prices is still the crux of the situation. In that di- rection much light has been con- tributed by the monthly "index num- bers." One compiling agency has reckoned for October an average ad- vance of 3 per cent, the first advance in thirteen months and the largest since 1927; another, the labor bureau, reckoned on the basis of daily aver- ages 1 per cent decline to the lowest of the period.

The truth seems to be that, while agricultural prices scored notable ad- vance last month, other commodities hardly changed at all—as for the most part has been the case in the three last months. This is the part of the situation which will be most closely watched hereafter, for the course of staple prices has been perhaps the most potent underlying influence on the whole economic movement during 1931.

Questions Are in Order.

The questions to be solved in the coming month are evident enough. How far was the breakdown of con- fidence a primary influence in the later fall of prices? How long can provision for the country's minimum requirements fail to be influenced by progress of curtailment of produc- tion? To what extent, now that the mind of business men has regained equilibrium, will exhaustion of sup- plies and using up of products in consumers' hands now cut a figure in demand?

It will perhaps not be reasonable to overlook what has happened al- ready in the clothing and footwear industries, traditionally and logically the first to feel the effects of wear- and tear on consumers' requisitions, but we have learned already that predictions based on this considera- tion may be premature.

We shall not get much help, in such study of the situation, from the principles enunciated by Henry Ford. His opinion, lately reiterated with much em asis, that ther cannot at any time be too reat production of commodities that people want, was pronounced in discussion of the agri- cultural industry. But how has that view of the question affected 1931 production of motor cars, for instance —say at the Ford establishment?

Copper Hits All Time Low; Customers Wary.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Steel production held steady in the past week at about 31 per cent of capacity, according to trade estimates, although considerable irregularity in output was reported within the industry.

Moderate increases in some sections indicated greater activity in automobile plants, but awards placed by that industry are still under expectations and the larger car manufacturers still are holding off production of new models. Structural steel awards thus far in November have been small and middle western plants report a poor call for heavy products. Railroads are reported buying, but a fair demand for agricultural implements is still noted. No changes have been made in prices. Pig iron is quiet and steady.

Reduce Copper Prices.

Custom smelters reduced asking prices for copper ⅛ cent a pound to a new all-time record low of 6½ cents a pound, delivered in the Connecticut valley without attracting much attention, who withdrew from the market when the informal conference of leaders adjourned without arriving at a curtailment policy. A similar reduction in the export price failed to attract any interest in improved foreign demand, with buyers generally awaiting developments.

Oil remained dull with prices continuing to reflect changes in London. Early declines, owing to indifference on reports that the international committee, meeting at The Hague next week, would order a further curtailment in production.

Lead Prices Decline.

Lead eased in sympathy with copper. Consumers who are said to have held November and a large part of December requirements are holding off and producers are not offering before the first of the year.

Zinc reacted with other metals, although selling is restricted. With demand lacking, some smelters are unwilling to press offerings and have withdrawn from the market. Antimony declined with silver, but pressure was not heavy, owing to a disinclination to press the market when rates were indifferent.

Timken Roller Bearing.

Please furnish me with information on the stock of Timken Roller Bearing company and oblige.—A. M. S.

Timken Roller Bearing company was originally incorporated in 1904. Its chief product is tapered roller bearings used extensively in automobiles. The company has been diversifying the field for its principal product by promoting its use in railroad equipment and in miscellaneous industrial machinery, such as rolling mills, paper mills, mine cars and elevators. In addition it manufactures high grade electric and alloy steels in various forms. Operations are centered in the United States. Foreign subsidiaries are in Canada, England, France and Germany.

Reflecting reduced demand from the automobile trade, its most important source of revenue, net income for 1930 was $7,534,122 or $3.12 per share of capital stock, against $14,926,306 or $5.88 per share, before extraordinary charges, for 1929. Net for 1928 on a comparable basis was $14,590,936 and for 1927, $10,321,537. Net profit for the first half of 1931 was $2,482,714 or $1.02 per share, against $6,130,023 or $2.54 per share for the corresponding 1930 period. On Nov. 10, 1931, an eastern financial agency estimated third quarter earnings at $350,000, against $1,167,630 for the third quarter of 1930.

With the declaration of the dividend payable Dec. 5, 1931, the management stated on Nov. 5, 1931, that earnings for the last quarter were disappointing, but held the belief that an improvement was in sight.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $24,630,774 and current liabilities were $3,295,499. Cash and marketable securities were about $14,546,000. Working capital was $22,335,275, against $22,560,336 the year before. There were outstanding 2,411,342 shares of no par capital stock. There was no funded debt. Surplus was $40,782,024.

Dividends were paid at the annual rate of $3 per share from 1929 to Sept. 5, 1931, when the stock was placed on an annual $2 basis.

Middle West Utilities company pays dividends of 2 per cent in common stock on the common quarterly Nov. 16, etc.

What is your opinion of Birmingham Gas first 5s due 1959?—A. K.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 22.—Shipments of gold from Japan to this country have amounted to approximately $100,000,000 since Jan. 1 1931, the greater part of which has been since the abandonment of the gold standard by Great Britain about two months ago. The total movement of gold from Japan to this country since the removal of Japanese embargo on gold exports in January, 1930, has been about $250,000,000. The gold holdings of the Bank of Japan, according to the Federal Reserve bulletin for November, amounted at the end of September to $18,000,000 yen, or roughly $414,000,000, which is now probably lower due to heavy shipments abroad since that time.

HAS MORE HOLDERS.

The number of common stock holders of Cities Service company increased 8,057 from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15 and now exceed 506,000 the company announces.

New working capital decreased from $36,548,699 to $26,387,317. This year current assets totaled $40,398,555, current liabilities $14,011,238 and accrued liabilities $18,994,404.

Personal, Property, and Salary.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $20 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE:
